BEULAH MAKES TURN TOWARDS TEXAS COAST

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah, a growing killer on a slow prowl of the warm Gulf of Mexico waters, turned slightly toward Texas' southernmost tip today.

The weather bureau warned that Beulah was an increasing threat to the coast.

The big storm increased its force to 115-mile-an-hour winds during the mid-morning hours.

'Johnson Scuttled Peace Bid'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An American journalist who visited Hanoi says a promising chance for peace talks on the war in Vietnam was personally scuttled by President Johnson.

Harry S. Ashmore, Pulitzer Prize-winning former editor of the Arkansas Gazette, visited Hanoi last January with Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News.

Ashmore said he and Baggs visited with Ho Chi Minh for two hours, and found the North Vietnamese premier "deliberately conciliatory and . . . Ho seemed prepared to consider a specific proposal based on a formula for mutual de-escalation."

"Ho had understood," Ashmore said, "that we would report our conversation to the state department, and expected some response, since he had made arrangements to have any further message sent directly to him."

The response to Ho Chi Minh's attitude, Ashmore said, was a letter drafted by himself and Baggs in collaboration with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs.

Despite this, President Johnson dispatched an uncompromising personal message to Ho Chi Minh, dated three days before the Ashmore-Baggs letter, Ashmore said.

State department officials, including Bundy, declined to comment.

STRICT DEMANDS

Johnson's letter, Ashmore said, set forth "the most stringent demands yet made for advance assurance that Hanoi would halt all infiltration of troops to the South."

Thus, Ashmore said, Johnson "effectively and brutally cancelled" the peace effort, nullifying the letter that was sent last Feb. 5.

Ashmore's charges were contained in an article in the first issue of Center Magazine, a new publication of the Centre for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, of which Ashmore now is executive vice-president.

In Miami, Baggs said: "The events Ashmore recorded are precisely correct as I recall them.

"There's lots more that he hasn't said. I'm going to say something this week. I may get into what he said and what he didn't say.

"The existing authorities, the White House and the state

Slash Permits Revoked

See also Page 17

Permits for slash burning on southern Vancouver Island have been revoked, the forestry service announced today.

The action was taken after several logging company slash fires jumped their guards on the weekend.

This occurred at Cowichan Lake, Sooke, Jordan River, in the Robertson Valley and in the Powell River area on the mainland, an official explained.

Details on the extent of the fires was scant. The forestry service said the crisis arose with hot weather last Saturday and Sunday which was unanticipated.

An official explained that it is always a problem trying to determine when it is safe to permit slash fires. If it is too early there is a chance of forest fires resulting.

If the department holds off until too late the slash becomes too damp to burn and a higher hazard results the following year.

The slash fire in Lake Cowichan area which gave trouble was on property controlled by Roach Logging.

The company lost a loader and a yarder after a slight breeze fanned the blaze. About 95 men today were still fighting fires which got out of hand in the Robertson River area.

Extent of timber losses from the various fires is unreported.

It's Intrepid All the Way

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Bus Mosbacher and Intrepid moved easily away from the Australian challenger Dame Pattie in the fourth race of the 1967 America's Cup competition today and it appeared the Americans would win the series in four straight.

Mideast Stand 'Harsh' U.S. Tells Russians

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Soviet and Arab speakers demanded today that the General Assembly act soon to get Israel out of occupied parts of Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The United States replied that only "healing, not harshness," could promote an Arab-Israeli settlement.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the United Nations must take measures to ensure the immediate withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab territories conquered by them in the June Middle East war. He accused the U.S. and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization powers of protecting Israel in two military adventures within 10 years.

Iraqi Ambassador Adnan Pachachi declared "the time for action has come—the time for action that will not only uphold the principles of the charter but will remove the basic threat of war, that of the prolonged Israeli occupation of Arab land."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg accused Fedorenko of "a display of harshness and invective."

"The time is overdue for healing, not harshness," Goldberg said. "Other approaches cannot and will not contribute to solution."

East Germany Offers Pact

BONN (Reuters) — East Germany has offered West Germany a draft treaty for establishing normal relations between the two states.

The draft was contained in a five-page letter today from East German Premier Willi Stoph to West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, a West German government spokesman here said.

REPORTERS, cameramen and about 100 others greeted Robert Stanfield Sunday night when he flew into Ottawa for talks with party officials. The new leader of the Progressive Conservative Party is expected to meet Prime Minister Pearson on Tuesday. (CP Wirephoto.)

Stanfield, John D. Hold Brief Meeting

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Stanfield, the new Conservative leader, had a five-minute private meeting with John Diefenbaker today as the retiring leader prepared to vacate the opposition leader's suite on Parliament Hill.

"I can't sing, but happy birthday anyway," Mr. Stanfield said as Mr. Diefenbaker greeted him at the door. Today is Mr. Diefenbaker's 72nd birthday.

A small group of reporters was admitted into the office for a few minutes to watch the start of the hurriedly arranged meeting.

Mr. Diefenbaker sat his successor behind the desk and there was a two-minute silence while the two looked about.

Then Mr. Diefenbaker mentioned his packing problems, saying "tons" of material had been cleared out of the office and sent to the National Archives.

"Well, of course, you know there is lots of time," Mr. Stanfield replied.

Then the press group was asked to leave.

Five minutes later, the two men emerged and walked along the hall to the elevator, where they said farewell.

KEPT TALK SECRET

Asked what they had discussed, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "Why should I tell you? He's the new leader."

Downstairs Mr. Stanfield fended off questions about the meeting.

Before the meeting with the former prime minister, Mr. Stanfield began a round of talks with Conservative party and parliamentary forces as he assumed command of the party he was elected to lead a week ago.

STILL UNDECIDED

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker pointed to a stack of letters and telegrams on his office desk Monday and told reporters 90 per cent of them are in favor of him staying in Parliament as member for Prince Albert.

He said he has not made up his mind yet whether to resign from the House of Commons, where he has held a seat since 1940.

Mainland Man Missing After Spill in Hell's Gate

BOSTON BAR (CP) — A Vancouver man is missing and presumed drowned after the rubber raft he was riding with other members of an outdoors club overturned in the boiling Hells Gate section of the Fraser River Sunday.

RCMP said the man was a member of the Wayfarers Club of West Vancouver which was attempting to float down the river. The man, described as in his early twenties, was caught in the current.

Police withheld the victim's name.

The 17 club members were shooting the rapids on two rafts. Five were on a smaller raft which navigated the surging waters successfully and 12 were on the larger raft which flipped.

Dave Ablett, a reporter from the Vancouver Sun who accompanied the outdoors club on its trip, was on the smaller raft. Sun photographer Brian Kent was on the larger one.

"It was good fortune that put us in a boiling, swirling back eddy, swamped with water but safe, so that we could help those dumped into the water from the big raft," Mr. Ablett said today.

He said the 20-foot raft "seemed to fall toward us, then the stern rose and clumsily, almost as if in slow motion, it soared over.

"I saw people thrown from the stern of the raft. Then I lost sight of the raft and the people in the vicious white water."

"The boat came up and I went flying through the air," said Mr. Kent, "then I hit the water. The current picked me up and I had no control at all.

"I found I was still hanging on the lifeline. I was just swung around with the raft and I thought I was going to drown. It just did not seem possible to survive in that kind of water."

The club members bobbed in the swirling current. Some were rescued by those on the smaller craft and others managed to right their raft when ropes were lowered into the gorge by men on the cliffs above.

One end of the raft was pulled into the air, enabling those in the water to set it down upright.

Police said that all wore lifejackets, but Mr. Ablett said he grabbed the arm of Pete Speck of West Vancouver who was not wearing one.

Economic Planning Needed

OTTAWA (CP)—John J. Deutsch, one of the country's most widely-respected economists, has retired from the Economic Council of Canada with a warning to all governments to plan ahead and not move from crisis to crisis with crash spending programs.

He also told the country it must improve its productivity to sustain its growth, face more open international competition, and prepare now for the problems of the 1970s — pollution and congestion in growing cities, the costly burden of higher education, and finding jobs for a rapidly-expanding, younger and less experienced labor force.

Mr. Deutsch, who becomes principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., next year after spending a year teaching economics there, cited housing as the No. 1 problem of the present and immediate future. He said its growth to crisis proportions was easily foreseen.

The 56-year-old Saskatchewan-born former adviser to the finance department spoke at a press briefing before release Sunday of the council's fourth annual review, which expressed concern for mounting government expenditures at a time when the economic machine is running almost flat out.

MUST AVOID UNEVENESS

Governments at all levels should avoid uneven deficits and foster a climate of confidence by showing that they intend to promote growth in line with the economy's expanding potential.

"It is a striking fact, that, in spite of the very large increases in defence expenditures which took place in the United States in 1965 and 1966 as a result of the increased involvement in Vietnam," the report said, "government spending rose more rapidly in Canada than in the United States in these two years.

". . . the accelerated increase in government spending in 1966 and 1967 is outpacing the growth of government revenues at existing tax levels.

"This necessarily raises troublesome questions about the possibility of increases in tax levels—perhaps of major dimensions if the present very high rate of increase in govern-

600 INJURED

Soccer Riot Toll Hits 44

ISTANBUL (UPI) — Fierce Turkish army troops today battled provincial street mobs enraged by a soccer stadium riot that killed 44 persons and wounded 600 others.

The soldiers poured into the city of Sivas where an estimated 3,000 persons smashed and ransacked buildings belonging to citizens from Kayseri where the stadium brawling erupted Sunday.

At Kayseri Stadium, where about 26,000 men, women and children were watching a soccer match between the local team and the Sivas squad, rival fans fought with knives, rocks, clubs and chains.

HURLED FROM BALCONIES

Some victims were hurled from stadium grandstand balconies. Others fell beneath the trampling feet of panicky thousands stampeding from the gates.

When news from Kayseri reached Sivas, crowds began breaking windows and then ripping into buildings owned by persons in the city 80 miles away.

Premier Suleiman Demiral postponed a scheduled mission to Moscow from today until Tuesday, sending his troops to restore order and summoning his cabinet. Sports officials threatened to abolish the soccer

MARRIAGE FOR BIRDS?

LONDON (Reuters)—An English vicar is asking wedding guests to throw breakfast cereal at married couples instead of confetti.

"Confetti makes too much mess and takes too long to clear up," said Rev. Norman Issberner.

"But the birds love cereal and will clear it all up afterwards," he added.

More Firing Across Suez

TEL AVIV (AP)—Israeli and Egyptian troops clashed across the Suez Canal again today in a five-minute fire fight, the fifth clash on the ceasefire line this month, an Israeli army spokesman here said.

. . . ECONOMIC

ment spending continues—and of sharper conflicts in competing claims for the use of resources. Such conflicts could lead to sharp rises in prices and costs."

Arthur J. R. Smith, new council chairman, said the 27-member government - appointed but independent advisory group still is working on a report sought by the government on ensuring strong competitive forces in the economy.

It also will look in future into regional impact of federal policies, income distribution and other sources of economic growth not yet studied by the council in detail.

The fourth review said governments, when embarking on new spending programs, should review existing ones to weed out those that have run their course and that might be in conflict with present needs.

Mr. Deutsch said he was sure there were some obsolete spending programs still draining away tax dollars. Government support to the dairy industry is expensive, but, in its present form of subsidy, "isn't going to lead to any cure."

CONCERNED ABOUT 70s

The council was really concerned about the longer-range developments facing Canada into the 1970s. Hitherto the council, set up in 1963 and making its first review in 1966, has studied the problems of the balance of the 1960s.

The next decade would have to deal with programs of rapid family formation, urbanization, social capital needs, and expanded university facilities.

"We suggest that these all have wide implications that have to be dealt with in good time. If we don't deal with the problems before they become crises, they become very difficult to do anything about."

He noted that in 1964 the council put out a special study on housing needs for the balance of this decade. It foresaw in its first annual review the need for houses for the rapidly - expanding adult population.

The council was concerned last year that the country's house - building activity was not filling the need.

"Now we are in a housing bind, as you know," he said. "The rate of family formation and urbanization was foreseen."

The problems of the future continue to flow from the young-adult population growth. Canada's labor force in the years ahead will expand 50 per cent faster than the U.S. labor force, and jobs have to be found in an expanding economy.

While primary school populations will dip somewhat in the years ahead, the side of student bodies in secondary and post-secondary schools will continue to mount.

"And that's the most expensive part of education—the post-secondary level," Mr. Deutsch added.

Mr. Smith said the council's repeated emphasis on the need to improve productivity—output of the nation per worker employed — has run through all of the council's reviews. It lately has been declining. Real productivity growth is a long-range problem, but even if a slight uptilt can be achieved the long-run effects would be considerable.

The goals set for the economy, in the council's terms of reference adopted by Parliament, are to achieve full employment, a high rate of economic growth, reasonable stability of prices, a viable balance of payments, and an equitable distribution of rising incomes.

The new study of the economic future said Canada's output should increase by five per cent a year until 1970 and then more moderately, by 4¾ per cent a year, until 1975. The population, which in June 1967, was 20,400,000, should be 25,100,000 in 1980.

On housing, the review said there is an urgent need for funds, improved building skills, and expanding construction industry capacity. The council questioned the continued imposition of the 11-per-cent federal sales tax on building materials.

In urban development, the council said that by 1980 four out of five Canadians will live in the cities, and Montreal and Toronto will have a combined population of 7,000,000 — about a third of the present population of the whole country. Better programs will also be needed to help the rural areas adjust to change.

The country could face another wave of unacceptably high price and cost pressures if too much demand is put on the economy. Demands of the private sector of the economy for all sorts of goods and services will be heavy, without any additional pressure from governments.

WILL HIT 25.5 BILLION

It said that if the country reaches its potential output in 1970, the tax revenues of all governments — including receipts under the Canada and Quebec pension plans — will amount to $25,500,000,000, compared with $18,800,000,000 in 1966.

But even without any addition to government spending programs already announced, in three years total expenditures of all governments will mount to $25,000,000,000. The surplus of $500,000,000 is virtually meaningless in relation to figures of such size.

The council's review turned repeatedly to the problems of government planning to meet problems now known to be in the offing, and to the conflicts between massive crash - spending programs with other pressure on the economy.

MUST FACE PROBLEMS

Governments must face problems of urban land use and transportation, bearing in mind housing, commerce and industry, public institutions, and recreation needs.

They must watch and ward against water and air pollution, and conflicts between governments. Local problems may have to go to higher levels of government for solution.

In the wider context, the council said Canada must gear itself to greater international competition, resulting from lowering of tariffs and other restrictions between nations. Canadian industry will have to specialize more, and get the benefit of economies which come from longer production runs of specialized goods.

Mr. Deutsch gave it as his personal opinion that the shortage of capital will continue, and will be on a world - wide basis. The old days of North America isolating itself from the rest of the world are gone, he said.

minor league which included Kayseri and Sivas.

They called it the worst soccer tragedy since 1964 when 300 persons were killed and about 1,000 injured at a Peru-Argentina match at Lima.

Mothers tiptoed through the mangled bodies at the Kayseri stadium gates, searching for their children.

Men wept openly.

Witnesses said the special kind of emotion built up by soccer—the international pastime of virtually every nation except baseball-playing America and Japan—exploded 20 minutes deep into the first of the 45-minute halves. A Kayseri player scored a goal.

As the ball slapped into the net Sivas fans rose enraged. They leaped on cheering Kayseri rooters. They shoved some down flights of stadium stairs and then over the balconies.

Someone hurled a rock.

The game was over.

The fight was on.

Hundreds of bleeding spectators stumbled into hospitals. Ambulances brought others. Trucks carried others.

The fight followed a series of lesser brawls at previous league games in recent weeks.

Eight Killed, 72 Hurt On Mountain Tramway

MOUNT WASHINGTON, N.H. (CP)—Eight persons including four children were killed and 72 injured Sunday when a train fell off the cog railway on Mount Washington and landed in a gorge.

One passenger said the mountain excursion train had broken free and rolled down about 500 feet before it reeled off the cog railway and crashed.

"If the car had gone another 20 feet it would have gone over a cliff and killed us all," a survivor said.

The dead children ranged in age from two to 14 years.

Authorities said they were not certain how many passengers were aboard the train.

It took rescue workers using a flat bed railway car about four hours to bring the dead and injured to the base of the mountain.

The accident happened about one-third of the way down the 3½ miles of track along the west side of the 6,288-foot mountain.

The descent is usually made at four miles an hour with the locomotive in front of the one passenger car backing down.

A passenger, Bertrand Croteau, 32, of Thornton, N.H., said that when the train reached the first switch Sunday "the locomotive began to shake and just fell off the road."

He said the passenger car began rolling free "and the brakeman tried to put on the brakes. We went about 500 feet down and then we went off the tracks."

He said he was thrown through a window and "buried under a pile of bodies."

The passenger car was made of aluminum and was one of the railway's newer ones.

A Littleton Hospital spokesman said two of the patients suffered severe head injuries.

"Most of the patients received facial injuries and some fractures. Some were quite badly smashed up and in considerable pain."

Weather on the mountain was described as unusually warm for the time of year. Freezing temperatures already had been reported this month in the valley.

The passenger car skidded on its side after leaving the tracks, fell six feet into a gorge and landed in a tilted position.

It was pushed upright by four men.

Mount Washington is the highest mountain in the northeastern U.S. and the cog railway was opened in 1869. Park officials say it was the first mountain-climbing railroad in the world. The steam engine that pushes the cars up the tracks and backs down with them was specially designed.

'NEGROES MUST WORK WITH WHITES'

WASHINGTON (AP) — Roy Wilkins, president of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, said Sunday there can be progress for the Negro, but only in co-operation with whites.

"I'm convinced it must be together," he said. "If the Negro thinks he can go it alone and create a separate black economy, he's going against the whole international trend of mankind, the evidence of history."

Wilkins expressed his disagreement with Negro separatists in a copyrighted interview in the magazine U.S. News and World Report.

Parents Charged For Neglect

PRINCE GEORGE (CP)—The parents of four young children who died when fire swept through their house in South Fort George Sunday have been charged with abandoning them.

Mr. and Mrs. George Laboucan, both about 40, are to appear in magistrate's court here Tuesday.

Police said their children, Gloria Ann, 6; Beverly, 5; Anita, 3; and John, 2, were alone in the house when it was destroyed by fire. Their bodies were found in the only bedroom of the small frame dwelling.

Police said that Mr. Laboucan was being held on an intoxication charge when the fire broke out and his wife could not be located.

The father was released from jail after the fire and was given a suspended sentence in magistrate's court Monday when he pleaded guilty to the intoxication charge.

Banner Thrust At Queen Mom

ABERDEEN, Scotland (Reuters)—Two youths thrust a Vietnam peace banner in front of the Queen Mother's car here Sunday as she was leaving church with other members of the Royal Family and Prime Minister Wilson.

One man among the crowd of 3,000 outside the church tried to tear the banner down with his cane and a woman grabbed it with her hands before police intervened.

The car carrying Queen Elizabeth and Prince Philip and their children had already passed and by the time Wilson's car arrived the banner had disappeared.

The prime minister and his wife spent the weekend as guests of the Queen at Balmoral Castle, the royal summer residence near here.

Hit-Runner Hunted In Death of Girl

NEW WESTMINSTER (CP)—Lower Mainland police Saturday continued their search for the car that left the scene after striking Tracey Reid, 14, of nearby Surrey.

The girl was killed when struck by a dark-colored car as she was returning home from a roller rink Friday night, police said. Her body was found in a ditch early Saturday by a newsboy delivering papers.

UN Assembly Gets Problem

By WILLIAM N. OATIS

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — The United General Assembly, in a final meeting of its emergency session on the Middle East, voted without dissent today to hand that question over to its regular session opening Tuesday.

The 122-nation assembly adopted an Austrian-Finnish-Swedish resolution to that effect a few moments after it was introduced formally by Austrian Ambassador Kurt Waldheim.

However, UN diplomats generally held little hope for settlement of postwar Arab-Israeli disputes before the Dec. 19 target date for closing the regular session.

The emergency session, called June 17 by the Soviet Union after the Security Council worked out a ceasefire, bogged down in July, with the Arabs arguing that Israel should unconditionally remove her forces from conquered territory and the Israelis insisting any withdrawal must be linked to negotiations and an end to Arab hostility.

Eban, talking to reporters in New York, reflected a lack of hope for a settlement. He said Israel would accept no outside resolution of the conflict—a statement that underscored its rejection of peace proposals by Yugoslavia's President Tito.

Tito suggested withdrawal of Israeli troops in exchange for a major power guarantee of Israel's borders.

Sources in Cairo were reported still pinning some hope on introduction of the Tito formula before the assembly. It is believed to have the support of President Nasser.

In Damascus, Syria's Socialist regime called for the merger of Egypt, Algeria, Iraq and Syria into a single state "for decisive retaliation against Israel's occupation of Arab areas."

Israel's military governor in the occupied region on the west bank of the Jordan River instituted a get-tough policy Sunday following several weeks of unrest.

Brig.-Gen. Uzi Narkiss banned unauthorized gatherings, Arab flags and anti-Israel publications, and ordered 10-year prison terms for Arabs found guilty of inciting violence against Israel.

The Israeli press, meanwhile, contended Egyptian Field Marshal Abdul Hakim Amer was murdered and not a suicide victim. The Egyptian government said Amer, once Nasser's No. 2 man, killed himself with poison Thursday.

BERRIES TOO SWEET FOR NATIVES

CHICAGO (AP) — A scientist claims he has discovered the sweetest thing on earth.

Dr. G. E. Inglett said a red berry he found in Nigeria is 1,500 times sweeter than sugar and 400 times sweeter than the sugar substitute, saccharin. He outlined his findings to the American Chemical Society meeting.

Inglett, chief of research on cereal properties at the U.S. department of agriculture, said natives in the West Africa country refuse to cultivate the fruit.

It's too sweet.

East Germany Protests Ban Of Diplomat

BERLIN (Reuters)—East Germany protested to Canada Saturday against Canadian refusal to allow an East German diplomat to visit two of her countrywomen lying seriously injured in a Canadian hospital after a plane crash.

In a telegram to External Affairs Minister Martin, East German Foreign Minister Winzer demanded an immediate travel permit for a member of the East German embassy in Havana, Cuba, to visit the two women in Halifax.

The women were injured when a Czechoslovak airliner en route to Havana crashed at Gander, Nfld. Sept. 5. Thirty-seven persons were killed in the disaster.

"I protest most emphatically against the inhuman position taken by the Canadian foreign ministry," the East German news agency ADN quoted Winzer's telegram as saying.

In Ottawa, a Canadian government spokesman said Friday an East German woman diplomat was refused entry because she lacked proper documents, that she should have had a temporary travel permit issued by the Allied Travel Office in West Berlin.

Normally East Germans must apply to the Allied Travel Office, run by Britain, the U.S. and France, for travel documents to visit a Western country. No NATO countries recognize the East Berlin government or East German passports.

Blank Tickets Stolen

LOS ANGELES (Reuters)—Burglars broke into the Australian Qantas Airways main office here Sunday and took blank airline tickets and a stamping machine that could give the tickets a $250,000 value. A total of 235 blank tickets were stolen. Police said they could be filled out for passage on any airline in the world and stamped with the approval of Qantas.

Neutral S. Vietnam Supported by Russia

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid Breshnev, Soviet Communist party leader, has indicated Russia would like to see South Vietnam become a neutral country, possibly independent of North Vietnam.

Brezhnev, accepting a copy of the program of South Vietnam's National Liberation Front — political arm of the Viet Cong guerrillas — said:

"This document will undoubtedly play an important role in the struggle for building up an independent, democratic, peaceful and neutral South Vietnam."

Previous Soviet pronouncements on Vietnam stressed that Vietnam was one nation inhabited by one people. Russia also supported the four points of North Vietnamese Premier Pham Van Dong, one of which calls for the reunification of Vietnam.

TKACHENKO IN AMBULANCE AT AIRPORT
. . . buries face in hands after airport "rescue"

YOUNG SCIENTIST RETURNED TO REDS

LONDON (Reuters)—British authorities today handed back to the Russians a young Soviet scientist snatched off a Moscow-bound airliner Saturday by British police.

A statement issued by the home office said:

"In accordance with medical advice and with his own wishes, now freely expressed, he is going to the Soviet embassy."

The embassy later reported 25-year-old Vladimir Tkachenko had arrived and was being examined by doctors.

Tkachenko was forcibly removed from a Soviet plane just as it was about to take off from London Airport.

British police acted after reports that a man was bundled into a car shouting for help not far from the Russian embassy.

A Soviet embassy statement on Saturday's London Airport tussle aboard a Russian TU-104 jet about to take off claimed that Tkachenko was mentally ill.

Britain Sunday complained to Russia about "lawless and outrageous" conduct by Russian officials, claiming they kidnapped Tkachenko in a London street and bundled him into an embassy car, and from there to the Russian jet.

The home office statement today said suspicions aroused by the action of Soviet officials near the embassy, their failure to explain this and Tkachenko's appeal at the airport not to be sent to Moscow meant British authorities had to satisfy themselves with the best medical advice that the scientist would not be removed from Britain against his will.

It added that Tkachenko, a post-graduate physics student, was examined Sunday by a doctor and an eminent psychiatrist.

The Soviet embassy issued a lengthy statement Sunday night accusing Britain of forcibly barring the scientist from leaving the country and holding him against his will.

France Makes Break With Allies Final

PARIS (Reuters) — France has told the Atlantic alliance her troops will co-operate with NATO's armies only if she decides that a clear aggression has taken place, official sources said here Saturday.

This was revealed after an exchange of letters between French and NATO generals.

It appeared to be the final break between France and the old NATO military structure which was aimed at instant cooperation between Western armies in the event of aggression in Europe.

The sources revealed that letters were exchanged between U.S. Gen. Lyman L. Lemnitzer, supreme commander of NATO troops in Europe, and Gen. Pierre Ailleret, chief of the French general staff, two weeks ago.

The exchange of letters completed the process under which France withdrew from military integration in NATO, but remained a member of the Atlantic alliance.

President de Gaulle last year announced France would pull out of the integrated NATO commands and ordered NATO's European and American troops off French soil.

Supreme Headquarters Allied Powers Europe (SHAPE) with more than 1,000 officers from 14 NATO member nations, including Canada, moved to its new home in Belgium in April.

Meanwhile, there has been talk in foreign diplomatic circles here of an improvement of Franco-American relations.

But French sources commented: "There has never been any freeze as far as we are aware.

"France remains faithful to her friendship with America and it is no repudiation of that friendship to want Europe to be master of its own fate and to deplore the war in Vietnam."

There was speculation here Friday about the possibility of France quitting the Atlantic alliance in 1969.

Official comment on the suggestion was restricted to recalling that de Gaulle has repeatedly insisted that France remains faithful to the alliance.

Anti-Missile Non-Security

THE REPORTED UNITED States decision to proceed with construction of a minimum anti-ballistic missile defence system raises a number of related considerations. In the first place, although the project is designed primarily as a defence against possible future missile attack by Red China — and that country's current combination of growing nuclear proficiency and paranoic hatred of other nations certainly gives logic to any defence arrangements — it obviously becomes a defence against Russian missiles also, and may be expected to spur Soviet efforts to perfect balancing offensive and defensive measures. That must set the scene for a continuation of the armaments race and a decline in world hopes for peace.

The whole concept of the anti-missile defence has demanded a great deal of thought lately. Its astronomical costs form a major item of consideration. Perhaps only the United States and the Soviet Union, in all the world, can undertake the enormous expenditures involved. But there is an inherent weakness in any such plan, for modern science inevitably brings forth an improved weapon for each new advance in defence. There is no guarantee that any anti-missile defence cannot be negated or overcome by technological progress in aggressive weapons.

This would be particularly true of a so-called "thin" ABM defence system. Probably no such system could be left in its initial stage: inevitably it would have to be extended and improved. The suggested cost of a full-scale system has been estimated at $40 billions.

The ABM problem, of course, cannot be separated from the missile deterrent. At the moment the two great countries, Russia and the United States, have developed vast and costly inter-continental missile systems—the United States is considered to have a lead in this field —which are supposed to serve as deterrents. The reasoning is that no country would launch a missile attack if immediate nuclear retaliation were inescapable. And it appears impossible to guarantee that the initial attack would wipe out the armament of the victim.

The anti-missile concept introduces a new element into the equation, but one which is of questionable value. Can an anti-missile system, and especially a small one, protect a country's borders sufficiently to justify the expense? Would not an equal or better deterrent be found in stock-piling still more missiles? But after the saturation point in attack weaponry is reached, what then?

It seems clear that mounting still greater attack and defence systems cannot be the final answer to the need for security. The solution must lie in dependable international agreements to limit armaments and their use. The United States dilemma is understandable, for even as it plans an ABM defence system it is seeking agreement with Russia to forego such costly projects. Yet at the moment Peking appears determined to become strong in nuclear arms and equally determined to enter into no pacts with the United States or any other country. And always there is the knowledge of Red China's disregard for human life and its possible willingness to gamble its 700 million population against the lesser populations of other great states.

Binding international agreements must be the eventual solution for mankind. The deterrents can at any moment prove unable to deter.

A Rich and Valued Stream

THE STATEMENT by Quebec Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Noel Tremblay that legislative pressure may be exerted on business firms to make French the working language of the province will raise hackles in many other parts of Canada. But there should be no cause for alarm in Mr. Tremblay's forceful statement of his position. The desire to make French a more widely-used, almost exclusive language in Quebec is understandable; whether it is possible of fulfilment is more debatable — a matter, in fact, on which only history can give the final verdict.

The great concern of many influential Quebecers — part of an island of six million French-speaking people in a North American sea of English-speaking people almost 35 times more numerous—is that they will lose their French culture. And, since language is the vehicle and guardian of culture, they are determined to retain and strengthen their language.

To do this in business and industry, where the dominant segments are linked to business and industry outside Quebec, will be difficult and it will be expensive. The language of North American commerce is English, and it will not be changed by legislation or by minority desire. Compromise within Quebec will be necessary.

The strength of French speech, in Canada as in France itself, must lie in what it represents, and the whole world has been the beneficiary of the language and peculiar culture of France. Similarly, Canada is and will be the beneficiary of the language and culture of Quebec. That is at once a statement of present fact and future promise, and its fulfilment will require no threats, no laws—and no separatism.

Its Hour Upon the Stage . . .

THE ILL-FATED BANK OF Western Canada was finally put to rest at a stockholders' meeting in Winnipeg and about the only thing one can say is that it was about time. The investors will lick their wounds — they took a small loss plus not having the use of their money for several years — but on the whole they got off lightly.

Westbank was organized — and was chartered by Parliament — to carry out the functions of a Canadian chartered bank primarily in the western part of the country. But from its beginning it was torn by dissension between Mr. James Coyne, who was finally ousted as president, and the original Toronto-based sponsoring financial interests, and more recently the succeeding Montreal group.

The inability of Westbank to attract sufficient capital from a broad base of investors appears to have been at the root of much of the trouble and the most likely explanation of this is that it was not really what it seemed to be—a truly western bank. Desperate measures to save the bank, ranging from a proposal to sell minority interests to foreign banks, to a scheme to use it as a commercial loan company for financing Pacific trade, all came to nothing because there was not the necessary confidence in the organization as a result of the initial difficulties.

If there is one thing the public demands, and is used to, in a chartered bank—both as an investment and as a repository of savings—it is financial and managerial stability. Westbank never projected the image of having either and so is better removed from the scene.

Mr. Tremblay Seeks More, Better French

McDowell

THERE is nothing in the new Quebec government program to strengthen the position of the French language that need frighten the province's English-speaking minority. The long-overdue measures announced recently by Cultural Affairs Minister Jean-Noel Tremblay, even if fully successful in their aims, would still leave English-speaking Quebecers much better off than their counterparts outside Quebec: the French-speaking minorities of the other nine provinces.

The new program included steps to improve the quality of the French language used in government administration and to encourage a similar improvement in all areas of life in Quebec, to raise the standards of French in the schools, to ensure that public signs make the face of Quebec clearly French and, most important, to enlarge the role of the French language in commerce and industry.

English Rights Protected

The English-speaking inhabitants of the province keep their right, which has been scrupulously respected, to education in their own language from kindergarten through university, their right to deal with the provincial government in their own language and the right to the use of English in the courts and the legislature.

Mr. Tremblay asked whether the principles of natural rights entitled "the French-speaking majority of Quebec to impose on the English-speaking minority the same lot that the English-speaking majorities have imposed on the French-speaking minorities of the other provinces."

Anyone who has read the letters to the editor of Quebec newspapers even occasionally cannot help being aware that a substantial segment of public opinion in the province would answer that question with a clear and vigorous yes, arguing that a tongue for a tongue is as fair as an eye for an eye.

But Mr. Tremblay took a different view.

"I reject this sort of ostracism," he said, "even if I suffer from the one inflicted on our people in certain cities and regions of Quebec."

Sore Point

Mentioning the problems faced by the French-speaking in many quarters within Quebec's own borders, Mr. Tremblay was putting his finger on a sore point.

The problem of bilingualism in Canada goes beyond the question of elementary justice for the French-speaking minorities outside Quebec—effective, workable language rights equal to those of the English minority in Quebec.

The critical problem within Quebec itself is that the French-speaking majority here does not enjoy effective rights equal to those of the English-speaking majorities in the other provinces or even, in many cases, equal to those enjoyed by the English-speaking minority in Quebec.

Few in Quebec deny that because Quebec is in North America, it will always be necessary for many members of its population to be bilingual.

But they object to the sort of one-way bilingualism that obliges the French-speaking employees of many companies to work in English simply because most of the higher ranks in the firm are filled by people who cannot speak French.

What it feels like to work in a second language one has not mastered to perfection can only be learned by experience, an experience that few English-speaking Canadians have had — and for most who have it has been a matter of choice rather than necessity.

But those who have had the experience know that it can be exhausting, a serious obstacle to effective performance and the royal road to an inferiority complex.

Only a team of psychologists, economists and efficiency experts could assess what this experience, repeated thousands of times over, has cost the Quebec economy in terms of impaired productivity alone, but it is safe to say that the cost has been high.

The anger that bursts out in separatist demonstrations in Montreal, recently growing larger, more frequent and more stormy, hints at what the emotional toll has been.

Some separatist arguments and plans may seem to be the products of abstract theorizing, divorced from reality. But the emotions that motivate them are well founded in the concrete facts of daily life.

Canada as a whole, and the English-speaking minority of Quebec in particular, have an important interest, recognized or not, in the success of the provincial government's campaign to make French the language of usage throughout Quebec life, especially in industry and commerce where it has been weakest.

The decision to rely mainly on persuasion, for now at least, to get the job done makes the program the very minimum that could be politically acceptable to the majority of Quebec's population.

No matter what long-term ambitions for Quebec's constitutional status are being nursed by some members of the present provincial government and civil service, the solid establishment of French as the language of common use in Quebec would eliminate one of the sharpest spurs to the separatist movement.

Separatist leader Pierre Bourgault insists that the job cannot be done until French-speaking Quebecers have in their hand all the coercive powers of a sovereign, independent state.

There has been little evidence so far to prove him wrong. Failure of the government's new campaign to reach the goal by persuasion would go a long way toward proving him right.

Voices From Quebec

Montreal La Presse

The electors of at least three provinces will go the the polls next month. It appears the example of the premier of Ontario, John Robarts, was contagious. Only a few days after the announcement of elections in Ontario, the leaders of two other provinces fell in step, Mr. Ross Thatcher in Saskatchewan and Mr. Louis J. Robichaud in New Brunswick.

Can the former CCF member who crossed over to the Liberals match his 1964 exploit in Saskatchewan. . . .?

Thanks mainly to enormous wheat sales abroad, the economy of Saskatchewan has enjoyed a healthy period which will not fail to be reflected in the general reaction of the voters. It is known that in periods of relative prosperity the government always has more chance of winning.

The same appears to hold true in Ontario. . . .

In New Brunswich, the situation of Louis J. Robichaud and his party is much less comfortable. In areas most favorable to the Liberal government, very tough fights are foreseen for the Acadian premier. The new leader of the Conservative Opposition, J. Charlie Van Horne is a tenacious demagogue and full of resources, who backs up from nothing to reach his goals. . . .

Powerful interests are mobilized against Louis J. Robichaud and his audacious program of "equal chance for all." There is no doubt that the defeat of the Robichaud government would represent a setback for social progress in New Brunswick.

Montreal Gazette

Freedom of speech and assembly certainly does not include freedom of assault and damage. The seriousness of the demonstrations made in recent days, especially against the Centennial Train, is that they went beyond the law and defied the law.

Nor can it be said that this only showed the danger that demonstrations may get out of hand, because of excitement and mob spirit. No matter how excited people may become, they do not come armed with a great many bottles of yellow and black paint, ready to smear the objects of their dislike — not unless they intend to be lawbreakers.

In a democratic country, where anybody is free to organize and seek representation by democratic means, there is no place for methods that have been seen at work over recent years in other and less fortunate countries. There may always be a certain risk of excesses in demonstrations. But there is little risk if the demonstrators have respect for the due procedures of a democratic country, or if they reject from among their numbers any who come obviously prepared to do violence.

There is no reason for violence, except for those who doubt their strength in the ballot box.

A Trend to Hardness in Israel's Stand

Frye

THE United States, still working behind the scenes to advance a long-range Arab-Israeli peace settlement, is disturbed at what it sees as a hardening of the Israeli position, informed sources here say. Other diplomats friendly to Israel said they too were concerned at the trend. It may be embarrassing to defend Israel's position in the forthcoming UN General Assembly, beginning today, they warned.

Until late in August, Arab states were widely blamed here for taking a rigid and extreme position on a Mideast settlement, and Israel was credited with considerable flexibility. These postures are fast being reversed.

Sources friendly to Israel point to what they consider three conspicuous rigidities in Jerusalem's position:

1. Insistence that peace negotiations be held directly between Arab States and Israel, not through intermediaries. This would force the Arabs to recognize Israel, de facto, from the outset.

2. Refusal to negotiate on the future of the city of Jerusalem.

3. Refuse to readmit to Israeli-controlled territory more than a small percentage of the "new" Arab refugees who fled during the June fighting.

These stands are seriously complicating the effort to get a long-range peace settlement under way, it is felt.

In mid-July, Arab UN delegates unanimously rejected a Latin American peace plan, endorsed by the United States and the Soviet Union and presented to the Arabs by Soviet Foreign Minister Andrei Gromyko.

As late as mid-August, extremists in the Arab bloc, notably Algeria and Syria, were considered to be still in the saddle.

But late last month, under persistent nudging by Yugoslav President Tito and Jordanian King Hussein, President Gamal Abdel Nasser of the U.A.R. swung over to what is regarded as the moderate wing of the Arab League.

With this wing newly influential, a Khartoum summit meeting of Arab leaders in late August accepted much of the Latin peace plan, and proposed to seek a "political," i.e., negotiated, adjustment with Israel.

This appeared to mean they would bargain for a withdrawal of Israeli occupying forces from positions captured in June, not seek to drive the Israelis out in a new war.

Simultaneously, several Arab states, including Morocco, Tunisia, Lebanon and Kuwait, put out feelers for renewed diplomatic relations with the United States.

They appeared to be turning to the West, rather than to the Soviet Union, for help in obtaining an Israeli troop withdrawal. Soviet arms shipments tapered off.

At about this time, Israel appeared to harden. Foreign Minister Abba Eban, who previously had pleaded eloquently for peace negotiations, denied there had been any moderation at Khartoum and insisted on a directly negotiated Arab-Israel settlement.

Tito Rebuffed

He also rejected a compromise proposed by Tito, and scorned the Yugoslav leader for unwarranted interference in affairs which, Eban implied, did not directly concern him.

Israel refused to extend the deadline for return of Arab refugees to the west bank of the Jordan except for approximately 10 per cent of the total whose applications had been already approved.

More than 150,000 destitute Arabs thus were added to the roll of homeless war victims. Previously there had been well over 1,000,000 refugees from the 1948 Arab-Israel war denied an opportunity to return.

Insistence by Israel that the reunification of Jerusalem under Israeli control is unnegotiable is not a new position. Israeli diplomats have taken this stand virtually from the beginning.

Israel's firmness is, however, a disappointment to Washington and London, informed sources say. Together with Ottawa and other capitals, they had publicly and privately urged Israel to reconsider.

Israel argues that there must be a final, definitive peace settlement, this time, not just another improvised modus vivendi.

She refuses to withdraw her armies or consider readmitting refugees until the Arabs are willing to negotiate such a settlement. This even the most moderate of the Arabs seem unwilling to do.

The majority report of the committee appointed to look into the matter of commercial fishing in Cowichan tidal waters, recommending the prevention of all fishing of that kind in the waters named, was adopted at the regular meeting of the board of trade.

The meeting was opposed to the Dominion government's action granting permission to the Capital City Canning Co. to fish with a net at the mouth of the river.

Land Reform Slow In Latin America

By DONNA DICKENSON

If you drink three cups of coffee a day, you spend about as much on it each year as some South American coffee workers earn annually.

The average Latin American peasant earns approximately $150 a year — a little less than what you'd pay for three daily 15-cent cups of coffee during that period.

Rural workers in many South American countries struggle with uneven land distribution, a shortage of developed land, vast numbers of sharecroppers, landless tenant farmers, and farms too small to support the families working them.

Poor conditions like these spell low agricultural yields —dangerous for a region in which agriculture is the main way of life. And rural unrest undoubtedly helps the Castro-style guerrillas operating in Bolivia, Venezuela, Colombia, Guatemala, Haiti, and Peru.

The last few years have seen considerable improvement in many South American agricultural problems. Almost every country now has some kind of land reform.

Programs Vary

Venezuela has distributed land to about 115,000 families; Bolivia has eliminated most of its enormous semi-feudal estates. Peru, Colombia, and Ecuador have given property rights to many landless workers, and Chile's president last month signed into law one of the most ambitious reform programs on the continent. In Colombia, the Roman Catholic Church is lending vital support to the land redistribution program.

Latin American land problems comprise a number of ills, which demand a variety of solutions.

One kind of land reform is redistribution of public lands or large, idle estates—a program which has had fair success in Mexico, Bolivia, Brazil, Chile, and Venezuela. Equalizing land holdings is vital in Latin America because almost every country is plagued with "too little or too much" distribution—land patterns in which holdings are either too large or too small to be farmed efficiently.

Little Incentive

Estate owners, who can live comfortably on revenues from a fraction of their holdings, have little incentive to plant their idle lands. Farmers whose acres are just barely enough for subsistence can't afford machinery to improve their yields.

In Argentina, holdings over 10,000 acres constitute one-half of one per cent of the total farms—but contain a third of the agricultural land. Peru's large landowners, whose farms are about two per cent of the total holdings, own 70 per cent of the land—while small farms, 83 per cent of the holdings, are jammed onto a scant five per cent of the land.

But the Inter-American Development Bank reports that land redistribution was the slowest-moving agrarian reform in 1966—partly due to problems in expropriation. Only Cuba has consfiscated large holdings without payment. All other countries offer compensation.

But some Latin American legislatures, many dominated by landowners, require their governments to pay cash for confiscated lands — an impossible demand for poor, underdeveloped states. Most successful land-reform programs allow the government to pay for land in long-term bonds.

Nevertheless, farm redistribution isn't enough to turn landless squatters into efficient landowners. In Latin America, where illiteracy rates run as high as 80 per cent, peasants tend to follow their ancestors' outdated farming practices.

Bolivia's Indians, accustomed to a self-sufficient, isolated, barter economy, provided the country's reformists with a major snag: They didn't want to bring their crops to market at all.

Rural education has become another type of land reform in many countries. Local governments, private agencies, and foreign nations now train agricultural specialists and broadcast radio programs to teach the farmers better methods.

Educating the farmers also benefits the economy as a whole. Mexico and Bolivia are examples of countries which saw crop production drop drastically after reform began — mainly because of too-small land allotments and backwardness among rural workers. Now many South American countries have shifted the land reform emphasis from equalizing holdings to boosting agricultural income for the entire nation.

Property Rights

Improving the peasant's condition also involves a third reform — granting property rights. Giving land to tenants who have worked the land-owner's property for a specified period of time is one way to eliminate semi-feudal conditions and indentured labor.

Although most Latin American governments supposedly favor land reform, legislators who belong to the privileged classes can build crippling planks into agrarian legislation.

LSD Effect Prolonged In Child

By STUART AUERBACH

NEW YORK — A five-year-old girl accidently popped a sugar cube soaked with LSD into her mouth one morning. Nine months later she still suffered ill effects.

Her IQ took five months to return to its pre-LSD level and recordings of her brain waves remained abnormal for nine months.

But when doctors at Kings County Hospital in Brooklyn, N.Y., stopped treating the girl nine months after she took the drug, she was unable to copy geometric figures as well as she should.

This indicates an impairment in the girl's "visual-motor functions," Dr. Doris H. Millman reported in the current issue of the Journal of the American Medical Association.

Dr. Millman of the State University of New York Medical Centre, concluded that the effects of LSD on the brain last longer than the existence of the drug in the body.

●

Although some persons contend that LSD possesses a mind expanding property, Dr. Millman said this case proves "that the drug had had a clearly depressing effect on intellectual functioning."

The girl first recorded an IQ of 108 two days after she swallowed the LSD in April, 1966. Five days later her IQ had dropped to 94. On June 11 it had started to climb back and by August — four months after swallowing the LSD — it reached 121.

Twenty minutes after swallowing the cube, which her 18-year-old uncle had left in the refrigerator, the girl awakened her family with screams. She was taken to the hospital "disoriented and psychotic."

She told doctors that she thought her body was cut off at the waist and that she was not herself but a girl named Dorothy. She pictured herself as a group of disoriented blocks and lines. It took nine months for the pictures to become normal.

As a result of the girl's reaction, Dr. Millman said the psychological effects of LSD noted in adults are real, not simply the result of suggestion or expectation.

NIGHT AND DAY PEOPLE

By JOHN DAVY

LONDON — Many people consider themselves to be "morning" or "evening" types, and students can commonly be divided into those who get up early to do their studying and those who stay up late.

Research has lent some support to this by showing that in certain tests some people do better in the morning, some in the evening, and the difference is correlated with two types of personality — the introvert and the extrovert. In one series of experiments involving alert observation, the introverts scored higher in the mornings, the extroverts in the evenings.

Now some work at the Medical Research Council's psychology research unit in Cambridge, England, has shown that these differences are linked to a slight difference in the daily rhythm of body temperature.

Everybody's temperature is normally lowest in the early hours of the morning and rises to a peak around 9 p.m. But the Cambridge work has shown that in the mornings, the temperature of introverts begins to rise sooner than extroverts, and starts to fall earlier in the evening.

Temperature

When the temperature is low, both body and mind are more sluggish, and the brain becomes more "aroused" as temperature rises. This may account for the higher morning test scores of introverts and the higher evening scores of extroverts.

Why personality should be linked to the temperature rhythm in this way is still unexplained, but the general importance of such biological rhythms in our lives is attracting increasing scieitific attention.

The early morning period of lowered temperature has many very practical consequences; accident rates among night-shift workers rise at this time, jet pilots are least equipped to cope with sudden emergencies, surgeons are not at the peak of their skill.

Modern industrial life is demanding an increasing amount of shift work. Some people adjust relatively quickly to a new rhythm, but even so it will be five days before the bodily rhythm of the most adaptable has become retimed to the new routine.

Drugs, Surgery

There is also some evidence that patients respond differently to certain drugs and to X-rays or surgery at different times of day and night, and in the future this may have to be taken into account in hospital treatment.

Not all rhythms are 24-hour ones. The most familiar exception is the menstrual cycle, which follows an approximate lunar rhythm of 29 days. Why reproductive cycles should often show a lunar rhythm is very obscure, but a recent American investigation adds to the mystery by suggesting that human conception and birth also shows a lunar trend.

Dr. Walter Menaker, in New York City, has recently used a computer to analyze the births of half-a-million babies born there between 1961 and 1963. He found a definite tendency for more babies to be born during the fortnight around full moon than during the new moon half of the lunar month. This implies that there is a greater tendency for children to be conceived near full moon than near new moon.

Have Tories Set Pace For Liberals, NDP?

By DOUGLAS FISHER and HARRY S. CROWE

(Mr. Crowe is associate professor of history at Atkinson College, York University. Mr. Fisher, a former NDP MP, lectures in Canadian government at Carleton University.)

Like it not, what one may call "the process" of the Tory convention is certain to shape the minds of politicians in other parties, especially the Liberals, about their future gatherings.

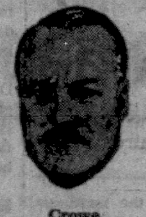
Fisher

The New Democratic Party cannot possibly duplicate the open character of such a leadership race with either a host of candidates or in the loose and various sentiments of the delegates. Let's list the reasons we see in contrasting the NDP and Conservative situations.

For New Democrats:

(a) Regular conventions are routine and the tradition is to concentrate on policy and organization and to underplay leadership except for an expressive, unified loyalty for the incumbent.

(b) Constitutionally, the leadership is "on the line" at each NDP convention. Actually, a contest or indications of one is terribly disconcerting to the party.



Crowe

Witness the last B.C. convention where Tom Berger lost to Bob Strachan: Many of those who damned Berger as a usurper and voted for Strachan recognized Berger was the better man and the hope for the future. This, they'd say, ". . . wasn't the time" or this ". . . wasn't the way to do it."

(c) The establishment of the New Democrats (synonyms: structure or hierarchy) is smaller, has too much control, its people know each other better. They're more unity-minded and hate to show divisions or diversity on either men or policies to the public.

(d) New Democrats tend to apply a "rationale" to politics as a whole, including intra-party matters, and they consider it over-emotional, even unseemly, not to direct the flux of forces within the party, including those ambitious to lead, into a manageable situation. Thus, elections at each NDP convention are always dominated by the unofficial "official slate" which is mimeographed and distributed.

(e) Perhaps most basic of all, the New Democrats haven't the intrinsic Conservative following in constituencies (and so a potential in delegates) which would enable them to field the numbers and variety we saw at the Gardens.

* * *

This is especially true about the Maritimes, rural Ontario, Quebec, and Alberta.

Therefore, we'd conclude that the main post-convention consideration of the NDP leaders will be whether there should be a free contest when Tommy Douglas steps down. They'll balance the riskiness of a contest (remember Hazen Argue) against the enormous interest and coverage a wide-open fight might bring the party.

The Liberals are a much different piece of cake. They can match or over-match the Conservatives in constituency representation, delegates-at-large, and resources to create a monster shindig.

They could produce as many candidates (remember Lloyd Henderson) although this is most unlikely. There is even more potential competition between likely Liberal aspirants over the cast and direction of the party than among the Conservatives.

And in that simple intangible of talent, in themselves and in their followers, Messrs. Martin, Sharp, Hellyer, MacEachen, and Turner, in comparison could make most of the PC contestants seem slow and old-fashioned. (Note in passing what a boost in fortune the Tory choice of Stanfield has given to Nova Scotian MacEachen, the best parliamentarian in the Liberal lot.)

We won't know for some time whether Mr. Pearson is going to step down before another election. What we can be sure about is that he'll do it gracefully, if he does, and that he will not make clear what his vote for any successor will be.

* * *

That's about as far as you can go on the next Liberal leadership convention in terms of when it may be and whether there could be a laying on of hands as with St. Laurent and Pearson themselves.

On the other hand, we can all be certain that there will be long discussions among the Liberal leaders about this question: Has the Tory convention, in its impact on the public, given the main Liberal enemy an enormous advantage which leads directly to an election victory? Must they themselves stage a production as dramatic and penetrating?

We think the short-run conclusion of the Liberals will be to give Mr. Stanfield time to lose his aura and mystery in a long session, perhaps two long sessions of Parliament, before they decide to go either again to the people with the present prime minister or have a contest of their own.

The grip on government and power gives the Liberals obvious advantages and yet it makes the holding of a national leadership race and convention a pretty touchy matter.

If the whole process should be stage-managed, say to come up with the favorite of the top men in the party (e.g. Mitchell Sharp) it won't be very exciting and certainly not the obvious democracy of the Tory meeting.

* * *

Again, those who want to stage-manage a succession (we think here of the Senator Connollys in the party) will have a hard, perhaps impossible chore to submerge the ambitions of Paul Martin or the determination of Walter Gordon to have some say about the policy direction of the party through the choice of its leader.

Anyone who watched the Tory meetings of two weekends ago and last November and compared with them the big Liberal policy gathering of October, 1966, has to make the point that the Tories were very diverse in almost every way, the Liberals extremely homogeneous.

The Tory diversity is expremely menacing to the Liberals. Undoubtedly, they could so organize representation to get something like it. Indeed they'll have to do this in their general organizational work or they are in deep trouble. Behind him, Mr. Diefenbaker has left the elements of constituency strength which can make Mr. Stanfield unbeatable in the next election.

Europe's Year of The Mouse

By M. S. WILDE

GENEVA — Nineteen sixty-seven is a European "mouse year," according to experts of the World Health Organization.

First in Yugoslavia, then in Western Germany and now in Sicily, hordes of mice have appeard and destroyed food crops and stocks. Their natural enemies, including cats, weasels, stoats, ferrets and foxes flee from them in terror. Poison is proving ineffective.

Such "mouse years," the WHO experts say, usually develop in summer following mild winters and previous seasons of great plenty. Such favorable seasons of climate and nutrition favor the mice by decreasing the normal natural mortality and increasing the size and frequency of the litters born.

●

Very often, so-called "vole plagues" are marked not merely by a great increase in the number of voles but also by great hordes of field mice and outdoor living house mice. Such plagues being devastation to the countryside; the ground is riddled with holes while crops and many young trees are destroyed.

The plague may run a course of several months but, sooner or later, disease breaks out amont the rodents, they succumb in millions and in a short time their numbers are once more normal, or subnormal, and the plague is at an end.

The worst "mouse year" in living memory occurred in Australia in 1916-17, after two abnormally heavy harvests. The species involved was the house mouse, but it was assisted by various field species and by armies of rats as well. The plague developed in the bush as well as in wheatland.

●

The wheat grown had already been sold to the British government and the grain was stacked in bags ready for shipment.

As cold weather approached, the mice invaded the stacks — and an eye-witness account said:

"The wheat stacks instead of being as orderly as a brick wall are now evil smelling heaps of wheat, mice alive, mice dead and rotten bags. The damage done to the wheat is estimated to be well over £1 million (it would be many times that amount today); what is worse, much of that which has been re-bagged, is in an indescribably filthy condition. The mice were in billions."

Positive Thinkers Score Higher in Tests for ESP

WASHINGTON — Positive thinkers make the best use of their powers of extrasensory perception, according to a veteran ESP researcher.

Gertrude R. Schmeidler of the City University of New York said that people who are confident, dominant, co-operative, relaxed and alert regularly outperform those with opposite traits in ESP experiments.

In a paper presented to the American Phsychological Association here, she said there no longer seems much doubt that ESP ability exists and that almost everyone has it to some degree.

●

Evidence for ESP includes the ability of test subjects to exceed chance probabilities in correctly "guessing" the identity of cards and other materials hidden from their sight.

One finding is that higher scores are usually made by people who believe in the ESP phenomenon than by those who are skeptical.

The overall conclusion is that "outgoing, reasonably confident responsiveness to the world seems to tie in with high scores; defensive withdrawal with scores at the chance level or lower."

●

The researcher told of an experiment in telepathy in which, using data from porschach tests, she matched 50 pairs of students, some them congenial and some hostile to each other. One student in each pair was then taken to a separate room where he tried to "send" a thought to his partner.

The "congenial" pairs had only slightly higher than chance success but those in the "hostile" category scored "strikingly lower than chance."

"It looks," the experiment concluded, "as if subjects who were reserved or hostile made motivated errors in telepathic messages—which of course has fascinating implications for interpersonal relations."

"THEY CAN'T STOP ME from racing and prospecting", says 81-year-old Bert Clayton, who is primed for Saturday canoe races on Gorge. He says you can't link age with physical fitness.

BRING ON THE CANOEISTS!

He's 81 and Ready for Action

Nothing is going to stop Bert Clayton, 1524 Myrtle, not even his age, from entering Saturday's centennial boat races on the Gorge.

The 81-year-old prospector has signed up for the open boat class—a new rowing event created by the Greater Victoria Centennial Society. Others include canoe and kayak races.

Bert will be in his 12-foot canvas-covered canoe using oars instead of a paddle.

CONFIDENT

"Some people have been trying to dissuade me from racing because of my age," he said. "They link age with physical fitness. But by golly, I can run circles around young men—outwalk and outrow them."

The short, wiry prospector isn't exaggerating. Every summer he searches for gold and minerals in the mountains and valleys of Vancouver Island's west coast.

He uses his frail 12-footer to get from place to place along the wild and almost uninhabited coast in the Clayoquot Sound area.

SAILS CANOE

He sails his canoe on the open sea and inlets, rivers and lakes.

Last summer, he covered 300 miles in his canoe in the Clayoquot Sound area.

He doesn't paddle. He rows it, sitting in the stern and pushing on the oars instead of pulling. This enables him to see where he is going.

"I've used canoes for years," he said, "but I have always rowed them. I find them easier to handle with oars, especially when going down rapids or white water."

FLOUR, RICE

This summer Bert lived for three weeks on bannocks and mouldy rice when someone stole his food supplies at his base camp at Megin Lake, east of Sidney Inlet.

"They even took my fishing rod, leaving me only with flour and some rice," he said.

Luckily he had made arrangements for a plane to pick him up at the end of July. It arrived in the nick of time.

The Victoria-born prospector thinks he will be able to hold his own in the centennial races.

"I can do about five miles an hour in my canoe," he said and I can row from sunrise to sunset."

Bert is a bit touchy about his age because it has prevented him from obtaining employment.

"The National Manpower Centre says I'm too old," he explained. "The unions are no better. But there is nothing wrong with me. I can swing an eight-pound hammer all day."

"Well," he added philosophically, "There are two things they can't stop me from doing—racing and prospecting."

EXPANSION VOTE PASSES 71-45

Taxes to Remain Steady For New Courtenay Area

COURTENAY — Taxes will remain the same for 600 residents north of here who voted Saturday to be included in the city.

Said city clerk-administrator Bill Moore today: There will be no foreseeable change.

"This area is almost exclusively residential—in fact it is now about the best residential area in the area."

The merger almost doubled the city's size. It added 500 acres to the present 840 acres.

Vote was 71 to 45. Earlier this year a similar plebiscite split 48-48.

The new part of the city will eventually receive all city services as money for installation becomes available, said Mr. Moore.

The city may soon grow even larger. Residents of Area A, south of the city, having started a petition asking the municipal affairs department to declare it part of Courtenay.

If the 100 residents are unanimous in wanting to join the city they will be automatically included without the necessity of taking a vote.

Ruptured Duck Romps to Win

PORT ALBERNI — A Nanaimo man beat out a field of 25 to win the Sproat Lake bathtub race Saturday.

Jim Loughlin's The Ruptured Duck bobbed around the 26.5-mile course in one hour, 10 minutes and 55.5 seconds.

Second was Rusty Harrison, 22, of Vancouver, who earlier won the Great Centennial Bathtub race across the Georgia Strait.

Another mainland entry, Richard Lodge, came in third.

All tubs were limited to six horsepower outboards.

The race was a far cry from the July 31 event which saw most of the frail craft swamped by seven-foot swells between Nanaimo and Vancouver.

The lake was glassy in comparison.

Organizer of the race was Sproat Lake fire department which included the event in its annual meeting festivities.

WHOLESALE PRICE LOW

VANCOUVER (CP)—Michael Thomas Leslie, 22, pleaded guilty Friday to getting a 17-year-old girl to borrow books from a library and sell them for him to book stores.

The library totalled the loss of the 237 books at $2,040. Overdue fines totalled $462.

Driver Jailed For 14 Days

NANAIMO — A 21-year-old man was sent to jail for 14 days Saturday for his second impaired driving offence.

Bernard James Leslie, 2905 Departure Bay Road, pleaded guilty. He was arrested on Bowen Road after police noticed be was driving without headlights.

A 23-year-old man was fined $200 when convicted of his ninth offence involving liquor.

James Morgan Dunbar pleaded guilty to consuming liquor in a public place. He had twice previously been convicted of this offence in the past two years.

$90,000 PROJECT FOR ELDERLY

$7,000 Sought for Homes

DUNCAN — Members of St. Peter's Anglican congregation here are in the middle of a campaign to raise $7,000.

It will be their share of the $90,000 cost of a project to provide low-rental homes for the elderly.

St. Peter's Church was founded in 1866 and this is the congregation's 100th anniversary project.

It was initiated and planned by General C. A. P. Murison.

Rev. Neil Robinson hopes a start will be made on the "village" early next year.

Federal government grants of $51,227 have already been pledged and the provincial government is expected to contribute $30,133.

There will be 10 units in the village.

They will be sited in pairs in five duplex cottages, two of which will provide four double units and the remaining three single units.

A central coin-operated laundry will be provided.

All units will be electrically heated.

Enough church ground is available for the first 10 units. But more land is being acquired to provide for additional units when the need arises and funds permit.

Already Mr. Robinson has enough applications to fill the units, which will be rented at $52.50 a month for doubles and $47.50 for singles.

The project is exempt from all local, school and general taxes.

St. Peter's Crescent Society has been formed to raise the congregation's share of the cost.

Director Jack Davie said: "The financial commitment of the society begins and ends with its contribution of 10 per cent of the capital cost.

"All other charges are covered by the rent which is determined in consultation with Central Mortgage and Housing Corporation."

Man Survives River Plunge

DUNCAN — Alan Thorne of Quamichan Reserve escaped unhurt early Sunday when he crashed his car through a guard rail on Allenby Road.

The car went through the rail, down the embankment and into the Cowichan River.

The river is low at this time of year and the car came to rest right side up in shallow water.

Extra Money Voted Arena

NORTH COWICHAN — Municipal councillors delayed their departure to the UBCM convention today in order to give initial readings to an ice arena bylaw.

Chemainus residents Saturday voted an additional $100,000 for the building of an ice arena at Fullers Lake Park.

Because of litigation delays the original bylaw for $330,000 was found to be insufficient.

Cowichan Construction Ltd. held firm its tender price of $379,000 until the supplementary bylaw could be voted on.

Results of Saturday's poll was 505 yes and 172 no.

Passage of the bylaw in the north end paves the way for introduction of a bylaw in the south end and city of Duncan for a joint swimming pool.

This project has been approved in principle by both councils.

Kidney 'Washing' Centre to Expand

An artificail kidney machine at Royal Jubilee Hospital has raised that institution to a new position of importance in the province.

In British Columbia the only similar units are in Vancouver.

Recently these were serving all the patients they could handle. So Mrs. May Lee of North Kamloops came here.

She came here last May 20 to be linked to the machine which took over when her kidneys failed. The machine removes poisons from her bloodstream. Without this treatment her four sons and two daughters would have lost her.

She was one of the first eight persons to use the new equipment at Jubilee. The demand for the treatment since the renal dialysis unit opened last spring has been so great that plans are now being made to expand it by at least three beds.

Rigors of the Good Life On Salt Spring Island

By ED GOULD

GANGES — Our first visit to Salt Spring Island will be long-remembered. However, after plenty of rest and medical attention, most of the wounds have healed.

Fred and Mabel Fergus has been extolling the virtures of the Gulf Islands for years:

"Trees full of ripe fruit just waiting to be picked," and "clams and oysters waiting to be scooped off the beach," was the way they described it. We didn't know that all the picking and scooping was to be done by us, the visitors.

The Fergus shack was situated near the top of one of Salt Spring's three mountains — farther inland than Cranbrook. The dust had barely settled into our hair and clothing before Mabel suggested picking a few blackberries before dark. It was four in the afternoon.

●

Everything was dark, especially my humor, when we returned tired, prickled and stung with enough berries to last the Fergus family through the winter.

But I was out of my crouch (from getting at the low berries) in a flash when Fred mentioned fresh, cool, apple cider. After an hour of pulping apples into a wooden barrel, I realized he meant making it. While he wasn't looking, I spiked his grog with a few windfall stinkers.

After a spartan breakfast consisting mainly of some of the more over-ripe fruits of the previous day's labor, we struck off for the beach, 10 miles downhill. Fred showed me how to crack oysters but the pain that shot up my arm indicated it was my wrist bone and not the oyster that cracked.

●

Owing to my incapacitated right arm, Fred drove my car back up the mountain. First, we crammed the trunk full of driftwood. An hour and a punctured oil pan later we arrived to find the ladies stealing apples in an old orchard.

"Get the high ones," Fred yelled from below.

"They're all high," my wife replied, just before a rotten branch gave way and dumped her face down in a clump of rose bushes. "Rose hips are a great source of vitamin C," Mabel cried. My wife cried a little too.

Later that night, in front of a roaring fire started from kindling I had cut earlier, Fred regaled us with stories of other friends who had been conned into helping stock the Fergus larder.

"Sam Thompson got sunstroke while fishing and couldn't eat a mouthful of the salmon he caught," Fred said.

We hadn't been able to do justice to the meal that evening either. I don't know whether my arm turned black from fish poisoning or Mable's cooking. Besides, I could have sworn the main course was some form of weed.

"It must be edible," Mabel insisted, as everyone sat looking at it steaming on the plates. "It grew in our garden." My wife said later she hadn't noticed anything edible growing in the patch she had weeded behind the house.

The sun hadn't risen, in fact, it had hardly set, when my wife and I stole stealthily from the house to the battered heap that was now my automobile, and bounded our way down the rutted mountain road. We resisted all entreaties by Fred to return during hunting season.

●

But the spell of the Islands left its mark on us and now we have joined the Lotus Eaters. This year the orchards surrounding us are just as bountiful as ever and the beaches are covered with seafood and driftwood.

We should have a full locker and woodbox if all the friends we've invited show up. Maybe I better drop another little note to Gray and Eleanor and the Fultons and Joe and Edith and, . . .

Man Fined $50 After Fracas In Restaurant

NANAIMO—Two men arrested after a row in a downtown cafe appeared in court here Saturday.

William Leonard Smith, 430 Pine, was charged with assault. He was remanded without plea.

His younger brother Larry pleaded guilty to causing a disturbance by shouting and was fined $50.

Police said the charges arose out of an incident at a restaurant on Wallace Street.

A large crowd gathered outside the premises when the row broke out inside after a man was asked to leave.

FIRST INSULATED PIPELINE to be laid by British American Oil in Alberta will carry gas from Lookout Butte field to BA's Pincher Creek processing plant, where 90 million cubic feet per day will be converted to by-products. It is a 12-inch line whose 15 miles will be sheathed in a one-inch-thick coat of polyurethane covered by tough plastic. The insulation prevents formulation of hydrates in the pipe and eliminates gas-fired heaters.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Wall St. on Upswing

Wall Street widened its gains this afternoon in active trading.

McIntyre jumped 2⅝, Inco 1⅝ and Granby 1 among Canadians. Dome lost 1⅛, CP ¾, Gooderham ¼ and Distillers and Massey ⅛.

Prices were generally strong on the American exchange.

Marconi gained ⅜ and Brazilian ¼. Scurry was down ¾ and Jupiter and Javelin ⅛.

AT TORONTO Central-Del Rio fell victim to profit-taking near the close.

The stock was down 2 to 2½ and had been as low as 23¼ earlier.

On Friday the issue jumped 3⅛. However, a company spokesman could give no reason for the surge.

The company is drilling for oil in the Rainbow area of northwestern Alberta.

Nickel issues were fractionally higher following weekend announcements of price increases.

Inco gained ⅞ to 114⅞ and Falconbridge ⅛ to 91⅛.

Among industrials Bell Telephone and CPR each dropped ½ to 46½ and 62¾. Jefferson Lake, which jumped 9⅝ last week, added 2⅜ to 59½.

AT VANCOUVER selected mines showed improved strength in moderate trading shortly before noon today.

Utica advanced 15 cents to a year's high of $4.35. Western Mines put on 20 cents to $2.75 and Buttle gained 11 cents to $1.49.

Central Del Rio dropped $1.50 to $24.75 in the oils.

In the industrials Weldwood increased 75 cents to $11.75.

AT MONTREAL international Nickel and Falconbridge led the senior mining sector higher in moderate early afternoon trading.

Inco jumped 2¾ points to 115¾ after announcing a hike in nickel prices. The stock climbed seven points in active trading last week.

Falconbridge advanced 2¼ points to 92, matching last week's gain.

Elsewhere on the market, Central-Del Rio tumbled three points to 23½ after hitting a new peak of 26½ last week on what one analyst said was news that a large drilling rig had been repaired ahead of schedule.

AT LONDON after some early hesitancy the stock market looked firm and there were a number of bright spots in equities.

Gilts also found support and prices rose by generally 1-16 to ⅛ and sometimes more.

Dollar stocks improved in line with Wall Street and Inco stood out at 243½, up 9 points, Central Del Rio was also good at 55¾ with a gain of nearly $6.

In other Canadians, West Coast Transmissions and Hudsons Bay Oil and Gas were both around 1½ better but Consolidated Paper and Price Bros. eased.

BUSINESS WARNED:

Higher Taxes 'Unavoidable'

MONTREAL (CP)—Higher taxes are unavoidable if government spending continues to climb the way it now is, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce warned today.

Two top officials of the businessmen's national body told the opening session of the chamber's 38th annual meeting that such increases could have serious effects on the Canadian economy.

Chamber President Roger DeSerres of Montreal told the 900 delegates that Canada has to keep its costs at or below world levels.

General Manager D. L. Morrell said that, given the competitive trading conditions existing in the world today, "such tax increases would threaten our standard of living through hindering our economic advance and trade position."

Mr. DeSerres told delegates that the recent successful conclusion of the Kennedy round of trade talks at Geneva—which will mean widespread tariff cuts—will mean still more competition for Canadian businessmen at home and abroad.

ISSUES CAUTION

"It will profit us not at all to push through public spending programs if the cost of the programs raise prices so that Canadian goods cannot compete," he said.

"There is plenty of evidence that we have been trying to do too much, too fast in the government sector."

He also warned that high government spending means there is not enough money left to finance adequately private business and industrial growth. That growth was essential for economic advancement.

Mr. Morrell, reviewing the general economic situation, said 1967 looks like a prosperous year, though not so good as 1966.

Gross national product—value of all goods and services produced in the economy—would likely increase seven per cent, compared with 10.9 per cent last year. Increase in real terms, after allowing for price gains, would be 3.7 per cent compared with 5.9 per cent.

Consumer spending started to increase about the middle of this year, reflecting more optimism on the part of buyers, as well as strongly rising labor income.

HOUSING DEMAND

Shortage of housing, however, was increasing and high interest rates had put more of a damper on new starts.

Mr. Morrell said exports were strong in the first half of this year, but uncertainties in the economy of the United States and much of the European market made it doubtful whether the pace could be maintained.

However it appeared exports would be up 10 per cent compared with last year.

With an expected trade surplus of $500,000,000, and tourist earnings of $250,000,000 from events connected with Centennial Year and Expo, the balance of payments deficit could be cut to $700,000,000.

Two uncertainties, however, hung over the short-term future. One was the implications of the Kennedy round and the other the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

The increasing foreign competition that will result from the Kennedy round trade talks means that fuller and more effective use of Canada's industrial resources is needed, Mr. Morrel said.

Implementation of the Carter report would mean transitional problems, but no one could yet say what effects would come from putting the report into law.

Firm Raises Nickel Price

TORONTO (CP) — Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. today announced an increase in nickel prices, effective Oct. 1, "to offset rising production costs, including the higher wages being paid under three-year labor contracts now in effect."

The price increase follows similar announcements from the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. and Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd. Friday.

Falconbridge said the U.S. price for its regular electrolytic nickel would increase 8.74 cents to 94 cents per pound; for two-inch by two-inch nickel squares, 9.74 cents to 95 cents per pound; and one-inch by one-inch nickel squares, 10.75 cents to 96 cents per pound.

RESTRICT IMPORTS, JAYS TELLS BRITAIN

JAY
. . . defend pound

LONDON (CP)—Douglas Jay, ousted as trade boss in last month's cabinet changes, suggests Britain should be prepared to restrict imports as part of a two-point plan to expand the economy without fear of a dangerous drain in the country's foreign exchange holdings.

Usually when Britain embarks on an expansionist policy, imports leap far ahead of exports leaving the country with a heavy foreign trade deficit that eats into vital foreign exchange reserves and weakens the pound.

Jay maintained the Labor government should make increasing use of the right to temporary import controls which, he said, is enshrined in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Quebec's Interests Tied to Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — The concept that led to the formation of Canada 100 years ago "remains valid today", Roger DeSerres, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today.

He told the opening session of the 38th annual chamber meeting that the interests of Quebec and the rest of Canada are bound together.

"The founding fathers believed that only a federal union, possessing a strong central government, could hold together the different parts of the country, stimulate their economic advance and safeguard them from political absorption by their powerful southern neighbor.

"This same concept remains valid today."

Mr. DeSerres said Canadians should realize their problems are not too alarming when compared with those existing throughout the world.

"If we could take the global view, then our concern for some of our problems and our bickering over them might give way to the pursuit of more worthwhile objectives—more constructive pursuits.

"Consider the fact that half of the world's employable population lives in countries where the worker income averages less than the equivalent of $100 a year."

Ship Jobs At Stake In Grants

MONTREAL (CP) — J. Eric Harrington, president of Canadian Vickers Ltd., said Saturday the federal government's shipbuilding policies give no encouragement whatsoever "to an already oppressed industry."

"There are some 13,000 jobs at stake in the shipbuilding industry in Canada," he said. "These can rapidly vanish if those in power in Ottawa continue to be so blissfully blind to the facts of life."

Mr. Harrington was addressing a luncheon following the christening of two trawlers, built by his company for Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., which operates a fishing fleet.

He said the Canadian government was reducing its shipbuilding subsidies while other countries engaged in the trade were increasing their shipbuilding subsidies.

New GM Car Prices Boosted Average $110

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors today boosted 1968 auto prices an average of $110, considerably less than the $133 average increase announced by Chrysler last week. Ford and American Motors have not released new car prices yet.

GM said its higher price tags "recognize current material prices and payroll costs." It made no mention of possible increases in its labor costs as a result of current negotiations with the United Auto Workers.

It marked the second year in a row that GM came in with lower price increases after a major competitor had announced its new sticker prices—those which include the federal excise tax and dealer handling charges.

Chrysler and Ford had to roll back their 1967 prices to get into line with GM's smaller price increase and there was immediate speculation Chrysler might have to do the same again.

GM said that $61 of the $110 increase in sticker prices reflected costs of two items optional in 1967 models but standard in the new cars in compliance with federal law.

These are the exhaust emission control device, designed to cut down on auto exhaust pollution, and centre seat belts.

GM added: "In addition, certain new features, principally safety-related product improvements not available in 1967, have also been included on all 1968 cars."

The latter group, GM said, include improved interior protection by added padding and an improved windshield wiper system.

"Adjustments were made in 1968 prices of certain optional equipment but the more popular items, such as automatic transmissions, power brakes and power steering are unchanged in price on most models for 1968," GM said.

GM said that its 1968 cars, which go on display in dealer showrooms Sept. 21, will include shoulder belt harnesses, originally scheduled as standard equipment, as optional items.

Volkswagen Prices Hiked

TORONTO (CP) — Prices for the 1968 Volkswagen beetle car will be $70 higher than for the 1967 model, Karl Barths, managing director of the Canadian subsidiary, has anounced.

Mr. Barths said sales for the January-August period were 19,884 vehicles or 6.5 per cent greater than those of the corresponding period last year.

RIM TRADE IN DOUBT

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Pacific rim free trade area may never come, Joseph Fuller, an Australian state cabinet minister and former premier of New South Wales, said Saturday.

Mr. Fuller, who is leading a 23-man trade delegation to Canada and the U.S., told a news conference that a Pacific rim common market or free trade area is impossible at this time.

The reason, he said, is the divergence of economies between Canada, the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asian countries.

We think we've got the best team, the greatest product and the most efficient Parts and Service department in British Columbia. Quite a claim, isn't it? We have our reasons, though. And CLARK Equipment Company, the world's largest manufacturer of materials handling equipment, must have agreed with us. They named us dealers for their famous line of lift-trucks. They liked our representatives – bright, knowledgeable fellows, who get straight to the heart of materials' handling problems. Your problems. And they liked our Parts and Service department, too. Those boys really believe that time is money. They work fast, but they won't cut corners. We think we're the best in the business – but it doesn't mean a thing until our customers think so. Now why don't you just give us a call and make us prove it?

NEILSEN BLOCKADE

Close coverage on Winnipeg's Ken Neilsen is offered by blocking Bob Kosid (24) and Larry Dumelie (26) in Western Football Conference game at Winnipeg Sunday. Neilsen dropped this one, but caught four others — including one for touchdown — as Blue Bombers rallied for 17-16 victory. (CP Wirephoto.)

Stamps Alone in Top Spot; Futile Lions Lose to Esks

By The Canadian Press

Winnipeg Blue Bombers stunned Grey Cup champion Saskatchewan 17-16 Sunday, preventing the Roughriders from climbing into a first-place tie with Calgary Stampeders in the Western Football Conference.

The win also gave the Bombers a temporary hold on third place in the conference before Edmonton Eskimos took it back with a 19-8 victory over British Columbia Lions.

After a weekend in which all WFC clubs were in action, the Stampeders are in first place by virtue of their 4-0 win over Montreal Alouettes. The Stamps have seven wins in eight starts for 14 points. The Roughriders are second with 12 points.

The Eskimos are third with seven points on three wins and a tie in nine games; Winnipeg is fourth with six points on three wins and five losses, and the Lions are in the cellar with a win and a tie in eight games.

With all clubs heading into the second half of the season, there are two races in the conference. Calgary and Saskatchewan are battling for first place and Winnipeg and Edmonton are fighting it out for the final playoff berth.

Blocked Kick Provided the Spark

The Bombers Sunday in Winnipeg overcame a 16-0 Saskatchewan halftime lead, getting their spark from a blocked kick early in the third. The win was their first in six games.

Ken Nielsen and Bill Van Burkleo scored touchdowns for the Bombers. Ernie Kuzyk converted one, kicked a field goal and added a single on a field goal attempt.

Saskatchewan got a touchdown from George Reed, and a convert and three field goals from Jack Abendschan.

In Edmonton, Randy Kerbow and Art Perkins scored Eskimo touchdowns. Peter Kempf converted both, kicked a field goal and added a single on a wide field goal attempt. Kerbow added the last single on a punt.

Jim Young scored the Lions' touchdown. It was converted by Ted Gerela who also had a single on a field goal attempt.

The Bombers, who went nowhere in the first half, caught fire in the third quarter when Norm Rauhaus stormed in to block Al Ford's punt. Wayne Dennis grabbed the loose ball and ran to the Saskatchewan six-yard line. From there, Van Burkleo tossed a touchdown strike to Nielsen.

Van Burkleo's pass came one play after Kenny Ploen was injured on a second-down pass attempt.

The B.C.-Edmonton game was a dull affair with just a few plays to get the fans off their hands.

The Lions' touchdown was a pass from Bernie Faloney to Young that covered 52 yards. The second Eskimo touchdown was a pass to Kerbow from Frank Cosentino and covered 57 yards.

HOCKEY NOTES

Spark Is Pact, That's a Fact!

By The Canadian Press

A new National Hockey League contract appeared to be the best spur available in a busy weekend of pre-season exhibition games.

Mike Walton, who signed Saturday, scored two goals and assisted on another Sunday as Toronto Maple Leafs drubbed Rochester Americans of the American League 5-2 in Peterborough, Ont.

At the same time, in Port Huron, Mich., Parker MacDonald celebrated his new contract with a goal in Minnesota North Stars' 3-1 victory over California Seals.

Ron Ellis, Dave Keon and Frank Mahovlich scored the other Toronto goals while Dick Gamble and Mike Byers replied for Rochester.

Mike McMahon got two Minnesota goals with Jean-Paul Parise scoring for California.

The win was the second of the exhibition season for the Leafs. Minnesota lost 3-1 Saturday to Memphis Wings of the Central League. Ray Carpenter scored twice for Memphis and Bill Collins once with Ray Cullen hitting for Minnesota in the game at Haliburton, Ont.

BRUINS BOMBED

New York Rangers put together a pair of weekend wins as well, beating Buffalo Bisons of the AHL Saturday in Stratford, Ont., then taking Boston Bruins 7- 0 in Kitchener, Ont., Sunday.

Former Leaf Larry Jeffrey sparkled Sunday for the Rangers with three goals while Don Marshall scored a pair and Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield one each.

Probably the most unhappy general manager in the league is Punch Imlach of Toronto.

Last week Imlach got Bob Pulford and Brian Conacher to the Toronto camp at Peterborough, Ont., although neither player had signed contracts necessary for them to work out with the club.

He also was having holdout problems with veteran defenceman Tim Horton for the same reason. Horton talked to Imlach for eight hours Sunday before leaving for home.

Horton already is threatened with $625 in fines for reporting late.

But much worse from Imlach's point of view is Pulford and Conacher walking out Saturday after appearing ready at least to get in shape with the rest of the team.

Pulford worked out with the team Saturday. Both left after unsuccessful talks with King Clancy, Imlach's assistant.

PHOENIX CAMP OPENS

They call Phoenix "home" now, but there was no shortage of former Victorians when the Western Hockey League's Roadrunners opened training camp at Memorial Arena this morning.

Of the 20 players on hand, 12 campaigned with the Victoria Maple Leafs' team last season. The dozen who went to Phoenix with the franchise included Gary Holland, Mike Berridge, Dave Halme, Sandy Hucul, Bill Shvetz, Lou Jankowski, Tom Polanic, Gordie Redahl, Dick Lamoureux, Neil Clark, Marty Demarais and Dong Borgeson.

Others in the early vanguard of players included Del Topoll, Ron Lord, Don Dunnville, Jack Matheson, Gerald Hudy, Brian Shick and Gary Kulcheski.

Missing, however, was coach Alf Pike. The one-time New York Ranger pilot was scheduled to arrive this evening after talent-seeking visits to the Natinal League training camps of Toronto, New York and Philadelphia Flyers.

Driving Crown

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP) — Laurie Craig of New Westminster led all the way Sunday in his Camaro to capture the featured sedan race in the final International Conference meet of the season before about 4,000 fans at Westwood Racing Circuit.

Craig entered the race trailing John Hall of North Vancouver by 15 points, but the victory gave him the conference title in his class.

FIELD HOCKEY

Nancy, Gillian Sparkle

LEVERKUSEN, West Germany (CP)—West Germany defeated Canada's field hockey team 2-0 Sunday in the women's world field hockey tournament.

The Canadian team was outclassed by the German girls and only goalie Joyce Harris of Vancouver prevented the score from running higher.

Anna Marchand of Toronto and Gillian Thomas, a former Victorian now living in Vancouver, played well for Canada.

Canada took its first victory of the tournament Saturday with a 2-0 win over Argentina. Miss Thomas and Nancy Hill of Victoria, Canada's vice-captain, scored the goals.

In other games Sunday, Australia defeated New Zealand 3-1, France edged Argentina 1-0, Ireland beat Jamaica 2-1, South Africa shut out Scotland 3-0, Austria nipped Spain 1-0 and Wales defeated the United States 2-0.

LINE FOR CHALLENGERS FORMS ON THE RIGHT . . .

Times News Services

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Britain and France will challenge for the America's Cup, foreign yachtsmen have predicted here.

No official challenges were being accepted by the New York Yacht Club, sponsors of the America's Cup event, until the current series between the Intrepid and the Dame Pattie ended, but they would be received immediately afterwards.

Baron Marcel Bich of Paris told reporters he will build a 12-metre yacht to compete for the cup, which has never left American hands in the 116 years of its existence.

The British challenge is expected to come from Owen Aisher, John Livingston, Erik Maxwell and Athony Boyden. Representatives of this group told reporters a challenge would be forwarded when the present series ended.

Livingston is an Australian and was involved in the British challenge for the cup in 1964. Maxwell is a Scot.

All challenges have to come from a yacht club in the challenging country to the New York Yacht Club, which decides which to accept.

There was also talk here Saturday of a possible challenge by an Italian group.

REDMEN SHUFFLED

Top Forward Line Allowed 12 Goals

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coach Fred Whalley plans to reorganize his lineup tonight in an effort to get the Brooklin, Ont., Redmen back into contention for the Canadian senior lacrosse title.

Whalley said Sunday he will use defenceman Mike Gray to shore up his defence and also intends to break up the club's first string forward line.

The moves followed Saturday's 19-5 loss to Vancouver Carlings.

Vancouver, after its fourth dominion title in seven years, leads the best-of-seven Mann Cup series 2-1. Other games are scheduled for Wednesday and, if necessary, Friday and Saturday. All will be played in Vancouver.

Whalley noted that his top forward line of Terry and John Davis and Elmer Tran was on the floor Saturday for 12 Vancouver goals.

Goaltender Bob McCready, who retired after Saturday's first period, will be back in the Brooklin lineup tonight. McCready, hampered by an injured right elbow, allowed eight goals in the opening 20 minutes.

Spare goalie Gary Drysdale, who played only two games this year, took over but had little support.

$75,000 SUIT

Angel Sues Bat Wielder

SEATTLE (AP) — Merritt Ranew, Seattle Angels catcher who underwent brain surgery after being hit on the head with a bat in a game last year at Vancouver, has filed suit for $75,000 damages.

The superior court suit is against Vancouver Mounties Holdings Ltd., Mickey Vernon, manager of the Pacific Coast League club; Santago Rosario and Tom Reynolds, two former Vancouver players and Kansas City Athletics of the American League.

Ranew was hit on the head by Rosario after an altercation involving Reynolds. Rosario was suspended from baseball for a year.

Unitas Passes For 401 Yards

By Associated Press

Johnny Unitas gave a record passing performance—but his Baltimore Colt teammates presented the game ball to another player.

Chicago Bears' Gale Sayers carried the ball from scrimmage seven times, but he didn't carry it very far in experiencing the worst day of his pro career.

Bart Starr lost the ball on interceptions four times in the first half—he threw just three interceptions all of last season—but then found the target and helped save the Green Bay Packers from a stunning loss.

These were just a few of the doings Sunday as the National Football League began its 48th season.

CLUB RECORD

Unitas completed 23 of 32 passes for a club record 401 yards and Bobby Boyd won the game ball by intercepting two passes, one for a touchdown, as Baltimore held off Atlanta Falcons 38-31; Sayers gained just two yards as Chicago was trounced 41-13 by Pittsburgh Steelers, and Starr set up a touchdown and field goal with passes as the defending champions salvaged a 17-17 tie with Detroit Lions.

In other NFL action, Los Angeles Rams got past New Orleans Saints 27-13, Philadelphia Eagles tripped Washington Redskins 35-24, San Francisco '49ers outlasted Minnesota Vikings 27-21, Dallas Cowboys beat Cleveland Browns 21-14 and New York Giants upset St. Louis Cardinals 37-20.

TAKE COMMAND

Unitas, who completed 11 of 15 passes for 255 yards in the first half, combined with Tom Matte on an 88-yard TD pass play on the first play from scrimmage and also hit Jimmy Orr on a 55-yard scoring strike as the Colts built up a 31-7 lead at intermission.

But the Falcons roared back to make it 31-24 before Matte scored the winner on a 10-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Sayers followed a first-period Pittsburgh field goal by returning the ensuing kickoff 103 yards for a touchdown but was stymied thereafter, gaining just two yards from scrimmage.

Willie Asbury ran for two Pittsburgh touchdowns and Bill Nelson passed for another pair.

Detroit opened up a 17-0 halftime lead when Lem Barney ran an intercepted pass back 24 yards for a touchdown, Wayne Walker kicked a 48-yard field goal and Amos Marsh bulled over from three yards out. board when Elijah Pitts scored twice—once from the three and again from the one.

Don Chandler's tying, 28-yard field goal came with 1:43 left and was set up by an 84-yard Starr-Pitts pass play.

Brabham Wins

OULTON PARK, England (AP) — Jack Brabham of Australia, driving a Repco Brabham, won the Gold Cup auto race Saturday with a circuit record of 108.51 miles an hour on the final lap.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland was second after leading in the early part of the 124-mile race.

Yelling by Fans Can't Hurt Cats

By The Canadian Press

General-manager Red O'Quinn may be pardoned a blush today following Sunday's Eastern Football Conference game in Lansdowne Park which his Ottawa Rough Riders blew 16-14 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

O'Quinn last week blistered the Taylor Field fans of Saskatchewan Roughriders for booing and yelling so loudly that Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson could not be heard changing signals at the line of scrimmage.

Sunday, Ottawa fans pulled the same trick at home to show their upset over a fourth-quarter call that they felt robbed them of a fumble recovery.

But, unknown to the Ottawa faithful, their tactics could have no effect on Hamilton quarterback Joe Zuger. Hamilton calls no audible signals after breaking a huddle.

The other weekend game was a lacklustre affair Saturday in Montreal where Calgary Stampeders of the Western Conference ran into an unexpectedly tough Allouette defence and came away with a 4-0 victory on an 11-yard field goal by Bill Goods and a single on a missed field goal by Larry Robinson.

KICKS CLINCHER

Kicking turned the tide for Hamilton Sunday as well, as it has all season, with end Tommy-Joe Coffey booting a 28-yard field goal with one second remaining to overcome a 14-13 Ottawa lead.

It was the third field goal of the day for Coffey who also hit from 25 and 32 yards.

Hamilton also got a fourth-quarter touchdown from Willie Bethea and a 46-yard punt single from Zuger.

Ronnie Stewart scored two Ottawa touchdowns, racing 20 yards through a maze of players in the first quarter and five yards in the third. Moe Racine converted one. Don Sutherin scored a single when his opening kickoff went through the Hamilton end zone.

In Montreal Saturday, fans probably cost the Alouettes a victory when, on the last play of the game, defensive end John Baker recovered a fumble and was prevented from scoring more by fans swarming on the field than by Calgary defenders.

Calgary quarterback Peter Liske had dropped the ball under the pressure of Montreal's attacking front wall to set up the play. It was the second Calgary fumble of the dying minutes although Ben Woodson was there to grab fullback Lovell Coleman's fumble a few minutes earlier.

HAMILTON STARS

Wings Flap Into Finale

Rick Hamilton started and finished the scoring Sunday to lead Saanich Wings into the Summer Hockey League final.

Hamilton's two goals sparked the 4-2 victory over North Americans in a sudden-death playoff for second place. Wings now play Duncan Shell in a two-game, total-point championship series.

The first game is scheduled at the Sports Centre tonight at 8. Second game will be played Wednesday.

Dave Williams and Bob Betham scored Wings' other goals while Russ Worsley and Ernie Carley counted for the Americans.

SIDNEY TRACK STILL LIKE TONIC . . . . . . FOR PILS FRIDAY AND RED ENSIGN

There's Something About That Sandown Strip

By HAL MALONE

Horseplayers don't usually have an affection for a particular racetrack. They might concede that Santa Anita is a more lush palace of chance than Sandown. But they are more concerned with the pile of hay in their purse than the pew they perch on.

But horses view things differently. Some intangible, the air, the water or the kind of track that is kind to bunions makes a great deal of difference to their mobility—and courage.

Take Wallaroo or Red Ensign, Sefton Park or Pils Friday. The moment they step out at Sandown, a transformation takes place. A sort of psychedilia sets in.

They all said "cheese" in the winner's circle as the 1967 Vancouver Island racing season opened at the Sidney spa Saturday.

They were as hot as the crowd of 5,000, warmer than the 86 degrees on the thermometer in chart-caller Massie White's atop-the-grandstand cubicle.

None more so than Pils Friday. Hardly a fleet-footed bandit at Vancouver (17 starts, one win), the 10-year-old opened up a 10-length lead and coasted to a four-length victory in the eighth race.

Sefton Park also singed the course in her successful 6½-furlongs romp, busting home in 1:19.2—identical to that posted by Permano in the feature.

Red Ensign likes Sandown so much he probably wishes the entire 110-day B.C. racing season was held there. He was four for five at Sandown last year and hadn't won a race on the mainland in 17 starts this season.

Wallaroo runs well everywhere (he won four at Vancouver) but he has always been partial to Sandown real estate.

It required a brilliant ride by Basil Frazier to get Wallaroo before the photographer.

Fourth at the head of the stretch and blocked by a wall of horses, Wallaroo was sent into what seemed a nonexistent hole by Frazier and hung it on Basket Carrier by a thick lip.

Punter's Joy, breathing fire in the final 16th, was a head back and that much in front of Miss Cye C.

Frazier also steered Mission Man home in the first race, turning back the favored Western Shadow in the brisk stretch duel.

Permano, gifted with great speed but not fussy about anything but a hard track, wrapped up the main event without undue perspiration.

Jack Phillips took him to the front immediately. The lightly raced This Is True was his closest pursuer but never appeared in danger of winning.

The victory was especially pleasing to Phillips. Last year he and Permano repeatedly ran into soiled strips and a superior filly Gladys Ann and never tasted the champagne.

"Permano liked that track today and he was full of run," Phillips said. "I waved my whip at him once or twice but he wasn't tired at the end."

Frazier said This Is True "didn't like the track all that much, tired, and needed the race—he hasn't run since July 29."

MUTUEL MURMURS . . . The heat failed to diminish the punters' ardor . . . They tossed $143,360 through the windows, an increase of $25,000 or 20 per cent over the 1966 opening . . . Jockey Freddy Finley, battling a poundage problem, had to surrender three mounts including the winners Mission Man and Red Ensign.

Winslade Hockey President

PENTICTON (CP)—Some 200 delegates to the 48th annual British Columbia Amateur Hockey Association convention Sunday re-elected Don Winslade, of New Westminster, as president for a one-year term.

Also re-elected to the BCAHA executive were Leo Atwell of Trail, first vice-president; Milo Fabro of Trail, second vice-president, and Ivan Temple of Victoria, secretary-treasurer.

Immediate past president is Leo Margoilis of Nanaimo.

POSITION CHANGED

Temple's position as secretary-treasurer was changed somewhat at the convention. He is now a full-time paid employee of the BCAHA and does not have voting privileges at future conventions.

Clem Bird of Penticton was elected president of the newly-formed British Columbia Junion A Hockey League for a one-year term.

Hulett Sparks Rangers

EUGENE, Ore. (AP) — Tom Hulett threw five touchdown passes Sunday to lead the Seattle Rangers to a 35-14 victory over the winless Eugene Bombers in a Continental Football League game.

Hulett had the Rangers on the scoreboard for 28 points late in the third quarter before the Bombers' defensive untit took advantage of a Seattle quarterback change.

Tom Roth, a former Washington State University quarterback, entered the game and had two passes intercepted and returned for touchdowns.

One was a 35-yarder by Greg Hartman, and the other was a 64-yard ramble by Hugh Oldham.

But Hulett came back to ice the game for the Rangers with a 17-yard scoring pass to tight end Bob Light. Little Don Mann was on the receiving end of two of Hulett's aerials.

Golf Pros Extend Hudson Cup Reign

BELLINGHAM, Wash. (AP) — Professionals continued their domination over the amateurs in the Hudson Cup golf matches Sunday as they won the 1967 competition 15.5.

It was the 15th win in 17 years for the professionals. The amateurs have not won since 1955.

Pro Boots Porterfield of Grants Pass, Ore., lost his first Hudson Cup singles match in 10 years as he was bested by amateur John Johnston of Vancouver, B.C.

Cardinals One Win Away From Clinching NL Flag

By The Associated Press

"It's got to wind up in a playoff somewhere along the way," Eddie Stanky said Sunday after his streaking Chicago White Sox blanked Minnesota Twins 4-0 behind southpaw Gary Peters and charged within one-half game of the American League-leading Detroit Tigers.

EDDIE STANKY
. . . happy weekend

"Two weeks to go and four teams in contention," Stanky added. "There's no way to avoid a playoff. We just hope that we're in it."

While Peters' four-hitter completed a three-game sweep over the Twins and ran the White Sox' winning string to five games, Detroit and Boston Red Sox both fumbled away opportunities to gain ground.

Sixth-place Washington Senators tripped up the Tigers 5-0 behind Frank Bertain's clutch pitching and eighth-place Baltimore Orioles slugged the Red Sox 5-2 with three home runs. Boston fell into a third place deadlock with Minnesota, one game behind Detroit and one-half length back of the White Sox.

YANKEES TRIMMED

California Angels edged Kansas City Athletics 3-2 and Cleveland Indians trimmed New York Yankeees 4-2 in other Sunday games.

The White Sox clipped the Twins 5-4 Saturday while Detroit passed Washington by the same score and Baltimore bombed Boston 4-1. Cleveland hammered New York 6-1 and California edged Kansas City 2-1.

The White Sox, who were 2 games out of first place Friday morning, jumped from fourth to second place Sunday as Peters shackled the Twins for his 16th victory in 25 decisions and Ken Berry drove in two runs with a homer and single.

TEN TIGERS STRANDED

Bertaina scattered seven hits, struck out eight and stranded 10 Detroit base runners.

Frank Howard's first inning sacrifice fly sent home the only run Bertaina needed, but Fred Valentine's run-scoring double in the fourth and a three-run homer by Hank Allen in the fifth kept the Tigers on the run.

Paul Blair's two-run homer and bases-empty blasts by Boog Powell and Andy Etchebarren powered the Orioles to their third straight triumph at Boston.

St. Louis Cardinals assured themselves of a tie for the National League pennant Sunday by nipping Cincinnati Reds 3-2 while second-place San Francisco Giants was losing to Pittsburgh Pirates 5-4.

St. Louis can wrap it all up tonight by defeating Philadelphia Phillies.

To tie, the Giants would have to win their remaining 13 games.

That Pro Life Not for Stofa

By Associated Press

It took John Stofa nearly three years in pro football to get his first start and nine more months to get his second.

He doesn't know how long it might take before he gets his third.

Part of the reason for his uncertainty is a broken ankle. The rest is Bob Griese, who made his pro debut Sunday by taking over for Stofa and leading Miami Dolphins to a 35-21 victory over Denver Broncos.

In other American Football League games, Oakland Raiders crushed Boston Patriots 35-7 7 and Houston Oilers upset Buffalo Bills 20-7.

Stofa, who languished in pro football's minor leagues for the better part of three seasons before making his first start in Miami's last game last year, made his second start Sunday.

The 25-year-old rookie took the Dolphins to a touchdown in just three plays after the opening kickoff, passing twice for 51 yards and running the last eight himself.

SCHOOLBOY BUDDIES

Then the next time Miami got the ball linebacker Pete Duranko, a high school team-mate of Stofa in Johnstown, Pa., led a vicious blitz that knocked the quarterback onto a stretcher with a broken bone above his right ankle.

Griese, a rookie from Purdue, took over and completed 12 of 19 passes for 193 yards and two touchdowns.

After the Broncos rallied for a 21-21 tie, halfback Abner Haynes won the game with two fourth-quarter touchdowns on runs of three and 65 yards. Rookie Bo Hickey earlier scored twice for the Broncos.

In handing the winless Patriots their third defeat, Oakland quarterback Daryle Lamonica passed for three touchdowns—to Fred Biletnikoff, Hewritt Dixon and Bill Miller—then ran 21 yards for another.

Houston surprised Buffalo with a rugged defence and a rookie by the name of Zeke Moore.

The Oilers' defence held the Bills to a field goal, and Moore set up Jacky Lee's four-yard scoring toss to Charley Frazier with a 46-yard punt return and John Wittenborn's second field goal of the game with a 34-yard punt runback.

Plans for the coming season will be discussed.

Dobson's Pair Chills Hornets

Cowichan Timbermen lit their offensive fireworks in the second half Sunday, dropped Victoria Hornets 22-0 and then took over undisputed possession of first place in the Vancouver Island Juvenile Football League.

Oak Bay's Farmer Construction handed James Bay its fifth straight loss by defeating the Mustangs 26-8 in a game at Macdonald Park.

Cowichan, tied with Hornets heading into Sunday's crucial meeting at Duncan, managed a 2-0 halftime lead when Doug Robertson broke through to drop a Hornet for a safety.

Then Timbermen caught fire. Miles Dobson and Jim Dias scored third-quarter touchdowns, both converted by Greg McMartin.

Dobson, scooping up a fumble, scored a second major in the final quarter.

Jim Forward, an explosive figure all day in Oak Bay's backfield, also was a two-touchdown performer. Terry Karpiuk scored Oak Bay's other major and place-kicker Bob Hammer added three converts and a field goal. Farmers collected two points on a safety touch.

Bob Rimmer, on a pass from Ron Thom, scored James Bay's major. Mustangs also collected a two-point safety.

Kickers Upset By 'Tiger' Lions

Red Lions proved to be the "tigers" as the Victoria District Soccer League campaign got under way Sunday with the McGavin Cup knockout competition.

Lions, making their young legs dominate experience, upset Hourigan Kickers 2-1 to advance to next week's semi-finals.

Canadian Scottish, Gorge Molsons and Luckies also advanced to the fours.

Canadian Scottish looks impressive in blanking University of Victoria Vikings 2-0 while Gorge Molsons, getting three goals from goalie-turned-forward Larry DeCosta, defeated Victoria West 5-3.

In Sunday's other game, Luckies tripped Tally-Ho 2-1.

London Boxing Club, Island Tug and Sidney Hotel carved out victories as second-division squads opened regular league play. A fourth game, between Mayfair Clippers and Colony Inn, ended in a 2-2 draw.

Sikes Is Seventh To Top $100,000 On Pro Golf Tour

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — After he had won the $110,000 Philadelphia golf classic Sunday, Dan Sikes, Jr., was asked what he thought of his putting during the 72-hole tournament.

"My putter," said the 36-year-old golfer, "is just a little bit behind my wife in my esteem."

Sikes charged from a four-stroke deficit at the start of the final round to overtake George Archer and win by two strokes with a 72-hole, 12-under-par total of 276.

Sikes shot a final round 34-34—68, four under par, on the Whitemarsh Valley Country Club's par 36-36—72 course.

Behind Sikes and Archer came Billy Casper, Bob Charles and Mason Rudolph, tied at eight-under-par 280.

Arnold Palmer, who finally shook his putting miseries for a four-under 35-33—68 Sunday, finished at 282 along with Miller Barber, Wayne Yates, Bobby Nichols and Jim Colbert.

Sikes' rounds of 71-68-69-68 tied the tournament record set by 1964 winner Jack Nicklaus.

Wilf Homeniuk of Winnipeg finished far down the field at 295 after shooting a 77 Saturday and 73 Sunday.

The six-foot-one Sikes, with his $22,000 first prize, became the seventh pro on the tour this year to go over the $100,000 mark with earnings of $112,693.

Leading money-winners:

278—Archer, $13,200.
280—Casper, Rudolph, Charles, $6,160.
282—Nichols, Colbert, Yates, Palmer, Barber, $3,454.
283 — Weidskopf, Crawford, Courtney, Sanders, $2,337.
284—Marr, Trevino, Glover, Goalby, Brewer, Henning, Crampton, $1,650.

Jacklin Shatters Course Record

SANDWICH, England (AP) — Tony Jacklin, 23-year-old newcomer to Britain's Ryder Cup golf team, won the Dunlop masters professional tournament Saturday with a record-breaking round of 64, including a hole in one.

He finished 69-74-67-64—274.

He was six under par for the Royal St. George's links and shattered the 33-year-old course record set by Henry Cotton in the 1934 British Open.

Gas Leak Halts Ross, Helps Haslam to Title

The flying missile that punctured his gas tank also knocked Ross Surgenor off the throne after a three-year reign as Vancouver Island's top stock car driver.

Roy Haslam moved in as the No. 1 driver after his second-place finish in the 75-lap Island championship at Western Speedway on Saturday.

Fred Isaacson won the main event and the hard-luck title went, without dispute, to Surgenor.

LEAD IMPROVED

The defending champion went into Saturday's races, before a turnout of 2,780 fans, with a 4½-point edge over Haslam. Surgenor promptly extended it to seven points by posting the fastest time in the time trials.

For 54 laps in the main event, it looked as if Surgenor was destined to remain as the overall point champion. Then, on the 55th lap, and on the heels of a collision between Pat O'Connor and rookie Rick O'Dell, Surgenor's tank was punctured. He managed to return to the track as the leaders hit the 66th lap, but it proved too late.

In addition to the point title, Haslam also claimed the Corby Cup for winning the most main events — five.

FIRST BIG WIN

Isaacson's victory Saturday proved to be his first main event triumph this season.

Dave Anderson also proved to be a big winner, capturing the 40-lap "B" main event along with the first heat. It was his second straight "double."

Complete results:

"A" dash—1. Roy Haslam, 2. Tony Mortel, 3. Neil Montgomery.

"B" dash—1. Bill Price, 2. Gary Lockeridge, 3. Jerry Knight.

First heat—1. Dave Anderson, 2. Tom Askey, 3. Barry Little.

Second heat—1. Ken Alexander, 2. Albert Smith, 3. Pat O'Connor.

Third heat—1. Fred Isaacson, 2. Jim Steen, 3. Bill Friend.

Fast heat—1. Jim Caudwell, 2. Mel Marshall, 3. Dave Farris.

"B" main—1. Dave Anderson, 2. Bill Price, 3. Jerry Knight.

"A" main—1. Fred Isaacson, 2. Roy Haslam, 3. Mel Marshall, 4. Jim Caudwell.

THUNDERBIRDS DEFEAT OFF-COLOR O'KEEFES

Victoria O'Keefes have a week during which they must eliminate "a sort of inertia," polish up their passing, and "start scoring goals."

That was manager Frank Grealy's assessment after O'Keefes dropped a 1-0 decision to University of British Columbia Thunderbirds in a Pacific Coast Soccer League exhibition at Royal Athletic Park Sunday.

O'Keefes open defence of their regular-season championship against the same Thunderbirds in the PCSL opener at Athletic Park next Sunday.

A goal by Ken Elmer, at 30 minutes, and Bruce Ballam's brilliant, second-half netminding combined to fashion UBC's exhibition triumph.

O'Keefes, who showed to best advantage in the second half only to be stymied by Ballam, were served best by fullbacks Dave Stothard and Don McIntosh, halfback Bill Hamilton and forward Jim Menzies.

MAULS MILDENBERGER

Oscar Quick Puncher —And Faster Talker

FRANKFURT, Germany (AP) — Oscar Bonavena proclaimed himself champion of the world today before jetting off on a sunshine swing of Europe.

"Who is there to stop me?" he asked. "Not one of the other contenders for this heavyweight title can punch like I can.

"I don't care who it is I have to fight in the semi-final, he'll get the same treatment as Mildenberger."

Bonavena, whose words shoot out faster than his torrid punches, also made it quite clear that he did not think much of West Germany's Karl Mildenberger, the fighter he outpointed in a 12-round elimination title fight Saturday.

BIDED HIS TIME

"He wasn't very smart. The way he fought couldn't have suited me better even if I had asked him. He came charging at me at the start of every round. I just let him come, bided my time and then let him have it.

"I put him on the canvas five times, hit him more times than Clay did and all this when I was fighting a southpaw for the first time. If he hadn't been a southpaw I'd have knocked him out . . .

"He took some really good punches. I put a lot of power into those, but he always got back to his feet."

Bonavena and his wife Dora flew to Milan, Italy, for a few days rest and later in the week will fly to Madrid, Spain. He said that they would holiday in the Spanish capital before returning home sometime next week.

UNCONTROLLED CROWD

Behind the scenes there were harsh words from Harold Conrad, vice-president of Sports Action Corp., sponsors of the elimination tournament. "We were embarrassed by the ringside arrangements which almost turned the fight into a fiasco," he said.

Conrad referred to the uncontrolled crowd which stormed the press seats and the inadequate bell which could seldom he heard. It led to fighting going on past the bell on at least three occasions, Mildenberger's manager running along the ropes to signal the end of a round and Bonavena raising his hands in a victory salute because he thought the fight had been stopped.

Miss Bardahl Captures Hydro Crown

SACRAMENTO, Calif. (AP) — Miss Budweiser got the cup but Miss Bardahl got all the honors Sunday in the $25,000 Sacramento Cup race for unlimited hydroplanes.

Miss Budweiser took the cup for winning the final heat of the day, but Miss Bardahl's performance, with Billy Schumacher at the helm, took the U.S. national championship.

Miss Bardahl, averaging 98.79 miles an hour, took the first two heats and placed second in the final heat to clinch the national title.

Miss Budweiser's performance with Mike Thomas driving was good enough for second on the card, with Miss U.S., piloted by Bill Muncey, placing third.

The Russians Are Coming...

WINNIPEG (CP)—The dates for the second annual world invitational hockey tournament have been altered to permit the attendance of the Russian Olympic team.

Originally scheduled to start Dec. 26, the tournament has been rescheduled to begin Jan. 1 with teams from Russia, Sweden and Canada participating.

In the first touroment, held here last winter, Canada won with a 5-4 decision over Russia in the final game.

The schedule of games for the round-robin affair is: Jan. 1—Canada-Sweden; Jan. 2—Sweden-Russia; Jan. 3—Russia-Canada; Jan 4 — Sweden-Canada; Jan. 5; Russia-Sweden, and Jan. 6—Russia-Canada.

New Rugby Entry Off on Right Foot

The new name showing up in Victoria Rugby Union circles this season is the "Castaways."

The team stepped off on the right foot Sunday be defeating Cowichan 11-10 in the opening game of the first-division schedule.

Captained by Tom Browne, Castaways made their successful debut on the strength of trys by Gerry Carr, Dave Clarke and Dick Hales.

Clarke's conversion of one try provided the winning margin.

Blair Bellis and George Westarp scored Cowichan trys, both converted by Derek Hyde-Lay.

Oak Bay Wanderers and Navy chalked up exhibition victories over University of Victoria teams Saturday. Wanderers, sparked by the three-try performance of scrum half Daryl Noullette, defeated the first-division Vikings 27-15 while Navy downed Norsemen 11-6.

Norsemen led 6-0 at the half on a penalty goal by Rick Pike and a try by Paul Carnes, but Navy steamed ahead on trys by Bob Smith, Hagen Klose and Bob Mitchell and a convert by Ed Cameron.

Validity of Sex Test Disputed

KIEV, U.S.S.R. (UPI) — Polish athletic officials Saturday disputed the validity of a sex test that barred blonde, 21-year-old Polish track star Ewa Klobukowska from taking part in women's races at the European Cup track meet.

"We do not agree with the decision of the officials," a Polish spokesman said. "It is not sufficient to say that there is a dividing line, that this is a girl and this is not."

He said Polish athletic officials would ask that an international board be set up to approve women athletes of doubtful femininity while rejecting real males who were sneaked onto women's teams.

PROBLEM STUDY

"What we want and we shall ask the international amateur athletic federation to institute is an international commission of doctors who will deal with this problem and allow those persons who have complications to take part in competition," the spokesman said.

"You cannot simply have a dividing line. You must allow for those persons who are complicated to be able to take part in sports."

A board of three Soviet and three Hungarian doctors examined Miss Klobukowska and Friday barred her from the European Cup meet on the grounds that she did not meet female sex requirements.

Polish officials said their doctors had assured them that Miss Klobukowska, co-holder of the world women's record for the 100-yard dash, qualified as a female.

"We would not have sent her here to this humiliation if we had any doubt," the spokesman said.

Miss Klobukowska was the first person to be disqualified from an international competition for failure to pass a sex test. The tests were instituted a year ago after there were complaints some women athletes were more masculine than feminine.

Polish officials said Miss Klobukowska would continue to race at meets in Poland and elsewhere providing "there is no such medical inspection."

SIR JOHN COCKCROFT
. . . won prize in 1951

Atom Bomb Developer Dies at 70

CAMBRIDGE, England (UPI) — Nobel prize winner Sir John Cockcroft, one of the fathers of the atomic bomb, was found dead today by his wife. He was 70.

Cockroft, who directed Britain's atomic energy program in the Second World War years when it helped American scientists produce the first nuclear explosion, had been feeling unwell the past few days, Lady Cockroft said.

In 1932 Cockroft and another young English physicist, E. T. S. Walton, became the first men in the world to "successfully disintegrate the nuclei of lithium and other light elements by protons entirely artifically generated by high energy potentials."

The Royal Society's announcement of their work drew little attention except in laboratories in Germany, Italy, the Soviet Union and United States.

But on Nov. 15, 1951, the Royal Swedish Academy of Sciences announced awarding of the Nobel prize for physics to Cockroft and Walton for "their pioneer work on the transmutation of atomic nuclei. . . ."

Syria Proposing Arab Merger

DAMASCUS (AP) — Syria's head of state, Dr. Noureddin Atassi, proposed Sunday a merger of Egypt, Algeria, Iraq and Syria into one socialist state to continue the struggle against Israel.

A statement by Syria's ruling Baath Socialist party read by Atassi over Damascus radio and television called for urgent steps to unify the armies and economies of the four leftist Arab countries "for a decisive retaliation against Israel's occupation of Arab areas captured during the June war."

Atassi announced general mobilization would be put into effect in Syria to "turn all citizens into warriors," and said austerity measures would be taken to re-arm Syria's Soviet-equipped military forces "with modern weapons."

The statement, however, stopped short of declaring a resumption of the war against Israel.

Syria, Atassi said, would continue a boycott on all fronts against the United States, Britain and West Germany. He renewed charges that these countries aided Israel in the war.

Action Needed To Build More Houses, Suites

OTTAWA (CP) — A massive expansion of house and apartment construction in the balance of the 1960s and well into the 1970s is urged by the Economic Council of Canada.

The council, in its annual review issued Sunday, said the number of new housing units built each year will have to rise to an average of 190,000 between 1966 and 1970 compared with 135,000 last year.

The council questioned continuance of the 11 per cent sales tax on construction materials. Finance Minister SHarp, who kept the rate at 11 per cent when he boosted the general sales tax to 12 per cent, has said he will reconsider it in the government's general revision of the tax structure.

Housing will have to grow faster than all other sectors of the economy in order to meet the needs of rapidly expanding family formation, to catch up on the backlog of demand and to provide a cushion of vacancies to ensure ease of population mobility, the council said.

The council said the rising cost of building lots in the last decade contributed to the high cost of housing. Governments should follow more aggressive programs of assembling land for housing and installing services such as sewers and water supply.

Tight-money policies designed to take the pressure off an overheated economy bear too heavily on housing, the report said. Special measures should shield housing from such policies.

The country needed more training and retraining of manpower in the construction industry, improved and more productive methods of building and more efficient use of existing housing.

All this would require more planning and developing "in a balanced and orderly way, the great accompanying expansion required in government, community and private services."

A greatly increased number of apartments, town houses and other types of multiple accommodation would be needed. The council estimated that of the 200,000 new housing units which will need to be started in 1970, only 80,000 should be single, detached dwellings.

The number of apartments started reached 78,000 in 1965 but dropped to 52,000 in 1966.

"To move up to a rate of apartment construction of well over 100,000 units a year by 1970 will involve a truly massive expansion of the industry's capacity over the next four years."

Prime Minister Pearson has said he will meet provincial authorities this winter to discuss future government activity in housing.

8 OF 10 PEOPLE SOON IN CITIES

'Urban Shift' Makes Problems

OTTAWA (CP)—Eight out of 10 Canadians will live in urban centres by 1980, with six out of 10 concentrated in 29 major cities, the Economic Council of Canada predicts.

This shift in population will unleash a host of new problems for all levels of government and give new weight to existing ones, it warns in its annual report made public Sunday.

"We reiterate the urgent need to update attitudes and approaches to over-all urban development and to strengthen commitments to resolving the complex and growing problems generated by such development. . . .

"In the second century of Confederation, it is essential to recognize and to adopt policy approaches capable of dealing with its many new, pressing and difficult challenges."

Between now and 1980, urban population in Canada is expected to rise by 5,800,000 to more than 20,000,000 out of a total population of 25,000,000.

The report gives this regional breakdown for city population increases expected by 1980:

Ontario, up 42 per cent to 9,700,000; Quebec, up 38 per cent to 6,200,000; Prairie provinces, up 45 per cent to 3,020,000; British Columbia, up 44 per cent to 1,980,000; Altantic provinces, up 25 per cent to 1,310,000.

FOCUS ON THREE

The report does not give detailed forecasts for specific cities, but it says that by 1980 Toronto and Montreal will each have well over 3,000,000 inhabitants and Vancouver more than 1,000,000.

"By 1980 it is probable that almost one-third of the entire Canadian population will live in these three giant urban complexes."

Six other metropolitan areas —Winnipeg, Ottawa, Edmonton, Calgary, Hamilton and Quebec City—would have a total population of 3,600,000.

Twenty others, scattered from Victoria to St. John's, Nfld., and with populations ranging from 100,000 to 500,000, would be home for another 3,500,000.

Among the most critical problems associated with this projected growth involved transportation, housing, water and land.

ROAD COST HIGH

Forecasting that there will be almost 11,000,000 vehicles in Canada in 1980, the council says total investment in new roads for cities could easily reach more than $4,000,000,000 during the next 14 years.

Housing demand could total 2,400,000 units during the next decade.

Urban consumption of water would likely more than double by 1980, due mostly to industrial use.

During the next 15 years, capacity to supply an extra 1,500,000,000 gallons of water daily would be required to meet the needs of the largest cities. That would cost an estimated $130,000,000 a year up to 1980.

The council, noting that many municipalities already are caught in a squeeze between limited revenue sources and growing expenditures, warns that much greater attention must be given to their financial development to help them deal with future growth.

By 1980, it predicts, cities with populations over 100,000 will have total revenues of $6,200,000,000, but will be spending $8,600,000,000. In 1966, revenues were $2,100,000,000 and expenditures $2,600,000,000.

Consumers Will Spend Less on Cars

OTTAWA (CP) — Canadians can be expected to spend less on new cars and more on household furnishings and appliances during the next two years, the Economic Council of Canada predicts.

In all, consumer spending would likely increase by 4.5 per cent a year up to 1970, compared with a 5.8-per-cent rate during the last three years.

Major reason for the decline, the council says, is the expected moderation in purchases of new cars following the extremely high buying rate of recent years.

Spending on education—primarily at the post-high school level—would expand most rapidly. The council estimated this growth at about four times the increase of total consumer spending.

GALLERY HONORS CHIEF

OTTAWA (CP) — John George Diefenbaker, his 11-year reign as Conservative party leader ended, celebrates his 72nd birthday today.

The man long known as The Chief is to be guest at a special Parliamentary Press Gallery dinner tonight.

Birthday greetings by members of his staff as opposition leader in the Commons will be postponed until a small private party to be held Tuesday evening.

HAVE YOU REGISTERED?

It's Time to Check The Voters' Lists

By ELIZABETH FORBES

Around this time of year there's a question floating about that concerns every man and woman of 21 years and over.

Have you registered your right to vote in coming civic and municipal elections?

The question is aimed primarily at the great numbers of people who are not property owners. The tenant and resident electors who do not seem to realize they can vote in civic and municipal elections on other than money matters.

Forbes

Or, if their names were on last year's voters lists do not know — or perhaps forget — they must reaffirm their intentions to vote again this year.

★ ★ ★

Resident electors are men and women, over 21 years of age, who live and have lived continuously for not less than six months within the city or municipality prior to registering for the vote.

Tenant electors include persons of both sexes and over 21 years of age, who have been tenants in occupation of premises continuously for six months prior to registering.

This categoy also takes in corporations which are not automatically placed on the lists. In their case, those qualifying as owners of property or as tenant-electors must also file a written authorization naming some person of the full age of 21 years to be an agent and to vote on their behalf.

★ ★ ★

Tenant and resident electors include renters, wives or husbands of property owner, young men and women over the age of 21 who are voting for the first time and anyone living in boarding residence who meets the qualifications.

Widespread effort is being made right now in Greater Victoria to acquaint these men and women with the fact that they are eligible to vote.

Advertisements have been placed in newspapers. There has been radio and television publicity. Notices giving final date for registration have been sent out. And those whose names appeared on last year's lists have received confirmation of qualification forms that only need to be filled in and returned to the proper authority, to again place them on the lists.

In Oak Bay, the Association of Women Electors, organized five years ago in the Greater Victoria area to combat apathy in civic and municipal affairs, is again spearheading a drive to recruit tenant and resident electors.

★ ★ ★

This group is concentrating on apartment dwellers and its members are personally delivering to these people, letters signed by the municipal clerk, urging them to register.

All that can be done is being done to acquaint those eligible with the fact that they can vote if they will do one thing.

REGISTER.

Many have already done so. But there are many more who are procrastinating. And there is only two weeks left.

The deadline is Saturday, Sept. 30.

I would therefore urge those who have not already done so, to make some effort to place their names on the list before the zero hour.

★ ★ ★

Remember, if you do not vote for the persons you think should be elected to work for your city and your municipalities, then you have no right to criticize or to grumble when their efforts do not please you.

One last word — this time to property owners.

It's true your names are automatically transferred from the old lists to the new. But, there is a margin of human error and mistakes do occur.

Wouldn't it be wise to take a few moments to visit or call your city or municipal clerk and MAKE SURE your name is on the lists?

Days of Prayer Begin Oct. 7

The B.C. government has designated Saturday, Oct. 7 and Sunday, Oct. 8 as Days of Prayer throughout British Columbia.

On Oct. 8 at 7:15 p.m. there will be an inter-denominational church service in Victoria Memorial Arena to mark the centenary of Confederation.

Oct. 7 is the anniversary of the Quebec City Conference in 1864 which formulated the resolutions later used in the British North America Act which, in turn, "established one Dominion under the name Canada."

FALCON AROUND AFTER ALL

SALMON ARM (CP)—A rare gray falcon reported missing Monday was reported sighted Friday near Enderby.

The bird, one of four captured in the Arctic in July, was reported missing by Keith Hodson of Ladner, who was training it.

Two RCMP officers said they saw a bird Friday they believed to be the missing falcon. It had bells and straps on its legs, as described by Mr. Hodson.

In Ladner, Mr. Hodson said the bird may be trying to return to the Arctic.

TWO MEN SURVIVE ON ONE PARACHUTE

HALFPENNY GREEN, England (UPI)—Michael Davies, 23, a novice making his second sky dive, fell victim to a "million-to-one chance" accident Sunday but lived to tell about it.

Davies' harness became entangled in a parachute release line attached to the plane from which he was diving. He dangled from the plane for five minutes while an instructor climbed down the line, wrapped himself around Davies, and both men were cut free, falling to safety with the instructor's parachute.

If Metal Glitters, Must Call It Gold

NEW DELHI (Reuters) — A Boeing 707 jet liner left here Saturday night for Thailand, but only after its owner, British Overseas Airways Corp., had guaranteed the Indian government it would post a bond for 50,000,000 rupees ($7,130,000).

Indian customs authorities seized gold worth nearly $1,400,000 from the jet which made a stop here Thursday on its way to the Far East and returned shortly after takeoff because of engine trouble.

Sources said the airliner, bound for Bangkok, was permitted to leave after BOAC guaranteed a bond. The bond could not be posted at once because no banking facilities were available.

An airline spokesman said the gold was seized by Indian officials before they allowed the plane to leave.

A spokesman said the Indian customs officers learned about the gold when BOAC asked for guards for the airliner. They seized it, explaining that the description of the consignment in the manifest did not conform with Indian laws.

An Indian regulation that gold must be clearly declared on manifests, even when in transit, was introduced several years ago.

LOST AMONG THE SAGEBRUSH?

Vancouver Hints UBCM Walkout

VANCOUVER (CP) — Mayor Tom Campbell said Friday he is considering whether Vancouver should withdraw from the Union of B.C. Municipalities.

Mr. Campbell said he will raise questions at the UBCM convention in Prince George this week to determine whether there is any point in Vancouver belonging to the organization.

He said he is at present of the mind Vancouver has nothing in common with other B.C. municipalities and shouldn't waste its money on the UBCM.

"Vancouver's problems are metropolitan while the UBCM gets lost among the myriad problems of wolf and sagebrush control in upper B.C.," Mr. Campbell said in an interview.

He also said members of the UBCM are governed by the Municipal Act while Vancouver has its own charter and is not concerned with the act.

Mr. Campbell said 331 voting delegates to the forthcoming convention Vancouver will have only six votes.

"That's less than 2 per cent of the vote and yet Vancouver has 20 per cent of the total population.

"I think we should belong to the organization on a per capita representation or get out," said Mr. Campbell. "If Vancouver had the power it deserves it might make the UBCM effective."

CAMPAIGNS NOT WORKING

Driving Public 'Ignores' Accident Prevention Bids

Accident prevention campaigns aren't working, a University of British Columbia psychiatrist told 200 firemen, policemen and first-aid workers at a symposium here Saturday.

Dr. J. S. Tyhurst, head of UBC's department of phychiatry, was one of four doctors discussing injuries in automobile accidents.

He said that people have heard so much about accidents so often that they have developed a "protective anesthesia" as they have about civil defence.

The trouble is that people who should listen won't, and those who need advice don't take it, said Dr. Tyhurst.

Most people will respond to exhortations on the dangers of driving and drinking but it is the chronic drinker who is the menace.

Dr. Tyhurst blamed society for looking upon the automobile as a status symbol to such an extent that those values outweigh the safey aspects of driving. For youth, the automobile is a symbol not only of status but of privacy and rebellion against society.

Anyone who tries to do anything about these factors is "up against enormous institutional factors," he said.

Treatment of accident victims was stressed by the speakers.

Dr. H. S. Miller, director of Vancouver General Hospital's emergency department which treats 50,000 people a year, criticized the use of tourniquets as a "thing of the past."

MORE HARM

He said that cutting off the flow of blood often does more harm than good. He advised use of a dressing over the injury so that the blood's own clotting mechanism can go to work.

Dr. Ian Turnbull, neurosurgeon, discussed moving of accident victims and said "there is no substitute for common sense."

Of spinal injuries he urged first-aid men to ask themselves, "Would it be better if I moved him or should I wait for professional care?"

Dr. Eric Webb, anesthesiologist and clinical instructor at UBC, said the mechanical resuscitator is not so reliable or effective as the mouth-to-mouth method of keeping a person alive.

He said there are many things that can be done by a machine but breathing is not one of them.

Once the breathing passages have been cleared there is no method so reliable as mouth-to-mouth resuscitation.

SERVE PURPOSE, SAYS PRIEST

Housing Marches 'Disturb Whites'

MILWAUKEE (UPI)—The Rev. James Groppi said Sunday the marathon open housing demonstrations he is leading in Milwaukee are serving their purpose — disturbing the white man.

While admitting his role as a white Catholic priest and leader of the marches possibly was damaging his cause, the fiery clergyman said the demonstrations would continue until an open housing law is passed in Milwaukee.

The marches, which began Aug. 28, have brought the community to a state of "constructive tension," he said. "I don't believe the white man will do anything if he's not disturbed."

The marches will continue until open housing becomes law in Milwaukee "because we're not going to come up with an empty bag," Father Groppi said on nationwide television (Face the Nation, CBS).

The city's common council four times has turned down an open housing ordinance. A fifth test is scheduled for Tuesday.

Looking frail after a bout with the flu that prevented him from marching for two previous nights, Groppi also accused some clergymen of "cowardice" for not preaching social justice.

Too many of the nation's churches have not preached the "plight of the black man," he said.

The militant white priest said he has no intention of quitting the crusade unless the group he advises, the local youth council of the National Association for the Advancement of Colored People, asks him to step down.

He said he likes the youth council and "they like me. We eat tear gas together and go to jail together."

Groppi conceded, however, that he has become an issue in the demonstrations he has been leading and added it could be hurting his cause.

BACKED BY ARCHBISHOP

Archbishop William Cousins, head of the Milwaukee Roman Catholic archdiocese, said it was unfortunate Father Groppi had become the target of hate. The prelate gave strong backing to the priest and admonished the community for not concentrating its efforts on the plight of the Negro instead of the priest.

Following Father Groppi's television appearance, Milwaukee Mayor Henry Maier demanded equal time to respond to Father Groppi.

Maier called some of Father Groppi's statements "untruthful about the city of Milwaukee and myself."

Father Groppi said his movement has been largely nonviolent and he would not apologize for violence by Negroes because no movement in history has been completely free of violence.

"No one apologized when the police burned down our freedom house or shot tear gas into our church," he said. These were among the statements Maier called untrue.

D-E Passes Appeal Target, Gives $1,029

One unit of the Pacific Maritime Command division of the United Red Feather-Red Cross Appeal has passed its target.

The destroyer escort St. Croix with a target of $1,000 in the over-all division objective of $27,900 has pledged $1.029 to the fund.

Several other units have reached their quotas, says co-ordinator Commander R. J. Dickinson, including the diving establishment at Colwood, the frigate Beacon Hill and the Canadian Service College at Royal Roads.

Region Board May Handle All Borrowings

Municipal Affairs Minister Dan Campbell has predicted that in future individual municipal borrowing will be funnelled through the local regional district.

"I suggest this is the trend," he said, on the eve of the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention where this subject is expected to receive discussion.

"I'm not the only one saying this—the royal commissions in five provinces have said the same thing. I'm suggesting that it's in the cards for B.C."

Mr. Campbell said lending institutions prefer "blocks of entry" into the bond market rather than single entries. There was a "greater reception" for bonds from a region.

But individual municipalities with strong credit ratings would still be able to proceed with borrowing on their own account.

City manager Dennis Young disagreed with the minister that individual municipal borrowing will go through regional districts because of the financial climate.

"I believe that as long as a municipality continues to be well managed and maintains a strong tax base, the financial institutions will continue to deal with it as they have in the past," he said.

Border Kingdom Relaxes As Threat of War Eases

By A. K. DAS

GANGTOK, Sikkim (UPI) — The lights went on on the "roof of the world" today as the threat of war with Communist Chinese eased back into the foggy reaches of the mountain pass where it originated one week ago.

Loudspeaker broadcasts of Chinese threats to bomb this picturesque captial perched high in the Himalayas came to a halt Sunday, four days after the end of an artillery battle between Chinese and Indian troops stationed along the Sikkim-Tibet border.

There were no exact reports on casualties but according to Indian and Chinese Communist reports the two sides lost a total of about 600 killed or wounded. There were no reports of any territory won or lost.

CHINESE SILENT

The end of the bombing threats, as with the end of the artillery barrage, came without a word from the Chinese on whether the incidents would resume.

King Palden Thondup Mamgyal said he was "very hopeful" the lull in the fighting would not be broken. He said he no longer hoped for a formal announcement of a ceasefire because he did not expect the Chinese to do any talking.

The Chinese began shooting at Indian troops when they erected a barbed wire fence on the Sikkim side of the border in 14,300 foot-high Nathula Pass.

Sikkim, whose queen is former New York debutante Hope Cook, is protected under treaty by India. Its own forces are minute and ceremonial.

Queen Hope, who expects a child in two months, rushed back from a visit to New Delhi to her adopted country which was later blacked out because of the Chinese threat to bomb its 150,000 inhabitants.

LIGHTS ALLOWED

Gangtok now is under "brownout" orders. A civil defence spokesman said this means residents could switch on indoor lights but be ready to restore a blackout the moment they heard a siren alert.

The queen spent her time visiting women civil defence workers and trying to preserve a normal life at the palace even when the guns could be heard at the border 15 miles away.

As an example, she cited giving a party for 150 students returning to school.

"To me this seemed most important for making Sikkim strong. The young people were outstanding," she said.

"What we want is to create a beautiful, content and prosperous Sikkim," the queen said. "it is the best kind of strength and defence against any of the problems that are abounding in today's world."

The other 14 fishermen are crew of another ship in the fleet, No. 8 Samsu-ho, which has been missing since Friday.

CONSTITUTION

Quebec Grits Seek Change

QUEBEC (CP)—Canada's constitution took precedence over the scheduled "age of abundance" issues such as housing and urban development at a four-day Liberal thinkers' conference which concluded Sunday.

Manpower Minister Jean Marchand told a press conference that the conference of Quebec's Liberal MPs will contribute to a new political progeram for the party.

He said the gathering proved that the federal Liberals are not supporters of the status quo so far as the constitution is concerned.

The status-quo label had been attached to Quebec Liberals unjustly because they had been waiting for concrete proposals on constitutional change rather than taking part in "a strictly verbal adventure."

One proposal the Quebecers may ask Canadian Liberals to accept is that of a particular status for Quebec within Confederation, a concept put forward in a paper by Senator Maurice Lamontagne.

The senator urged Liberals to accept the principle now and work out the details later.

DEFENDS STAND

Justice Minister Pierre Elliott Trudeau, under attack in the French-language press as a supporter of the status quo, defended himself at the press conference as a longtime fighter for provincial autonomy.

Seekers of change had proposed separatism, associate states and particular status, but "it's obvious the existing constitution serves provincial autonomy for which I have always fought." Under the existing constitution, federal revenues had increased by 56 per cent between 1954 and 1964, while provincial and municipal revenues had gone up by 206 per cent.

The justice minister had been attacked for his earlier statement that the theories of particular status, "two nations" and associate states were no answer for Quebec.

Humor Invades Name Vote

VANCOUVER, Wash. (CP)—Suggestions have ranged from historical to humorous as this southwest Washington city of 39,000 votes Tuesday on a plebiscite to decide whether it should change its name.

The name change was proposed by city Jaycees in an effort to end confusion with Vancouver, B.C. City council agreed to hold the plebiscite after receiving a Jaycee petition last August.

If there is a "yes" vote in the plebiscite, council will accept suggestions and call a vote on them Nov. 9.

But the suggestions have already started coming and range from Fort Vancouver, the name favored by the Jaycees, to Hog, Wash.

A city newspaper has suggested the city be called Vancouver-on-Columbia and others have proposed renaming the city Columbia River and McLaughlin, after the chief factor of the old Hudson Bay Company's Fort Vancouver, John McLaughlin.

Others have suggested that Vancouver, B.C., change its name.

Medicare, Wage Deal Urged for Canadians

QUEBEC (CP)—A Toronto economist Sunday called for the eventual establishment in Canada of a system of guaranteed incomes which would cost federal and provincial governments a total of as much as $2,000,000,000.

Addressing a thinker's conference of federal Liberals. Professor James Cutt of York University said the system would also require accompanying social security programs to cover risk of heavy expenses for poor families in medical, housing and other fields.

Establishment of a universal guaranteed income structure should follow the abolition of nearly all existing federal and provincial social assistance plans, including old age and other pensions, family welfare and the Canada Pension Plan.

Prof. Nicholas Zay of Laval University, Quebec City, said existing systems should not be destroyed since the concept of guaranteed income could only be considered once particular needs, such as medicine, old age, welfare and others, were covered.

Gilles Paquet, an economist professor at Carleton University, Ottawa, warned delegates to be on guard against the "myth" of guaranteed incomes, saying such a system is not particularly applicable to Canada "where there is a long history of social security and programs to fill essential needs."

. . . And Under the Perky Beanies Some Really Desperate Emotions

By DON VIPOND
Times Education Reporter

A little bit of worry, a dash of curiosity, a touch of bafflement and the set-jawed look of determination.

These were the expressions under the beanies this morning as about 1,700 first-year students at the University of Victoria got their first whiff in the heady air of higher learning.

It didn't take the perky blue and yellow beanies and the dangling "frosh" placards to mark all the new arrivals. They gave themselves away by wandering corridors like lost souls, buttonholing strangers to find their way to that first lecture room.

BIG DAY

It was a big moment and they knew it, the first day in a new way of life that will occupy most of them for four years or more.

Many of the students taking English 100, for example, had the first lecture under their belt by 9:20 a.m.

And the early verdict—"free and easier," "looks good" and "it's really up to us."

Wendy Kinnear, 17, of 1329 St. Patrick:

"Were going to be a lot on our own. There was a lot more discussion in the lecture than in high school. And with a smaller class, we'll get more done."

Jo-Anne Richdale, 18, of 2533 Margate:

"It's going to take some time to get used to it. There's a lot more for you to do by yourself."

Ken Campbell, 17, of 2385 Amelia in Sidney:

"More free and easy. The teacher doesn't spoonfeed you here. The responsibility's on the student. But they seem more ready to learn."

Mike Ohman, 17, of Bellingham, Wash.;

"Before, it was just 'do this, do that.' Now they leave it up to you. And we had a good-humored professor.

You could do worse this way."

'UP TO YOU'

Dave Evans, 18, of 7012 East Saanich Rd.:

"They don't care how you do here so long as they get their dough. You have to set your goals, have to tell yourself that you do the work now, it's up to you."

Elke Schumacher, 18, of 4400 Blenkinsop:

"It's not that different really. There are not so many questions here and less assigned work, more study time."

3,900 STUDENTS

By the time the machines add them up this week, Uvic's enrolment is expected to be close to 3,900. That's three times the student population only six years ago when the university granted its first degrees.

And for the first time in its history as a university all the students will be located on the new Gordon Head campus. A year ago the new Education-Arts building was still on the fringe of completion and some students were still on the Lansdowne campus.

Two men's residences were opened last week, providing housing for about 170. They join two women's residences to push Uvic's investment in buildings to around $10 million.

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS of throbbing university are a bit bewildering the first day. Dave Evans and Elke Schumacher take a moment to give interviewer their impressions—a feeling of being on your own in an operation too big to care about the individual. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

FRIEND ADMITS 'SET-UP'

An ordinary seaman told central court today he asked fellow sailor Ricky Kardera to sell him marijuana to provide a "set-up" for Kardera's arrest.

Thomas Cino, sometime classmate of Kardera, said he was a friend of the accused, but "I don't think it is right to sell dope anywhere."

He told the court he and three friends planned the purchase and notified authorities of the plan.

Two RCMP officers testified they and a military policeman were present Aug. 3 when the planned exchange was to take place. They said they searched Kardera and found a plastic bag containing a substance later identified as marijuana.

Kardera testified he had always considered Cino a friend.

The trial is continuing.

Yugoslavian President Here Friday

President of the federal executive council of Yugoslavia, Mika Spiljak, will visit Victoria this weekend.

Due to arrive Friday, he will be at Government House until Sunday morning, it was announced by Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace.

During his stay the Yugoslav official will be guest at a state dinner held by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

On Monday Princess Margrethe and Prince Henrik of Denmark arrive for a two-day visit, arriving at Government House at 3:45 p.m.

The Danish royal couple will also attend a state dinner. On Tuesday they will visit the Legislative Buildings (10:00 a.m.), City Hall (10:30 a.m.) and a government luncheon at Empress Hotel 12:15 p.m.

They leave for Vancouver from the airport at 2:40 p.m.

RVYC Skippers Splash Spray On Fireballers

Skippers from the host Royal Victoria Yacht Club captured the first two places in the first annual fireball class B.C. sailing championship meet on Saturday and Sunday at Cadboro Bay.

Doug Beer won the championship trophy with Dr. Roger Oldham finishing second in over-all standings.

Mrs. M. West of Vancouver was third, followed by Doug Harrison, Victoria.

Several of the swift fireball craft, with their 16-foot planing hulls, capsized in Sunday's gusty winds.

Forest Service Employees Taking Course

Twenty-four British Columbia Forest Service employees will return to school Wednesday for a six-month advanced training course, the forest service announced today.

They will study fundamentals of forest protection and management policies, botany, wood technology, surveying, entomology and pathology, English and mathematics at the service's school in North Surrey, B.C.

Also to be discussed is this year's fire season, one of the biggest and most costly in the province's history.

The students will represent all five forest districts in the province.

Chaos Forecast If Nurses Win Special Deal on Pay

A squabble between two government employee groups broke out this morning at the opening of a fact-finding hearing into demands for more pay and better conditions by the B.C. Psychiatric Nurses' Association.

E. P. O'Connor, general secretary of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said any special pay agreement by the government for the psychiatric nurses would result on a chaotic situation for the whole civil service.

The BCGEA has about 7,000 members and at one time represented the 900 members of the Teamster-organized Psychiatric Nurses' Association.

"We have every sympathy with the psychiatric nurses," Mr. O'Connor told the three-man fact-finding panel.

TROUBLE PREDICTED

"But if treatment is extended to one group of employees which is different from that extended to others it will lead to a chaotic situation in the civil service and cause nothing but trouble in the future."

Mr. O'Connor urged the panel to uphold the Civil Service Commission's espousal of the principle of comparability between civil servants and those doing similar work outside the government service.

Although Mr. O'Connor was a surprise first witness at the hearings, it has been known since the nurses' dramatic threat to strike all provincial mental hospitals last spring that the BCGEA executive was concerned that any government concessions to the separate group would threaten its position as the leading association in the provincial civil service.

There are 21,000 government employees now and the BCGEA expected to organize most of them after a sudden switch by the cabinet this summer returning the right of dues checkoff to the association.

FAST DECLINE

The organization represented some 12,000 civil servants several years ago but its strength declined radically when the cabinet revoked the dues checkoff about eight years ago during a dispute.

Psychiatric nurse Gwen Elliot began the lengthy submission of the nurses association after Mr. O'Connor delivered his brief.

The nurses plan to enter some 65 exhibits, all of them several pages long, to back up their argument for a 25 per cent wage increase on top of the 5 per cent average granted all civil servants April 1.

The present pay range is $392 to $466 per month and they seek a $481 to $633 range with retroactive pay to April 1.

Miss Elliot's main points were that 93 per cent of the nurses rejected the 5 per cent increase in a strike vote, the present pay scale has been too low in comparison with private industry, the work is exceptionally demanding and there is an acute shortage because of inadequate salaries.

The panel was set up as a result of a government promise at the last session of the legislature.

Chairman is Dr. Gordon Blott, past president of the B.C. College of Physicians and Surgeons. Civil Service Commission nominee is its chief personnel officer A. G. Richardson. Nurses' nominee is Lloyd Whalen, teamsters union organizer.

WHAT'S AHEAD? This was the enticing question running through the minds of the "frosh" as they took in their first lecture at the University of Victoria today. Among the estimated 1,700 new students, Mike Ohman (left) found his professor's sense of humor a pleasant surprise. Wendy Kinnear and Jo-Anne Richdale like the idea of being on their own in smaller classes with plenty of time for discussion. Ken Campbell says his initial look suggests university students are more ready to learn.

Winter Start Predicted On Water Plan

66% Vote Yes At Prospect Lake

Work is expected to start this winter extending Saanich water mains into the Prospect Lake area.

Municipal engineer Neville Life said how long the work will take depends on a number of factors, but he expected it would be completed a year from now.

Property owners in the area voted 2-to-1 in favor of piped water in a local referendum Saturday.

Cost of the project is $226,455 with $86,455 of this coming from the Saanich waterworks funds.

Interest on the $143,000 to be borrowed and repaid by Prospect Lake residents over 20 years is given as $117,910 in the bylaw.

66 PER CENT APPROVAL

Of the 166 property owners who voted, 108 favored piped water, 54 were against and four ballots were spoiled giving 66 per cent approval. Sixty per cent was necessary.

Reeve Hugh Curtis called the vote "decisive" and expressed the hope that councils of future years will not bow to pressures to reduce minimum subdivision sizes in the area, which does not have sewers.

Two Dogs Poisoned

Two dogs were poisoned in the James Bay area Saturday. One died and the second is being treated for strychnine.

A terrier belonging to Mr. Ted Ivanoski, 538 Rithet Street, died before it could be taken to the animal hospital.

A spaniel belonging to John Chabasiewicz of the same address will survive, according to veterinarian Dr. O. R. Ramsden.

City, Duncan IWA Rejoin Federation

The Victoria and Duncan locals of the International Woodworkers of America voted over the weekend to rejoin the B.C. Federation of Labour.

The move follows the recent lifting by the federation of its suspensions of these and two other IWA locals resulting from a joint public criticism by their presidents of a Canadian Labour Congress vice-president Joe Morris.

Victoria IWA president Murray Drew said an executive recommendation ratified by members Sunday did not agree with a special CLC report "but for the sake of unity" in the union movement recommended reaffiliation.

Members authorized him to express "dissatisfaction on those parts of the report that are objectionable."

The CLC committee's report supported the B.C. Federation of Labour in its suspensions but recommended lifting the suspensions. It also drew a parallel between current developments and those of 1948 when Communists tried to set up an independent woodworkers union—a comparison which drew strong disagreement from the four suspended locals.

$1.2 Million Tag Placed by Board On McRae Land

Price $450,000 More Than Saanich Offered

By ROGER STONEBANKS

An arbitration board set the price for the 132-acre McRae Estate today at $1.2 million — $450,000 more than Saanich offered for the property.

But the price is well below estimates placed on the property by witnesses for the McRae family. One of these valuations was as high as $3.5 million.

Unspecified costs were awarded against Saanich, which will also have to pay interest on the award. One estimate of the latter was $72,000.

Two years ago, in a capital budget approved by ratepayers, Saanich set aside about $800,000 for acquisition of the McRae property, which includes the Cedar Hill golf course, in the southern part of Saanich adjoining Victoria.

But even adding in just over $200,000 set aside for contingencies would leave Saanich well short of the arbitrated value.

COUNCIL DECISION

Municipal comptroller-treasurer John Tribe said council will have to decide whether to go ahead with the purchase or forget about it.

"It is strictly policy for council," he added.

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis was en route to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Prince George and could not be reached.

Lawyers for both Saanich and the McRae family were studying the 20-page award this morning and declined comment.

Three main points were made in the award:

1. The land, surrounded by urban development, is subdividable;

2. There is a reasonable probability it will be sewered;

3. Not more than 20 acres would be rezoned for apartments if the land is sewered.

The three-man arbitration board, in its unanimous decision, said valuations given by appraisers for Saanich "should be adjusted upwards" because of these three factors.

EXPROPRIATED

Saanich expropriated the property earlier, seeking to acquire a prime piece of undeveloped land to be set aside permanently for park and recreational purposes.

The arbitration board was set up solely to determine the price to be paid for the land. The price itself cannot be appealed but an appeal can be made on techincal-legal points.

There is also a legal exit route for Saanich to de-expropriate the land if it feels the price is too high.

The board was composed of Ian Horne, representing Saanich; Doug Peaker, for the McRaes, and chairman Richard Anderson. Louis Lindholm appeared for Saanich and Robert Price for the McRaes.

The board began hearings in mid-July and concluded with a 15-hour marathon session Aug. 25.

Mr. Price maintained the property was greatly undervalued by Saanich appraisers, while Mr. Lindholm said present market value must govern "in these matters" and not potential profit from the land.

Impaired Driver Fined, Suspended

Wilfred Philbert, 2580 Prior Street, was charged after his car was involved in a rear-end collision on Oak Street Saturday.

He was also fined $10 on a charge of failing to transfer the registration of the car he was driving. He purchased the car two months ago.

LOGGERS' HOUSE-CLEANING HAS DEVASTATING SIDE-EFFECTS

Slash Fires: They're Big, Hungry, Often Ugly

By PETE LOUDON

Smoky out? The sun's hanging red in the sky like a Chinese lantern?

It's okay — it's just slash fires, just the logging industry doing its house-cleaning.

But why is it that there's more smoke in the air from these forest bonfires than we noticed a month ago when huge areas of merchantable timber were being devoured throughout B.C.?

THEY'RE BIG

The fact is that slash fires aren't just little bonfires. They are huge conflagrations, each of them burning over 20 to 40 acres — sometimes 80 acres.

And there could 400 to 500 of them going at one time in the Vancouver Forest district alone.

When you talk to forestry officials about them, the same people who warn us about the havoc wreaked on the land and the wildlife by forest fires, some of them sound a bit embarrassed by the situation.

How many woods creatures die in slash fires? What does a searing blaze do to the land where the conservationists plan new forests? How many slash fires jump their bounds and eat into prime timber?

Kamloops is more than 200 miles from southern Vancouver Island. But a pall of smoke from slash fires here and in the lower mainland is hanging over Kamloops today.

"The air tankers there are on stand-down due to the smoke. It makes it tough for fire fighters there where they have 20 new fires of their own," says a forestry official.

He said the slash smoke from the coast makes it difficult to spot new forest outbreaks there.

"The effectiveness of our lookout system has dropped to nil," said a weary fighter there Sunday.

B.C. protection officer F. H. Nelson explained that slash is the top branches lopped from fallen trees. They are left lying like a blanket when the timber is yarded out.

Flattened to dry in the sun by the extraction of the logs, slashed limbs extend over vast areas and it's as dangerous as dynamite. It must be removed as soon as possible after fire season ends. If it is ignited in fire season when humidity is low, the fire takes off like a napalm bomb.

Logging companies are required to burn it as soon as possible. They must get a permit and they depend on a meteorologist for the go sign. Sometimes they gamble a bit. If they burn before it's safe they pay all the costs of fighting the fire and the value of any crown timber lost through the fire's spread.

The permit stipulates how many men must be employed in a controlled slash fire and how many men must be furnished if there's a breakaway. If there's gross negligence more damages could be assessed.

SLOW PROGRESS

Mr. Nelson didn't believe slash fires are too harmful to wildlife. The fires are lit on the edges and progress of the flames is slow in the fall. As a rule it's not a deep fire, although this year there's so much slash it will burn deeper into the humus.

"The percentage of slash fires which get out of hand is very low," he added.

But the slash must be burned. In the 30s they left it in the woods and a resultant fire destroyed the Campbell River area. Now if a company doesn't burn its slash it must pay the government $12 an acre.

Provincial Museum director, naturalist Dr. Clifford Carl said slash fires destroy a great deal of wildlife, but if the soil isn't destroyed vegetation grows back quickly, affording better grazing for deer.

The fires denude vast acreages of small mammals, but some may escape into the ground if the slash fire is shallow.

Dr. Adam Szawinski, provincial botanist, agreed that lost vegetation comes back. But he admits some scientists oppose slash fires.

FUTURE CHANGES

"I'm not in a position to say they are right . . . this is necessary to the economy of our province," he says. "It cleans the area for reforestation. But perhaps some other method will be developed in the future."

In the meantime, we're stuck with it.

And unless you are a beetle or a weasel or a mole or a mouse or a snake or an ant or a ladybug in the path of the flames — you've got to admit that red sun is pretty.

NEW METHODS NEEDED SAYS UBC PLANT MAN

A plant ecologist at University of British Columbia today called for legislation to curb slash fires by the logging industry.

Dr. V. J. Krajina of the botany department said the fires are damaging to our forest resources. They are started too early in the fall and new burning methods are required. He was interviewed by phone.

He said slash should be piled up in a damp section of the forest rather than burned as a blanket over many acres.

The present method destroys humus, the vegetable mould which provides nitrogen, and delays new growth. It also fouls the air in tourist season and is a continual hazard to treed areas.

A Zipper Repair Kit Is Time-Saving Whiz

By PENNY SAVER

Penny's season in the repair department begins about this time of year. The junior set goes off to school in the morning all properly stitched together, and no buttons missing. I've never quite figured out how it happens, but somewhere between home and school, a startling transformation occurs. Buttons part company with their stitching, seams split for no good reason, and zippers—well they are capable of collapsing at a minute's notice. Penny's sewing basket has gone into full-swing operation.

Recently I found myself faced with three broken zippers — a jacket, a skirt and a dress had all managed to stop functioning within two days of each other. I was so exasperated I decided that this problem had to be stopped. In one store I found just the solution . . . a zipper repair kit. This kit is easy to use and a great time-saver. Just turn the garment inside-out, use the T-shaped tool to separate the zipper teeth, and by inserting the new pull-tab (without damaging the zipper itself), you have eliminated a lot of sewing.

Priced at 49 cents, this dandy package can save the day for the not-too-eager seamstress.

Another item that ought to be in everyone's sewing basket is a skein of multi-colored mending wools. The wools I saw came in 16 assorted colors — lots of navy blue, pale blue, yellow, red, green, grey, black, as well as a fair number of more unusual shades. This mending aid is essential now that woollens are in season, and it is priced at 35 cents.

If your eyes get the fidgets when you are trying to thread a needle, you will love the automatic needle threader I saw. It's a small gadget that just funnels the thread into the eye of the needle, and all you have to do is press the funnel gently, lift the needle away and — presto — it's threaded. This great eye-saver is priced at 29 cents.

Please give me a call at 382-3131 if you'd like to know where I found these super sewing aids.

WHY GROW OLD?

By JOSEPHINE LOWMAN

Children Are Grown Up, Mothers Think Optimistic

Lowman

The 1942 graduating class from a well-known college recently held its 25th reunion. At that time a number of these women were interviewed concerning attitudes toward their personal lives. Their responses were positive and optimistic. These provided a marked contrast to the very negative responses made by the same group of women who were intervied at the time of their 15th reunion.

What factors could have made such a difference in the responses of the same women in their mid-30s and then later in their mid-40s? The explanation which they themselves offered was that their children are now nearly grown.

Most women choose to stay at home when they have young children. Many of you are familiar with the amount of time which must be spent during this period in giving constant attention to your family and performing trivial chores. The pace of housework is generally slowed down by pre-school children and the amount of time spent chauffeuring children of school age should win some of you an honorary chauffeur's licence.

Perhaps one of the most frustrating aspects of these years is that household chores, shopping, cooking, washing and ironing, plus routine child care, can consume so much time that there is no leisure time left to enjoy the children. Until machines are invented which can take over these operations for the housewife, mothers will require a great deal of energy, smart planning, and efficiency to make this time pass smoothly and productively.

There are a number of things a woman can do to help make the most of the years when her children are young. First, good standards of nutrition and exercise must be maintained. Too many mothers skip breakfast or forget lunch. The energy and optimism required to make the most of these years will, to a great extent, depend on good health.

Secondly, an attempt should be made to spend at least a few hours a week with one's children just enjoying some special occasion with them, such as a picnic or a trip to the zoo. The pleasure of free time with one's child can greatly increase the rewards of this period!

Mothers should also make an attempt to spend a few hours a week pursuing their individual interests, whether these be visiting art galleries, developing a hobby, doing volunteer or club work, taking classes in some subject they are interested in, or enjoying some sport or a game of bridge. This will add happiness to the years when children are young and will act as a backstop when they grow up and leave home.

If motherhood does not allow you to pursue your interests as you would like to do, just now, remember that you will only have to wait until 45 or more, when you will have leisure on your hands, and many years of good health and vigor left in which to pursue them. But, keep in touch with your interests now.

If you would like to have my free leaflet "Individual Happiness" which contains my suggestions on how to enjoy life and have an interesting mind, send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request for it. Address to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

DEAR ABBY . . .

'Sick Feeling' Not Worth the Worry

By ABIGAIL VAN BUREN

DEAR ABBY: Mike and I have been married for eight years and have three children.

The other night Mike came home and told me that the men at work were having a stag party for a co-worker who is getting married. This party, he said, was to be held at a club that features topless go-go girls. Mike said he really didn't care to go, but all the other guys in his department were going, and he didn't know how to get out of it.

I was against it from the start, but Mike promised if I let him go he wouldn't look at the girls.

Well, I let him go, and when he came home he said he had kept his promise. Abby, I have been miserable ever since. Just knowing that Mike was in the same room with all those topless go-go girls dancing all around makes me want to cry.

Do you think Mike really kept his promise? And how can I get over this terrible sick feeling?

MIKE'S WIFE

DEAR WIFE: Whether Mike kept his promise or not is between Mike and his conscience. And you can get over that "terrible sick feeling" by refusing to dwell on it.

* * *

DEAR ABBY: How come the educated girls of this generation are supposed to be so smart, but they don't know what to call their in-laws, except, "my in-laws"?

Would it kill a girl to call the mother and father of her husband "Mom and Pop" like her husband does?

I don't go around looking for things to get mad at, but it just burns me up to be called "the in-laws."

I wish you would print this with your answer, Abby, for the millions of broken-hearted in-laws who don't have names.

JUST AN IN-LAW

DEAR JUST: Many brides are unable to call their in-laws "Mom and Pop" without feeling some disloyalty to their own Moms and Pops. But there is always "Mother Mary" or "Mother Jones." Don't smolder in silence. Ask your son's wife to call you anything except an "in-law."

DEAR ABBY: Surely you, of all people, who have never condoned cheating in any form, have not joined the all-too-numerous throng who think it's all right to steal from big corporations because they "can afford it."

I refer to the letter in your column signed "No Joke," whose father calls home daily between 4:30 and 5:30, lets the phone ring twice and then hangs up to save his dime. (The call is a signal for someone to pick him up.)

The problem was that the father became angry because the line was usually tied up, so he walked home. Your reply indicated that you completely overlooked the fact that a very important principle was involved. That father was clearly helping himself to a service provided by the telephone company without paying for it. This is stealing as surely as if he had walked into their offices and robbed their safe.

Abby, my children read you faithfully, so please put a follow-up in your column to assure your readers that you do not approve of this sort of chiselling.

ARCADIA MOTHER

DEAR MOTHER: Thank you and the hundreds of other sharp-eyed readers who called to my attention something I blushingly admit I overlooked.

Complexion Beauty

The secret of beautifying the complexion is said to lie in the saturation of the skin with a new type of tropical moist oil. The skin takes on an immediate healthy bloom as the tiny lines and blemishes are gently smoothed away. This saturation treatment with the moist oil of Olay is recommended by skin care consultants, who advise its daily use as a powder base to give the complexion day-long beauty. ## Milne-Jickling Marriage

An exquisite dressmaker suit of white silk brocade was the choice of Marilyn Gaye Jickling for her marriage on Saturday to David Wilson Milne, Prince George. She complemented her outfit with a rose headpiece, softened with illusion net, and a colonial bouquet of white roses, white feathered carnations and ivy.

Rev. W. E. Greenhalgh officiated at the ceremony in St. Michael and All Angels' Church. Organist was Mrs. R. C. Cleland.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. L. D. Jickling, 2214 Lydia Street. The groom's parents are Mrs. W. G. Milne, Princess Patricia Apartments, Esquimalt Road, and the late Major G. Milne. Mr. Jickling gave his daughter in marriage.

Miss Leona Jickling attended her sister, wearing an afternoon dress in sea blue crepe and a headpiece of pink roses and white feathered carnations to match her colonial bouquet.

William Empey and Brian Empey were here from Prince George to act as best man and usher.

Henry Zala proposed the toast to the bride's happiness at the reception which followed in the church hall. An all-white setting of candles, stocks and chrysanthemums enhanced the head table which was centred with a three-tier wedding cake.

Out-of-town guests included Mrs. George Weirter, Los Angeles; Mr. and Mrs. J. Jickling with Kelly, all of Vancouver; Mr. and Mrs. N. Arnett of Richmond; Mr. and Mrs. D. Parkinson of Chilliwack; Mr. and Mrs. J. Kroeker of New Westminster; Mrs. H. Peterson, Whitehorse; Mrs. William Empey, Prince George, and C. H. Newell, Saskatoon.

On completion of their honeymoon, the newlyweds will live in Prince George.

COOKING CAN BE FUN

By MARY MOORE

Typewriter Cake Tops the Poll

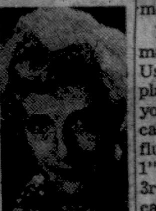
If you want to create a sensation make a typewriter cake.



Moore

I was inspired by Davey who was pecking out letters to his folks at home on my green portable. "Gram let's make a typewriter cake!" After a double take I agreed. We bore the results on a silver tray to Pete's and Margaret's where Jennifer and Douglas tried to type on it. Exciting decisions had to be made: Who would get what color "smarties" from where.

TYPEWRITER CAKE

Davey did the work; I was the overseer.

Buy two packages chocolate cake mix and small box "smarties," 1 chocolate "fudge" bar, and two 10c chocolate mint patties. Mix and bake the two chocolate cake mixes together in a 12½x9x2" pan. Turn out and thoroughly cool on rack.

Cut crosswise into an oblong 7x9". Place this on a large flat serving plate 12" in diameter or more.

Now carefully split the remaining cake into two layers. Use one for a second layer and place it on first layer so that you have a 2" "step" at front of cake. Second layer should be flush with back of cake. Cut a 1" wide strip from long edge of 3rd layer, flush with back of cake, making another "step" at front.

These three "steps" are where the typewriter "keys" (smarties) are to be placed. Place remaining 1" strip at top back of cake.

Make Frosting: Beat together 3 tablespoons butter, 3 cups unsifted icing sugar, 4 tablespoons milk or cream, ½ teaspoon almond flavoring and about 15 drops green food coloring. Add about 1 teaspoon cocoa to make the frosting a grey-green shade. Spoon about ½ cup frosting into a small bowl and thin it with 1 tablespoon milk and carefully spread this all over cake to set the crumbs. Now with patience and a round-edged knife frost entire cake.

Now the fun starts: Separate the "smarties" into separate color piles and arrange them in an artistic order on the three "steps" to look like the keys on the typewriter. Use a dark brown "smartie" and a red "smartie" on "riser" at right of 2nd and 3rd step to represent "ribbon change."

Carefully sprinkle top narrow back strip with chocolate shot or, if this cake is to be used for a birthday party, line up birthday candles in a single row on it.

With tip of knife mark a semicircle on 3rd step at centre back and outline with "silvers" to represent key faces. To emphasize what should be a hole fill centre of semi-circle with dark green sugar crystals. At bottom step at front centre place strip of chocolate fudge bar which you have cut in half lengthwise.

The crowning touch is the two mint patties which represent the wheels with which you turn the roller. Impale these on short metal skewers and apply to sides of cake at top back, allowing them to protrude slightly above top surface at 4th level.

Refrigerate this cake to make all these edibles set quickly in frosting. A smash hit.

A New You

by Emily Wilkens

If you have a fine figure but often feel tired and not quite up to par, resolve right now to keep your vitality, as well as your figure, in tip-top shape. How? By eating healthful, balanced meals to guarantee you'll not only look but feel your best.

Eating can be exciting. For lots of vim and vigor (without encouraging a single pound) concentrate on foods high in protein.

Start with breakfast. Have you tried eggs scrambled with chives and cottage cheese; eggs with ham, cheese or chicken livers? Kippers, chops, sliced leftover meat (on protein or gluten toast) are all your protein friends.

Lunches consisting of tossed salads mixed with cold meat, cheese or seafood are delicious delights. Cottage cheese, chicken, fish, liver, hamburger, as well as other lean meats, are found on almost all luncheon menus. Add a vegetable or salad, fresh fruit, a slice of whole-grain bread, cracker or muffin (lightly buttered) and you'll perk up your vitality for the day's activities.

Make a dinner a gourmet adventure. Pore over foreign cookbooks and accumulate exciting recipes. If you're a sauce addict, wine and bouillon-based gravies (minus flour or other thickening agents) are tasty as well as non-fattening.

Learn to appreciate the crunchy crispness of raw fruits and vegetables. When cooking, steam them lightly in a minimum of water.

Investigate health food stores and you'll find there's a world of wonderful eating awaiting you. Replace the white sugar cake and cookie routine with natural delights: organic or raw honey, natural sugar products, dried fruit, molasses, 100 per cent maple syrup, powdered carob in all forms (as good as chocolate but without its accompanying problems).

Eat whole-grain breads and cereals, spinach, gluten or protein noodles. Use whole-grain flour for pancakes, waffles, muffins—everything you bake. Sprinkle on a little wheat germ for extra zip!

Fresh vegetable oils like corn, soy, safflower, sunflower and sesame are deliciously healthful for cooking and in salads.

Be a party pace-setter and serve some of the following: Chunks of seafood and cold meat on toothpicks; tiny broiled hamburgers; marinated shrimp; chilled fresh fruit juices decorated with fresh berries; vegetable juices topped with popcorn or toasted sesame seeds.

A perfect eating plan is one which maintains your proper weight, keeps you healthy and full of energy. For most people, this means a generous serving (at each meal) of body-building proteins, such as lean meat, liver, fish, poultry, eggs, cottage cheese, farmer's cheese or other lean milk products plus controlled amounts of carbohydrates, such as fresh or stewed fruit, juices, raw or steamed vegetables, whole-grain breads and cereals, natural sweetenings, as well as vegetable oils.

Weigh in every day before breakfast. If you've gained a pound or two, cut down on the carbohydrates (not the proteins!). Lean toward leafy green vegetables, cantaloupe and grapefruit—all low in carbohydrates.

If you make a beautiful way of eating part of the "New You," you'll maintain a vital, perfect figure for evermore.

JUST FOR YOU

Nibble on unsalted soybeans, sunflower, squash or pumpkin seeds, and you'll never miss nuts, potato chips and other such snacks that may trigger complexion problems.

The wedding will take place on Saturday, Sept. 23 at 2 p.m. in St. John's Anglican Church. Canon Grahame Baker will officiate.

Heirloom Ring Chosen As Wedding Talisman

A turquoise ring belonging to her mother fulfilled the traditions of "something old, borrowed and blue" when Karen Elvi Lovgren became the bride of Peter Arthur De Lisle in St. John's Anglican Church.

The jewelery complemented a floor-length coat and dress ensemble of satin peau featuring lace and pearl highlights on the waist of the dress. The satin coat had a train which swept back from bridal bows at the shoulder. Her tiered veil was trimmed with pearls at the scalloped edge, misting from a headpiece of white roses and orange blossoms. She carried a cascade bouquet of pale pink gladioli, pink roses and fern.

Canon Grahame Baker officiated at the service uniting the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. George Lovgren, 312 Chester Avenue, and the son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur De Lisle, 1470 Derby Road. Mr. Lovgren gave his daughter in marriage.

Standard baskets of pale pink, yellow and white gladioli decorated the church for the ceremony.

The bride's only attendant was Miss Patricia Barber, who was gowned in a pale pink taffeta sheath dress topped with a chiffon cardinal coat. As jewelry accent she wore a pearl bracelet, gift of the bride. Pearls and crystals with pink tulle formed her tiara headpiece. She carried a cascade bouquet of pink and white carnations edged with fern.

Ralph De Lisle acted as best man for his brother, and Roye Lovgren, the bride's brother, ushered guests.

At the reception following in the Tally-Ho Travelodge Roye Lovgren proposed the toast to his sister. A three-tier wedding cake, topped with doves holding silver rings and made by the bride's mother, centred the head table. Baskets of pink, white and yellow chrysanthemums decorated the room.

Following the reception the newlyweds left on a honeymoon trip motoring through the interior of B.C. The bride chose a three-piece pink linen-weave suit, accented with beige accessories, for travelling. A pale pink gladioli corsage completed the costume.

On their return Mr. and Mrs. De Lisle will make their home in the Rosewood Apartments.

Lines Around the Mouth

The mouth area comes in for so much attention, the quicker the lines are smoothed out and made to disappear, the younger you will look. A lotion-like substance 2nd Debut applied nightly will make the lines fill in and the skin become smooth once more. You will probably use 2nd Debut on your entire face to banish dryness, but do use a little extra care around your mouth. After applying the 2nd Debut massage very lightly, until it disappears into your skin. Your drug or dept. store has 2nd Debut with CEF 600 or CEF 1200 in double strength and you'll find it a genuine delight to use.

TAKING ONE FOR ROAD

Britain Looks to Pill To Avoid Drink Law

By JOHN LeBLANC

LONDON (CP) — Top minds in the elbow-bending and allied trades are putting their ingenuity to work to protect customers from Britain's tough new drinking-driving law that goes into effect Oct. 9.

Compulsory alcohol tests for suspected drivers are the core of the latest weapon against the rising death toll on the island's crowded roads, and a wide variety of counter-measures are being prepared to keep drinkers out of trouble.

They range from do-it-yourself breath analysers that will sell in slot machines to pills claimed to reduce alcohol content in the body. Some publicans will have over-zealous drinkers driven home free. Others plan to offer cheap overnight bed and breakfast.

One brewery has ordered its salesmen, who must dip heavily into their wares in line of duty, to carry pocket testers and switch to bus or taxi when they reach the danger point.

Under legislation passed at the last session of Parliament, this is 80 milligrams of alcohol per 100 millitres of blood. In practice, it's when the breath causes chemically-treated crystals in a transparent tube to turn green.

HAVE WIDE LATITUDE

The law allows police considerable latitude in calling on a motorist to take a test, but for a starter the home office — in charge of law administration — has told officers they may give it to any driver stopped in connection with an offence involving moving traffic.

If a driver refuses the breath test, he can be taken to a station and asked to take a urine test. If he refuses that, he can be fined up to £50 for refusing. In addition, this will count as evidence against him in a drunk-driving charge, for which he can be disqualified from driving for a year, fined up to £100 and jailed four months.

Most revolutionary way of beating the tests — if it works — is the so-called A-pill, a couple of varieties of which have been developed on the Continent. One is supposed only to cut down on the horsepower of the drinker's breath, and the other actually to reduce the alcohol in his blood.

Peter Kelly, a young chemical manufacturer of Cheltenham, about 100 miles northwest of London, says he has acquired the right to produce an Austrian pill that speeds up the liver to eliminate alcohol from the system.

"It works all right," he says. "I tried it out in Vienna. I took one tablet, had two big gins and four or five cognacs. Then I tested myself and found my alcohol level was only 45 milligrams."

TO MARKET KIT

Kelly proposes to market the pills at about sixpence apiece and also plans to sell combined packs in pubs — a couple of pills and a breath-tester. He already markets breath-analysis kits.

However, authorities frown on the use of the pill, and they are divided on the usefulness of do-it-yourself breath testing.

"Home office forsenic scientists have tested all the pills on the market," the transport ministry says, "and have yet to find one which gives a non-alcoholic reading for anyone who has been drinking heavily. As far as we are concerned, they are useless."

The ministry also describes the use of breath-test kits as "a most dangerous practice." It says a man could blow into a tube at pub-closing time and get a negative reading, only to have the alcohol hit him after getting behind the wheel.

The Automobile Association also says it would be wrong for anyone testing himself to assume a below-borderline reading would make it safe for him to drive.

But Chief Constable Norman Goodchild of the Midlands says the breath-testing kit—which sells for about five shillings—is "a spendid way of stopping a chap from committing an offence."

A garage chain in the Midlands is already selling kits at its 40 outlets. Several Birmingham firms say they expect to provide them for their on-the-road reprentatives.

Managers of about 40 hotels in the Trust House group, instead, plan to offer bed and breakfast at £1 per drinking adult. One hotel owner on the Isle of Wight is buying a small bus to take holiday-makers on pubcrawls "without fear of the police suddenly leaping out from the side of the road."

TOUGH attack on Romanian policies was made Sunday by Janos Kadar, Hungarian Communist party chief, in an article written for the Soviet Communist party newspaper Pravda. He blasted the neutralist position taken by Romania and proclaimed it to be contradictory to proletarian internationalism.

Second Stage In Gorge Beautification

Cabinet approval is expected shortly to extend the Gorge beautification program in Saanich.

The provincial government, through the Capital Improvement District Commission, has authorized expenditure of $86,000 on shoreline treatment plus $105,000 for underground utility wiring in the past year.

The latest expenditure, when approved, is expected to be about $65,000 and will be the second stage of the program'

The first stage took a rock-faced shoreline wall from Admirals road to Colquitz Avenue. Second stage takes the program on to a point near Austin Avenue.

The program includes asphalt pathing, grass, shrubs, benches and pull-off bays for cars.

IWA Will Adopt UAW Strike Practice

PORTLAND, Ore. (CP) — The International Woodworkers of America have approved a policy of bargaining on a company-wide basis, similar to the system used by the United Auto Workers.

Some IWA officials suggested that one company could be picked out for strike action while others continue production — the same method the UAW has used to back its contract demands.

At present the IWA bargains on the basis of geographical areas — the coast, the southern interior and the northern interior in British Columbia.

It has been traditional policy that in a strike situation, all employers in the area concerned are involved at the same time.

Under the policy approved Thursday, the union will still set standard demands in the geographical areas, but will negotiate separately with each company.

Bob Clair, recording secretary of the IWA's Vancouver local, supported the move at the IWA convention here.

"It will be like the auto workers striking Ford this year and allowing General Motors and Chrysler to keep operating," he said.

"We will strike someone like MacMillan Bloedel and allow all other companies to continue working."

Racing Car Kills 7

PEREIRA, Colombia (AP) — Seven persons were killed and 22 injured Sunday when a car crashed into a crowd of spectators at an auto race. Police said four of those dead were from the same family. They identified the driver of the racing car as Efrain Murcia of Colombia.

Home Builders Won't Join For Pay Talks

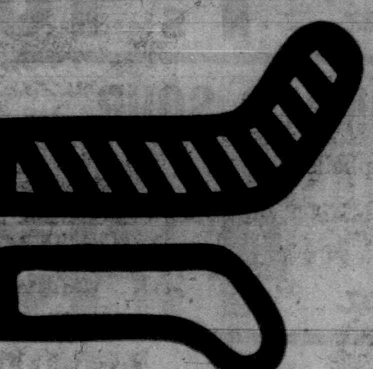
Victoria home builders agreed last week that any negotiations with the United Brotherhood of Carpenters should be on an individual contractor basis.

Jim McLaren, president of the Victoria Home Builders Association, said the group as a body would not negotiate with the union.

The carpenters' union is seeking to organize the largely non-union home-building industry.

Union vice-president Jim Sawyer said he feels it is logical for the builders' association to represent employers, as the Amalgamated Construction Association does for bigger contractors.

Both sides held a meeting last week to discuss this and other housing subjects.



No, it's not that your socks don't match your suit; they don't match each other. Well, you're not that bright first thing in the morning. And neither is your bedroom lighting. Better talk to your electrical contractor about lighting the bedroom to Medallion standards.

19 Strings to 'Sainthood' As Hippies Turn on Ravi

By BOB THOMAS

RAVI SHANKAR
. . . pleased and appalled

LOS ANGELES (AP)—From the 19 strings of the sitar, India-born Ravi Shankar can evoke harmony and dissonance that astound the ear.

The musician is getting what appears to be a North American saturation campaign, including dates at Montreal's Expo 67.

The rage over Ravi's ragas—free-swinging improvisations that can last two or three hours—was started two years ago when Beatle George Harrison became enamored with the sitar sound. He made a pilgrimage to India to study under Shankar, and Indian tones began seeping into the Beatle numbers.

This caused Shankar to become elevated to minor sainthood in pop music. Teeny-boppers, flower children and other juvenile types began appearing at Shankar's American concerts, bestowing on him the homage usually reserved for guitar plunkers in tight pants.

The attention alternately pleases and appals Shankar.

"I see no harm in using the sitar for pop music," he says. "It is a versatile instrument that can be used for many things, just as the guitar can be played by everyone from Segovia to folk singens.

"But I would hate to see the sitar used solely to produce a pop sound. That is why in my concerts I stress the fact that it can be used for the classical form."

ENJOY THE SOUND

He may or may not be getting the message across to his most devoted followers, the hippies. They apparently enjoy his music for its sound, rather than its classical quality.

"I love hippies," Shankar says. "I love them not because they are admirers of my music, but because of their philosophy, their awareness. But one thing I do not approve: their use of drugs."

"I learned from my guru that true contentment must come from within, and so I do not believe in smoking or drinking. Many of the hippies who come to my concerts are obviously stoned. They are so overcome by LSD or marijuana that they cannot possibly appreciate the music."

Besides his concerts, television and records, Shankar has founded a school in Los Angeles where he teaches Indian culture as well as the sitar.

He Took Only Three Years To Draw His Way to the Top

Ben Wicks, whose squiggly, single-column cartoons appear regularly on Page 2 in the Victoria Daily Times, was acclaimed recently in an article in Time Magazine.

Under the heading From Clogs to Riches, Time said:

"Wicks, a 40-year-old bantam Cockney, has taken only three years to get to the top of what he calls the minicartoon field, after a singularly undistinguished career as a clarinet player. . . .

"His father was a printer at the (London) Daily Mirror and his mother a char at the London Times, but it was a long time before Ben himself got near a newspaper."

Time said Wicks has an "uncanny" knack of "anticipating the news and commenting on it with a Delphic twist." His cartoons are published daily in 27 Canadian and 64 U.S. newspapers.

After the war he learned the clarinet well enough to play with dance bands and aboard the liner Queen Elizabeth for 28 trips.

In 1957, Time said, Wicks and his wife, Doreen, were "bloody annoyed by Suez" and migrated to Canada. Wicks played the clarinet in Calgary's Western Command band.

"I was the worst musician in the band, but that was usual for me," Wicks said.

But he was also the only musician to sell a cartoon to the Saturday Evening Post.

"Starting with the Calgary Albertan, he built up a stable of six western newspapers. By 1964, Wicks had signed up with the Toronto Telegram syndicate, was producing two sets of cartoons a day, one for Canadian consumption and the other for U.S. clients."

Time said Wicks' cartooning now brings him about $35,000 a year and an audience of 40 million readers a day. Yet his only formal art training was three months of night classes in London.

Child's Wine Taste No Threat to Future

WASHINGTON (AP) — Young people least likely to become alcoholics are those exposed to alcohol at an early age "within a strong family or religious group," a government report said Saturday.

And while families which strongly oppose drinking on moral grounds produce fewer drinkers, the public health serivice report said, those who do drink are more likely to drink excessively.

The report, prepared by the National Centre for Prevention and Control of Alcoholism, said the average American has tasted alcoholic beverages by the time he is 10 years old.

But it quoted Dr. Robert Straus of the University of Kentucky as saying: "There is no proof to show that early exposure to alcohol will in itself lead to excessive drinking in later life. In fact, all the proof is clearly to the contrary."

The report does not recommend that children be taught to drink, but it says they should be taught about drinking. It found that few now learn much in their homes about use of alcohol.

Never Dig Around Raspberries

By JACK BEASTALL

Jack

The general culture of raspberries in this climate can be confusing to newcomers.

Although there is only one "don't" that must be strictly followed, there is some difference of opinion in the time to cut out old canes and tip back the new ones.

The one warning is this: Never dig or cultivate among raspberry plants. The raspberry has its feeding roots matted right at the surface of the soil and any disturbance of these roots is reflected in the quality and quantity of the crop.

Weeds must be removed by hand, then covered with a two-inch layer of compost every spring. This mulch keeps the roots cool and moist, both essential to delectable fruits.

As to cutting out old canes, the job can be done just as soon as berries have been picked, always cutting a little below soil level so that no stub is left to become diseased or harbor pests.

Nothing is gained by leaving them until spring, in fact, the foods used to keep the old leaves green and to produce useless side shoots is better diverted to the new canes which will bear the crop next year.

At this time of year, plants that have been properly mulched and watered will often have new canes up to eight feet in length.

It is quite in order to cut these long growths back to a convenient height of five to six feet right now. If left they will be whipped around in fall and winter gales and probably suffer a lot of unnecessary damage.

Should the canes have grown to only four or five feet, removal of the tips can be left until February or March, but all canes, regardless of height should be tipped by those dates to encourage the production of side growths on which the berries appear.

Victoria Firm To Repair Galiano Wharf

Victoria Pile Driving Co. Ltd. has been awarded a $31,414 contract for wharf repairs at Sturdies Bay.

Sturdies Bay, on Active Pass at the southeastern tip of Galiano Island, is on the main ferry route between the mainland and Swartz Bay.

The successful tender was the lower of two. The high bid was $39,368.

Work will consist of rebuilding 63,000 square feet of the existing wharf and approach and replacing 1,100 square feet of pontoon floats.

Contemporary Canadian Art To Be Featured

OTTAWA (CP)—A look at contemporary Canadian art will highlight the seventh biennial exhibition of Canadian painting to be held at the National Gellery next year.

The exhibit of 1967-68 paintings will stress broad representation of work by a limited number of artists, since the collection may be shown abroad.

The exhibit will include paintings by young, experimental artists as well as established painters.

Selection will not be on a regional representation basis nor designed to include all schools of Canadian painting.

William Seitz, director of the Rose Art Museum, Brandeis University, Waltham, Mass., will make the selections in late March and early April. The exhibition will run from July 5 to Sept. 1.

REELED OUT FROM PLANE

Antenna Is 5 Miles Long

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. Air Force is ready to start operating a new and extremely reliable long-range communications system that could be used by the Strategic Air Command if a nuclear attack should black out normal radio contacts.

The system includes two transmitting and receiving towers almost as tall as the Empire State Building, 200 receive-only installations at Minuteman and Titan missile sites and other locations, and a communications airplane that can reel out a special cable antenna to a length of as much as five miles.

The Air Force Systems Command calls it the 487-L Survivable Low Frequency Communications System.

KEPT UNDER WRAPS

A hush-hush project for more than two years, the first complete picture of the system was developed here only last week in connection with industry briefings at the annual meeting of the Air Force Association.

One person familiar with the project said it would be possible to maintain communications with U.S. missile sites through this system, and if there were a devastating nuclear attack this might be the only communications system in North America that would be functioning.

The heart of the new system is two 1,230-foot tower stations on 300-acre sites, near completion in the Majove desert at Hawes, Calif., 100 miles northeast of Los Angeles, and at Silver Creek, near Grand Island, Neb., 150 miles west of SAC headquarters at Omaha.

Two other towers are being checked at Westover Air Force Base, Mass., and Barksdale Air Force Base, La., and are to be turned over to the navy for installation at Aguada, Puerto Rico, and Cape Charles near Norfolk, Va.

BRIDGE LESSON

By OSWALD and JAMES JACOBY
Newspaper Enterprise Assn.

Jim: "We've devoted just about enough space to 'Bridge in the Menagerie.'"

Oswald: "How about one more hand showing how the Hideous Hog claims to use the fourth dimension in bringing home some of his absurd contracts?

Opening lead—♣ 4

Jim: "You mean his version of the play called 'The Great Unblock' by the late Geoffrey Mott-Smith?"

Oswald: "Yes. The Hog is in three no-trump after typical bidding. He has six nice diamonods but his partner blocks the suit with the ace and king and the only way to unblock is to discard them on clubs. Of course the hand is a cinch with a spade opening but West opens the four of clubs and East rises with the king."

Jim: "Most players would take the king with the ace and lead back the jack. This would ensure three club tricks some time or other and hold the contract to a small loss but the Hog was not interested in a small loss. He played the jack of clubs without the slightest pause. East returned the three of clubs and this time the Hog played the ten. West won with the queen while the Hog discarded a low heart from dummy. West saw no reason to abandon the club suit and led a third club. The trap had been sprung. The Hog took his two club tricks while discarding the ace and king of diamonds from dummy. Six diamonds and a spade followed to give him game and rubber."

Oswald: "The important thing about the whole play was that it was executed so smoothly. The Hog never paused to think at any time. He worked it all out as soon as he saw dummy. In addition the heart discard from dummy on the second club lead was a masterpiece of misdirection. At least it lulled West into enough sense of security so that he led the third club."

Jim: "At least that's what the Hog said."

Andy Stephen Looks at TV

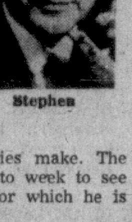
Jerry Lewis' television outing this new season may find him around at the end.

It wasn't always so. He laid one big egg with a weekly two-hour ABC-TV Saturday night feature a few years ago.

But then he wasn't doing what he does best—clown. It was also a live show which left little time for preparation. Most of his success to date has been in motion pictures where he is able to perfect a character on film.



Stephen

His new TV show follows the lead of his film appearances. It is on film and he portrays comic characters, something he does better than anything else.

The initial show saw him in several roles but the best was a brief bit in which he mimed, to music, a corporate board meeting with himself as chairman.

But one show does not a hit series make. The viewer will have to sit in from week to week to see whether Lewis can sustain the work for which he is famous.

The betting in this corner is that he can't but stranger things have happened.

Another clown, only on the distaff side, who may not be around at the end of this season is Carol Burnett.

She just hasn't got that much talent to carry a full show on a weekly basis.

When with Garry Moore or as guest on other variety shows, her funny faces held her in good stead. But a full diet of it will be just too much to stomach.

Besides the opening show featured some bits which bordered on tastelessness.

She came up with a crack in the opening minutes that she was "26" but, indicating the area of her bosom, "around here."

There were also other bits which were terribly unfunny including the vicious swipe at the political candidacy of Shirley Temple Black.

But she can sing too. Her duet with guest Jim Nabors was excellent.

Remember those great two-woman shows with Julie Andrews? Maybe Miss Burnett should give some serious thoughts along those lines to spare the hurt of being one of the early cuts of the season.

U.S. Writers Against War Withhold Tax

NEW YORK (CP)—Writers and editors who oppose the war in Vietnam have pledged to withhold payment of President Johnson's proposed 10-per-cent income tax surcharge if Congress approves it.

Many of them also have promised to deduct 23 per cent from their tax bills as an estimate of the percentage used to pay for the costs of the war.

A total of 133 writers have signed a statement in support of this dissent and sent $10 or more to the Writers and Editors Tax Protest, a group headed by Gerald Walker, assistant articles editor of the New York Times Sunday Magazine.

Walker said the money will be used to pay expenses and for a newspaper advertisement planned next month.

The proposed income tax surcharge now is before a tax-writing committee in the House of Representatives and is expected to be reported out next month.

Black, White Sex Ban Eyed

SALISBURY (AP)—The Rhodesian government will be urged to make sexual relations between whites and non-whites illegal in a motion at the annual congress of Premier Ian Smith's ruling Rhodesian Front Party, it was understood from reliable party sources.

Laws against white men having sexual relations with black women were repealed by Sir Edgar Whitehead's government in 1961 but a number of Rhodesian Front delegates want to switch to South African-style law where sex between different races is an offence.

The party congress meets here Sept. 28-30.

Polish Remover 'Sniffer' Placed On Probation

A teen-ager caught shoplifting a 43-cent bottle of nail polish remover was fined and put under the jurisdiction of a probation officer Friday.

Only a doctor could tell him how much harm sniffing substances could do, James Rumney, 18, of 534 Hillside, was told.

But such a childish and stupid practice could ruin his life, Magistrate Ostler told him.

Rumney admitted to the theft charge after being caught by a Woodward's store detective. He had been held in jail until appearing in central court for sentence Friday.

The youth was fined $50 and ordered to sign a $250 good behavior bond covering the next 18 months.

Two Passengers Injured in Mishap

Two passengers were treated at St. Joseph's Hospital for slight injuries after the car in which they were riding was involved in a collision at Superior and Government early Saturday night.

Jack Rogers, 52, and Michael Stepler, 50, both of 711 Johnson Street, were released after treatment.

They were passengers in a car driven by James Rugg, 245 Niagara Street. Mr. Rugg's car was travelling east on Superior and was in collision with a car going north on Government driven by Bruce Ball, 57 South Turner.

Production Key To World Sales

By KEN SMITH
Canadian Press Business Editor

OTTAWA (CP) — Labor and management in Canada's primary industries have to get together on changes in the work force being brought about by technical changes, the Economic Council of Canada says.

It says levels of workers' skills required in all primary industries are increasing.

Advance consultation, coupled with industry, labor and government participation in training and other programs, was important to the orderly introduction of technical changes.

The council, in its annual review issued Sunday, also says management faces a "substantial responsibility" in organizing its production activities to avoid as far as possible the need for its work force to be located in isolated areas.

"Where this cannot be avoided, the industry will of necessity be faced with substantial wage premiums to attract workers."

It was imperative that the primary industries increase their productivity to remain competitive internationally.

GROWTH RATE LOW

Real output in manufacturing and the services had averaged 4 or 5 per cent in Canada, but in agriculture, fishing and primary forest industries the growth rate had been only 2 per cent.

The result was that primary industries now accounted for about 12 per cent of the value of the country's economic output, compared with 19 per cent in the early post-war years.

Their proportion of employment was 11 per cent compared with 29 per cent in 1946.

The council gave this breakdown on the labor forces in primary industries:

—Agricultural employment had declined steadily since the 1930s, falling by more than 100,000 in the last four years to 540,000. By 1975, a further decrease to 400,000 is expected. With the increasing complexity of the modern farm, special training is of growing importance.

—Forestry workers are facing the threat of increased mechanization which could mean continued reductions in the size of the work force. Total employment declined to 76,000 in 1966 from 118,000 in 1965, all in Eastern Canada. Prospects for increased exports to Western Europe and Japan could more than offset job losses caused by mechanization.

—Mining employment could be expected to grow in line with the expansion of the industry. However, start-up of new mines would entail considerable shifts in location of workers and many steps are needed by industry and government to make remote communities attractive.

—Fishing employment has been stable since 1963, despite some decline in the Maritime provinces. But it is increasingly difficult to find fishermen skilled in handling modern trawlers with their sophisticated electronic gear. The industry is seeking ways of reducing the number of fishermen through higher capital investment.

Judges Urge Juvenile Legal Aid

OTTAWS (CP) — Legislation to ensure that young people are assured full legal protection when they appear in court was advocated Saturday by family court judges from across Canada.

A resolution asking that attention be given to the problem was passed by the Canadian Council of Juvenile and Family Court Judges meeting here.

Young people face certain natural disadvantages in that they are unwise, immature and often incapable of protecting their own interests, said council chairman Judge H. T. G. Andrew of Brampton, Ont.

At the same time, they often are not afforded the due process of law which is extended to adults, he said.

If anything, young people needed greater protection than their elders and this should be ensured by appropriate law.

IWA Rejects Munroe Report

KAMLOOPS (CP)—Kamloops local of the International Woodworkers of America voted 214 to 19 Sunday in favor of rejecting Mr. Justice Craig Munroe's industrial inquiry report which recommended that interior workers not be given parity with the coast at the present time.

Other votes showed Revelstoke local rejecting the report 38 to 1, Shuswap local 162 to 20, and Merritt local 75-9.

U.S. Jets Hit Bridge Near China

SAIGON (UPI) — U.S. jets struck closer than ever before to China, hit three targets inside North Vietnam's largest port city of Haiphong and bracketed Hanoi with bombing runs, American spokesmen said today.

Hanoi radio claimed three American planes lost in Sunday's raiding. But U.S. spokesmen reported the loss of only one, an air force RF4C Phantom reconnaissance jet downed by ground fire in "Mig Alley" northwest of Hanoi.

The two-man crew of the Phantom, 679th U.S. plane lost over North Vietnam, was listed as missing.

More Phantoms streaked to the 600-foot long That Khe highway bridge 6.8 miles from the Chinese border and destroyed the span across which arms moved to North Vietnam.

In more of Sunday's 109 missions, air force pilots bombed a missile site nine miles from Hanoi and ripped the rail tracks running to the capital from Communist China. U.S. navy jets streaked over Haiphong, mangling a huge rail yard, blasting 10 warehouses and ripping up its key road and blasting a bridge all within 1.7 miles of the centre of the port into which flows most of North Vietnam's war imports.

DONG HA — Early monsoon rains flooded a vast area south of the Demilitarized Zone today, knocking out roads and bridges, stalling military operations and bringing mud, misery and death to American fighting men.

At least nine U.S. marine deaths were attributed to the flooding, the heaviest experienced in the DMZ region since the United States became involved in the Vietnam war.

. . . JOHN D.

He spent 30 minutes conferring with party national director James Johnston who has offered his resignation. However, the new national leader had no comment on the subject.

Mr. Johnston was appointed by former leader John Diefenbaker.

Informants said Mr. Stanfield is unlikely to act on re-organization of the top echelons of the party before October.

Two men are being mentioned as successors to Mr. Johnston. They are Lowell Murray, 30-year-old Nova Scotian who ran the leadership campaign of former justice minister Davie Fulton, and Gene Rheaume, former MP for the Northwest Territories who was executive secretary of the party's leadership convention.

Mr. Stanfield has already approached Mr. Murray either to serve on his personal staff or at national headquarters.

VISITS HEADQUARTERS

Mr. Stanfield and Mr. Johnston paid a 45-minute visit to the party's national headquarters where the new leader met the staff against a backdrop of Diefenbaker campaign posters.

Gerald W. Baldwin, MP for Peace River and the man who nominated the former Nova Scotia premier for the national leadership, spent nearly two hours with the new leader going over plans for Saturday's meeting with the caucus of MPs and Senators and the parliamentary session which resumes a week today.

They were joined halfway through their chat by MPs Heath Macquarrie, Queens and Gordon Aiken, Parry Sound-Muskoka.

LETTERS FROM 1930

Mr. Stanfield was scheduled to meet later in the day with R. A. Bell, MP for Carleton, a former Diefenbaker minister of immigration and at one time the party national director.

During his headquarters visit, Mr. Stanfield chatted for a few minutes with Mrs. Bell who is sifting historical documents for the party's Macdonald-Cartier library.

She showed him correspondence dating back to the 1930s with Colchester-Hants constituency, the Nova Scotia riding where Mr. Stanfield will be a candidate when a byelection is called. The correspondence was between party headquarters and Mr. Stanfield's brother, Harold.

Mr. Stanfield is expected to discuss a byelection date Tuesday with Prime Minister Pearson, who was unable to fit a chat with the new Conservative leader into his schedule today.

On his arrival here by air Sunday night, Mr. Stanfield said his first job will be to establish a good working relationship with the party's 95 MPs.

He also is considering taking a crash two-week course in French in the next six weeks.

Meanwhile, he was operating out of a two-room office suite at the Chateau Laurier Hotel, just east of Parliament Hill, where he entertained MPs who welcomed him Sunday night.

INSECT-KILLER GAS CLAIMS 2 SCIENTISTS

TOULON, France (AP) — Two French scientists who were poisoned early this month while working on a new insect-killer gas died in hospital during the weekend. A third still is being treated.

The three men were doing research on the gas in the Salindres Saint-Gobain Chemical Laboratories, in southern France, when they were poisoned September 2.

The gas is emitted by a product to be used against silkworm parasites.

Noted City Gardener Bill Pynn, Dies

Funeral services were to be held at McCall's Floral Chapel today for 77-year-old William John Pynn, one of Victoria's best known gardeners, who died Thursday.

He was one of the oldest members of the Victoria Horticultural Society, having served as its president for two terms.

He was also an outstanding exhibitor of dahlias, chrysanthemums and vegetables at horticultural shows.

In latter years, he was an instructor in horticulture at the Silver Threads and also served as a leader in the 4-H Garden Club.

Born in Newfoundland, Mr. Pynn was a resident of Victoria and district for the past 50 years, and was employed by Victoria parks department for 25 years.

He was a veteran of the First and Second World Wars, and a life member of Britannia Branch, Royal Canadian Legion.

He is survived by the widow, Edith; three sons, William Peter, Windsor, Ont.; Gordon John and Garry Douglas, Victoria; two daughters, Mrs. Mary Browning, Port Alberni, and Mrs. R. O'Hara, Victoria; two brothers, Alton Pynn, Nanaimo; Cecil Pynn, Sooke; two sisters, Mrs. Myrtle Kinahan, Dawson Creek; Mrs. E. Harrison, Victoria.

MORE WHALES

Mother Beluga Joined by Calf

VANCOUVER (CP) — Two rare white whales, a mother and her calf, have been acquired in an international coup by the Vancouver Public Aquarium.

The two whales, known as Beluga whales, were flown here separately from Alaska during the weekend after being bought for $1,000 each.

The male calf arrived today after a 13-hour flight from Bristol Bay, just north of the Aleutian chain.

It was quickly transported to the aquarium's indoor dolphin pool where it was re-united with its mother, flown here early Saturday.

The whales were captured about 10 days ago in Bristol Bay by an Eskimo salmon fisherman, Charlie Wilson of King Salmon, Alaska.

They were kept alive in the flooded hold of the fisherman's 38-foot boat for about a week before aquarium officials flew to Bristol Bay last Thursday to inspect the whales.

Aquarium officials were tipped off about the captured whales by two men from Portland, Ore.

Aquarium officials are confident that the two whales will survive — despite the ordeal they have undergone since their capture. Director Dr. Murray Newman said:

"I believe this is the first time that a mother and a baby whale have been taken together."

Newman said the only other Beluga whales in captivity are in the New York Aquarium. They were also caught by Mr. Wilson.

The mother is about 10 feet long and weighs about 1,000 pounds. The calf, still nursing, is about seven feet long and weighs about 700 pounds.

Contempt Appeal Under Way

Does a trade union have the right to disregard a court injunction compelling its members to work?

The principle was argued in Victoria Law Courts today when the United Fishermen and Allied Workers' Union appealed a Supreme Court conviction last June 19 for contempt of court.

The union was fined $25,000 and three of its top officials were given one-year jail terms for disregarding a court injunction requiring fulfilment of a contract to unload five fishing vessels at Prince Rupert on March 22 and 23; also for issuing certain press releases.

The releases stated that the union refused to order its members to work or not to work, and said they should "obey their consciences as trade unionists."

John Stanton of Vancouver appealed both the conviction and penalties before Mr. Justice H. W. Davey, chief justice of the B.C. Appeal Court; Mr. Justice C. W. Tysoe and Mr. Justice A. E. Lord.

The three union officials, now on bail, came to Victoria Law Courts for the hearing of the appeal. They are Union secretary-treasurer Homer Stevens; president Steve Stavanes and business agent Jack Nicol.

Mr. Stanton said the court order made by Judge Kirke-Smith on March 23 was against the law because it deprived the union of its rights under the Canadian Bill of Rights of equality before the law and the protection of the law.

He said the order purported to take proceedings in the name of the Queen, whereas the attorney-general was empowered to act for the queen.

"I submit that the court has usurped the jurisdiction of the attorney-general," Mr. Stanton said.

He held that the order purported to commence proceedings against an unincorporated entity for contempt, when no such proceedings lie against such an entity.

No trade union, he argued, is in law able to commit an act of contempt, and the order was therefore invalid.

BRIDGE RESULTS

Winners in the monthly master point duplicate bridge game, held Saturday by the Victoria Unit of the American Contract Bridge League were: Section A, north-south, 1, Derek Ward and Pete Weir; 2, Margaret and Jack McAvoy; 3, Eileen Cox and Helen Hafer; 4, Birdie Duprau and Gwen Graham; 5, Ida and Eric Druce.

Section B, east-west, 1, Marjorie and Gordon Eaton; 2, Jane Meredith and Michael O'Brien; 3, Anne Dye and Frances Newall; 4, Brian Larkey and Duncan Smith; 5, Lillian McMicking and Marianne Powell.

Hard Look Requested At Woods Protection

An inquiry into the responsibilites for forest protection is being asked by the Truck Loggers' Association of the standing legislative committee on forestry.

The association asked the next sitting of the committee, which is not expected to meet until after the start of 1968 legislative session, to examine the responsibilities of industry, government and the general public.

Forest closure, limitation of use of the forest by other industries, recreation during hazardous times, fire protection measures by the highways department, wages for fire fighters and slash disposal are some of the specific items for review.

The request comes after a season of disastrous forest fires, one of the most damaging of which was started by a highways department crew near Sproat Lake.

The association gave the forest service credit for "an outstanding job done during critical and hazardous circumstances, especially in the Vancouver forest district."

. . . JOHNSON

department, asked us to lie doggo in the weeds and we did. They asked us to have a minimum public exposure."

Ashmore said his letter's key passages were:

"In our several discussions with senior officials of the state department, they emphasized that the U.S. remains prepared for secret discussions at any time, without conditions, and that such discussions might cover the whole range of topics relevant to a peaceful settlement. They reiterated that the Geneva accords might be the framework for a peaceful solution.

"They expressed particular interest in your suggestion that private talks could begin provided the U.S. stopped bombing your country and ceased introducing additional U.S. troops into Vietnam.

"They expressed the opinion that some reciprocal restraint to indicate that neither side intended to use the occasion of the talks for military advantage would provide tangible evidence of the good faith of all parties in the prospects for a negotiated settlement."

WENT VIA MOSCOW

The Johnson letter, Ashmore said, was transmitted through diplomatic channels via Moscow, and the timing made it certain the tough message reached Hanoi first.

Ashmore, in a telephone interview Sunday in Los Angeles, said:

"We had no idea at the time that the president's letter was being sent. We assumed ours was going forward in good faith."

He said the reply to the Ashmore-Baggs letter came from Hanoi shortly after Hanoi made Johnson's letter public, and was "the simple statement that there was no point in Messrs. Ashmore and Baggs coming back to Hanoi at that time."

Ashmore, discussing his relations and dealings with the state department, said:

"We soon began to feel that we were confronted by two distinct state departments. One, which obviously regarded us with profound distrust, apparently was headed by Secretary Dean Rusk, who never saw us or otherwise acknowledged our presence."

"The other department, which appeared to be seriously interested in negotiations with Hanoi, included Undersecretary Nicholas Katzenbach, Averill Harriman . . . and Assistant Secretary William Bundy, who is immediately in charge of Southeast Asian affairs."

He said he found "an almost total lack of candor on the official side" in the state department.

SUGGESTS INFORMALITY

Ashmore said his letter to Hanoi "also was to suggest that Mr. Baggs and I could return to Hanoi for further informal discussions, or that arrangements could be made to phase us out if it were desired that the matter proceed directly to the official level.

"The composition of this page-and-a-half letter, which was to go over my signature, consumed most of a Saturday afternoon. It was allowed to simmer overnight, was reconsidered without our presence at an upper echelon meeting on Sunday morning and the final version was delivered in a plain manila envelope to the residence of Senator J. W. Fulbright (Dem. Ark.) where Mr. Baggs and I had gone for luncheon."

"This conciliatory feeler was effectively and brutally cancelled before there was any chance to determine what response Hanoi might have made. On Feb. 14, after a temporary cessation of the bombing for the Tet holiday and an ostentatious two-day extension beyond the originally announced termination, the aerial attack on North Vietnam was resumed and escalated."

Man Admits Supplying Beer to Minor

A man pleading guilty to supplying liquor to a minor and drinking in a public place was sentenced to a $50 fine or 30 days on each charge in central court today.

Robert Fraser, 22, No. 3, 946 Goldstream, said he had no money to pay the fines.

Police reported the accused was seen drinking in Centennial Square in the company of a minor Saturday evening.

Five bottles of beer were found in the area and the accused admitted they were his.

Muscle Cramps At Night

By DR. WALTER C. ALVAREZ

Many people, and probably usually older people and arthritic people, have to jump out of bed two or three times at night, and then have to walk around for a few minutes in order to get rid of severe and painful cramps in a muscle of their legs or feet.

Alvarez

Most books on medicine advise the giving of quinine. I haven't had any experience with it because years ago when I began to have these severe and painful cramps in the legs, I found that the taking of calcium worked very well. If I remember always to take a glass of milk at luncheon, I may go for a few months without a cramp. Then, if I should have some cramping, I will take a tablespoonful of syrup of neocalglucon or a capsule containing calcium, and this generally works well. The theory behind it is that calcium diminishes the irritability of muscles.

* * *

Sometimes people write asking about muscle cramps when what they describe suggests to me "restless legs." This is a fairly common disease, but one that is seldom described in any book. I have seen many people with this trouble, and I have tried many remedies. About the only one that has given good results has been a combination of a strong sleeping medicine, perhaps noludar or carbrital with one or two tablets of aspirin plus half a grain of codeine. This works perfectly for some people. I think it unfortunate that so many of my medical brethren are terribly afraid of codeine. I cannot understand why because in my 62 years of busy practice I have never seen a person with a codeine habit.

A while ago I read a book put out by the United States government medical authorities, in which they said that there have been only a few cases of codeine addiction ever reported, and in order to become a codeine addict one would have to take about 11 grains a day instead of the usual quarter of a grain or half a grain, perhaps once a day.

* * *

I just read that perhaps 94 per cent of people at some time in their lives hear some ear noise. Rarely, it can be heard by someone else listening near the patient's ear. Clicking sounds can sometimes be due to artificial dentures. Sometimes the noise is so faint that it can be heard only in a quiet room; it cannot be heard when the person goes out into the noisy world.

Some 40 per cent of the sufferers hear the noise in both ears; 50 per cent may say it is in one ear, and 10 per cent will say it is somewhere in the head.

Dr. Duncan S. Hatton, an expert, says it can be due to an allergy. It is commonly found with some form of hearing loss—due commonly to otosclerosis or damage to the bone around the middle ear, or to the tiny bones in the ear. Sometimes the stapes operation that improves hearing can stop the noise. A drug may help if it improves the circulation in the ear. Ear noises can come with Meniere's disease—in which there is some degree of hearing loss, and more or less dizziness.

Barbiturates and tranquilizers may help by quieting the person's nerves. There is a histamine-like drug called sert which sometimes greatly relieves the distress of Meniere's disease. Some people get relief by keeping a radio going beside their bed—to hide the noise in the ears.

ASK ANDY

Is there something you want to know? Do you want to win a set of valuable books or other instructive prizes? Then ask Andy.

Andy will answer questions submitted by child readers and those who submit the questions he selects to answer will receive worthwhile prizes.

The youngster who asks the first question answered each day receives a 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia and of the second question a Hammond Atlas or Globe.

Andy sends a complete, 20-volume set of the World Book Encyclopedia to Fred A. Thompson, age 14, of Gastonie, North Carolina, for his question:

Does the grasshopper serve any useful purpose?

This planet is our home and it is proper to arrange things to make our home as comfortable and convenient as possible. Civilization advanced step by step as our ancestors learned to build shelters and cope with other natural hardships. We have brains to reshape the world to suit ourselves. But we share our planet with countless plants and animals and these tenants of the earth do not have the abilities to reshape their surroundings. These children of nature must cope with her hardships, adjust or perish.

We can view this complicated situation strictly from the human angle or strictly from nature's angle. Builders and farmers tend to stress the human viewpoint and too often they regard nature as an enemy to be used and abused. On the other side, there are devoted nature lovers who oppose all progress that changes the natural world. Both views, of course, are biased. Sensible builders and farmers work with, not against, nature. Sensible scientists enjoy probing the relationships between mankind and the world of nature.

Each of us can choose his own way of looking at things. We can view the grasshopper in a shortsighted way. In this case, we regard him as a natural nuisance with no useful purpose at all. We get to thinking that the world would be better without him and sooner or later figure a way to destroy him and all his kind. True, this would save the crops and the garden greenery that he normally destroys.

Destroys Crops

However, it also would destroy mockingbirds and bluebirds, orioles and a large assortment of songbirds. Chances are, such a tragedy would shock the people who wanted to kill off grasshoppers into taking a larger look at things. If so, they would consider the role of the grasshopper in the balanced scheme of nature. Every year, zillions of grasshoppers contribute the chemicals in their worn out bodies to enrich the soil — the soil that needs these chemicals to produce our crops.

Locusts are travelling cousins of the grasshopper and locust plagues have pestered mankind since the dawn of history. In pioneer days, they descended on the farmlands in black clouds, devouring every shred of greenery in sight. Farmers and scientists have fought these devastating locusts almost out of existence. But experts say that they could return. When threatened by such plagues, we must defend ourselves or perish from famine. We should also take action to prevent greedy grasshoppers from destroying our greenery. In emergencies of this kind, we naturally get rid of them for they are doing us far more harm than good.

The study of the balancing schemes of nature is called "ecology." It is a fairly new science but full of wonderful promises for the future. Experts are learning how to work with nature, using her own methods to arrange things to suit ourselves. For example, magpies and crows, cuckoos and hosts of songbirds depend on grasshopper meat for their food. These birds are our allies and by encouraging them we help ourselves by helping nature to keep down the grasshopper population.

* * *

Andy sends a World Book Atlas to Bonny Jones, age 15, of Richmond, Virginia, for her question:

What becomes of old broken glass?

Broken bottles and tumblers, windshields and window panes create all kinds of problems. The fragments are sharp as daggers and hard to see. Of course, they should be swept up as soon as possible and with tender care. Sensible people do not attempt the job unless wearing thick gloves. Another problem is the waste. Glass is beautiful and fragile and, though not expensive, it seems a shame to lose so much of it in splinters. It is nice, however, to know that not all broken glass is wasted. It is useful to the people who make more glass.

The basic ingredients in glass are silica, soda and lime. The basic brew must be heated to a very high temperature and this melting process is made easier by the addition of material that glass makers call "cullet." If cullet makes up 25 per cent to 75 per cent of the mixture, the material melts at much lower temperatures. And cullet, of all things, is broken glass. Glass manufacturers, however, do not gather up scraps from just anywhere. They insist on knowing the ingredients in the shattered glass and most of them trust only cullet from glass made in their own plants.

BEULAH MAKES TURN TOWARDS TEXAS COAST

BROWNSVILLE, Tex. (AP) — Hurricane Beulah, a growing killer on a slow prowl of the warm Gulf of Mexico waters, turned slightly toward Texas' southernmost tip today.

The weather bureau warned that Beulah was an increasing threat to the coast.

The big storm increased its force to 115-mile-an-hour winds during the mid-morning hours.

EDITOR CHARGES:

'Johnson Scuttled Peace Bid'

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An American journalist who visited Hanoi says a promising chance for peace talks on the war in Vietnam was personally scuttled by President Johnson.

Harry S. Ashmore, Pulitzer Prize-winning former editor of the Arkansas Gazette, visited Hanoi last January with Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News.

Ashmore said he and Baggs visited with Ho Chi Minh for two hours, and found the North Vietnamese premier "deliberately conciliatory and . . . Ho seemed prepared to consider a specific proposal based on a formula for mutual de-escalation."

"Ho had understood," Ashmore said, "that we would report our conversation to the state department, and expected some response, since he had made arrangements to have any further message sent directly to him."

The response to Ho Chi Minh's attitude, Ashmore said, was a letter drafted by himself and Baggs in collaboration with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs.

Despite this, President Johnson dispatched an uncompromising personal message to Ho Chi Minh, dated three days before the Ashmore-Baggs letter, Ashmore said.

State department officials, including Bundy, declined to comment.

STRICT DEMANDS

Johnson's letter, Ashmore said, set forth "the most stringent demands yet made for advance assurance that Hanoi would halt all infiltration of troops to the South."

Thus, Ashmore said, Johnson "effectively and brutally cancelled" the peace effort, nullifying the letter that was sent last Feb. 5.

Ashmore's charges were contained in an article in the first issue of Center Magazine, a new publication of the Centre for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, of which Ashmore now is executive vice-president.

In Miami, Baggs said: "The events Ashmore recorded are precisely correct as I recall them.

"There's lots more that he hasn't said. I'm going to say something this week. I may get into what he said and what he didn't say.

"The existing authorities, the White House and the state

Slash Permits Revoked

See also Page 17

Permits for slash burning on southern Vancouver Island have been revoked, the forestry service announced today.

The action was taken after several logging company slash fires jumped their guards on the weekend.

This occurred at Cowichan Lake, Sooke, Jordan River, in the Robertson Valley and in the Powell River area on the mainland, an official explained.

Details on the extent of the fires was scant. The forestry service said the crisis arose with hot weather last Saturday and Sunday which was unanticipated.

An official explained that it is always a problem trying to determine when it is safe to permit slash fires. If it is too early there is a chance of forest fires resulting.

If the department holds off until too late the slash becomes too damp to burn and a higher hazard results the following year.

The slash fire in Lake Cowichan area which gave trouble was on property controlled by Roach Logging.

The company lost a loader and a yarder after a slight breeze fanned the blaze. About 95 men today were still fighting fires which got out of hand in the Robertson River area.

Extent of timber losses from the various fires is unreported.

It's Intrepid All the Way

NEWPORT, R.I. (UPI) — Bus Mosbacher and Intrepid moved easily away from the Australian challenger Dame Pattie in the fourth race of the 1967 America's Cup competition today and it appeared the Americans would win the series in four straight.

Mideast Stand 'Harsh' U.S. Tells Russians

UNITED NATIONS (AP) — Soviet and Arab speakers demanded today that the General Assembly act soon to get Israel out of occupied parts of Egypt, Jordan and Syria.

The United States replied that only "healing, not harshness," could promote an Arab-Israeli settlement.

Soviet Ambassador Nikolai T. Fedorenko said the United Nations must take measures to ensure the immediate withdrawal of Israeli forces from Arab territories conquered by them in the June Middle East war. He accused the U.S. and other North Atlantic Treaty Organization powers of protecting Israel in two military adventures within 10 years.

Iraqi Ambassador Adnan Pachachi declared "the time for action has come—the time for action that will not only uphold the principles of the charter but will remove the basic threat of war, that of the prolonged Israeli occupation of Arab land."

U.S. Ambassador Arthur J. Goldberg accused Fedorenko of "a display of harshness and invective."

"The time is overdue for healing, not harshness," Goldberg said. "Other approaches cannot and will not contribute to solution."

East Germany Offers Pact

BONN (Reuters) — East Germany has offered West Germany a draft treaty for establishing normal relations between the two states.

The draft was contained in a five-page letter today from East German Premier Willi Stoph to West German Chancellor Kurt Georg Kiesinger, a West German government spokesman here said.

REPORTERS, cameramen and about 100 others greeted Robert Stanfield Sunday night when he flew into Ottawa for talks with party officials. The new leader of the Progressive Conservative Party is expected to meet Prime Minister Pearson on Tuesday. (CP Wirephoto.)

Stanfield, John D. Hold Brief Meeting

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Stanfield, the new Conservative leader, had a five-minute private meeting with John Diefenbaker today as the retiring leader prepared to vacate the opposition leader's suite on Parliament Hill.

"I can't sing, but happy birthday anyway," Mr. Stanfield said as Mr. Diefenbaker greeted him at the door. Today is Mr. Diefenbaker's 72nd birthday.

A small group of reporters was admitted into the office for a few minutes to watch the start of the hurriedly arranged meeting.

Mr. Diefenbaker sat his successor behind the desk and there was a two-minute silence while the two looked about.

Then Mr. Diefenbaker mentioned his packing problems, saying "tons" of material had been cleared out of the office and sent to the National Archives.

"Well, of course, you know there is lots of time," Mr. Stanfield replied.

Then the press group was asked to leave.

Five minutes later, the two men emerged and walked along the hall to the elevator, where they said farewell.

KEPT TALK SECRET

Asked what they had discussed, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "Why should I tell you? He's the new leader."

Downstairs Mr. Stanfield fended off questions about the meeting.

Before the meeting with the former prime minister, Mr. Stanfield began a round of talks with Conservative party and parliamentary forces as he assumed command of the party he was elected to lead a week ago.

STILL UNDECIDED

OTTAWA (CP)—John Diefenbaker pointed to a stack of letters and telegrams on his office desk Monday and told reporters 90 per cent of them are in favor of him staying in Parliament as member for Prince Albert.

He said he has not made up his mind yet whether to resign from the House of Commons, where he has held a seat since 1940.

Mainland Man Missing After Spill in Hell's Gate

BOSTON BAR (CP) — A Vancouver man is missing and presumed drowned after the rubber raft he was riding with other members of an outdoors club overturned in the boiling Hells Gate section of the Fraser River Sunday.

RCMP said the man was a member of the Wayfarers Club of West Vancouver which was attempting to float down the river. The man, described as in his early twenties, was caught in the current.

Police withheld the victim's name.

The 17 club members were shooting the rapids on two rafts. Five were on a smaller raft which navigated the surging waters successfully and 12 were on the larger raft which flipped.

Dave Ablett, a reporter from the Vancouver Sun who accompanied the outdoors club on its trip, was on the smaller raft. Sun photographer Brian Kent was on the larger one.

"It was good fortune that put us in a boiling, swirling back eddy, swamped with water but safe, so that we could help those dumped into the water from the big raft," Mr. Ablett said today.

He said the 20-foot raft "seemed to fall toward us, then the stern rose and clumsily, almost as if in slow motion, it soared over.

"I saw people thrown from the stern of the raft. Then I lost sight of the raft and the people in the vicious white water."

"The boat came up and I went flying through the air," said Mr. Kent, "then I hit the water. The current picked me up and I had no control at all.

"I found I was still hanging on the lifeline. I was just swung around with the raft and I thought I was going to drown. It just did not seem possible to survive in that kind of water."

The club members bobbed in the swirling current. Some were rescued by those on the smaller craft and others managed to right their raft when ropes were lowered into the gorge by men on the cliffs above.

One end of the raft was pulled into the air, enabling those in the water to set it down upright.

Police said that all wore lifejackets, but Mr. Ablett said he grabbed the arm of Pete Speck of West Vancouver who was not wearing one

Economic Planning Needed

OTTAWA (CP)—John J. Deutsch, one of the country's most widely-respected economists, has retired from the Economic Council of Canada with a warning to all governments to plan ahead and not move from crisis to crisis with crash spending programs.

He also told the country it must improve its productivity to sustain its growth, face more open international competition, and prepare now for the problems of the 1870s — pollution and congestion in growing cities, the costly burden of higher education, and finding jobs for a rapidly - expanding, younger and less experienced labor force.

Mr. Deutsch, who becomes principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., next year after spending a year teaching economics there, cited housing as the No. 1 problem of the present and immediate future. He said its growth to crisis proportions was easily foreseen.

The 56-year-old Saskatchewan - born former adviser to the finance department spoke at a press briefing before release Sunday of the council's fourth annual review, which expressed concern for mounting government expenditures at a time when the economic machine is running almost flat out.

MUST AVOID UNEVENESS

Governments at all levels should avoid uneven deficits and foster a climate of confidence by showing that they intend to promote growth in line with the economy's expanding potential.

"It is a striking fact, that, in spite of the very large increases in defence expenditures which took place in the United States in 1965 and 1966 as a result of the increased involvement in Vietnam," the report said, "government spending rose more rapidly in Canada than in the United States in these two years.

". . . the accelerated increase in government spending in 1966 and 1967 is outpacing the growth of government revenues at existing tax levels.

"This necessarily raises troublesome questions about the possibility of increases in tax levels—perhaps of major dimensions if the present very high rate of increase in govern-

600 INJURED

Soccer Riot Toll Hits 44

ISTANBUL (UPI) — Fierce Turkish army troops today battled provincial street mobs enraged by a soccer stadium riot that killed 44 persons and wounded 600 others.

The soldiers poured into the city of Sivas where an estimated 3,000 persons smashed and ransacked buildings belonging to citizens from Kayseri where the stadium brawling erupted Sunday.

At Kayseri Stadium, where about 26,000 men, women and children were watching a soccer match between the local team and the Sivas squad, rival fans fought with knives, rocks, clubs and chains.

HURLED FROM BALCONIES

Some victims were hurled from stadium grandstand balconies. Others fell beneath the trampling feet of panicky thousands stampeding from the gates.

When news from Kayseri reached Sivas, crowds began breaking windows and then ripping into buildings owned by persons in the city 80 miles away.

Premier Suleiman Demiral postponed a scheduled mission to Moscow from today until Tuesday, sending his troops to restore order and summoning his cabinet. Sports officials threatened to abolish the soccer

MARRIAGE FOR BIRDS?

LONDON (Reuters)—An English vicar is asking wedding guests to throw breakfast cereal at married couples instead of confetti.

"Confetti makes too much mess and takes too long to clear up," said Rev. Norman Issberner.

"But the birds love cereal and will clear it all up afterwards," he added.

TODAY'S GRAIN PRICES

WINNIPEG (CP)—A rally in the rye market featured trade today on the Winnipeg Grain Exchange.

Advances were stimulated by a firming-up of Chicago rye prices. In the background were recent shipments of Canadian rye overseas.

Recent shipments from the Lakehead on ocean-going vessels included 224,000 bushels of wheat and 136,000 bushels of barley for Glasgow; 59,000 bushels of wheat, 230,000 bushels of flax and 40,000 bushels of rye for England, and 205,000 bushels of rye for Norway.

Flax and rapeseed prices eased off in the moderately active trade in response to hedging sales representing deliveries of new crops.

Oats and barley trade was light and mostly domestic.

CHICAGO (AP) — Soybeans and grain futures prices reacted sharply on the board of trade today to a plea by U.S. Agriculture Secretary Orville Freeman for legislation to establish a grain reserve program.

Freeman asked Congress for legislation to bolster sagging prices of grains. The department of agriculture has said that wheat, corn and soybeans production this year will hit record levels.

After the Freeman statement wheat prices shot up 2½ cents around noon, soybeans advanced about 1¼ cents and corn moved ahead about ½ cent. All movements were from the day's lows into new high ground for the day.

FIRST INSULATED PIPELINE to be laid by British American Oil in Alberta will carry gas from Lookout Butte field to BA's Pincher Creek processing plant, where 90 million cubic feet per day will be converted to by-products. It is a 12-inch line whose 15 miles will be sheathed in a one-inch-thick coat of polyurethane covered by tough plastic. The insulation prevents formulation of hydrates in the pipe and eliminates gas-fired heaters.

Causeway Planned

VANCOUVER (CP) — A proposal to build a causeway across the north arm of Burrard Inlet, from a point near Ioco to Dollarton, has been announced by the Foundation of Canada Engineering Corp. Ltd. Engineering studies have been turned over to the National Harbors Board, the department of highways and the CPR.

Gold Production

OTTAWA (CP)—Gold production amounted to 259,546 troy ounces in June, compared with 262,051 in June last year, the Dominion Bureau of Statistics reported today. Production in the first six months of this year was 1,529,750 troy ounces compared with 1,699,245 in the same period last year.

MARKET SUMMARIES

Wall St. on Upswing

Wall Street widened its gains this afternoon in active trading.

McIntyre jumped 2⅝, Inco 1⅝ and Granby 1 among Canadians. Dome lost 1⅛, CP ¾. Gooderham ¾ and Distillers and Massey ⅛.

Prices were generally strong on the American exchange.

Marconi gained ⅝ and Brazilian ¼. Scurry was down ⅜ and Jupiter and Javelin ⅛.

AT TORONTO Central-Del Rio fell victim to profit-taking near the close.

The stock was down 2 to 2½ and had been as low as 23¼ earlier.

On Friday the issue jumped 3⅛. However, a company spokesman could give no reason for the surge.

The company is drilling for oil in the Rainbow area of northwestern Alberta.

Nickel issues were fractionally higher following weekend announcements of price increases.

Inco gained ⅞ to 114⅞ and Falconbridge ½ to 91½.

Among industrials Bell Telephone and CPR each dropped ½ to 46½ and 62¾. Jefferson Lake, which jumped 9⅝ last week, added 2⅝ to 59½.

AT VANCOUVER selected mines showed improved strength in moderate trading shortly before noon today.

Utica advanced 15 cents to a year's high of $4.35. Western Mines put on 20 cents to $2.75 and Buttle gained 11 cents to $1.49.

Central Del Rio dropped $1.50 to $24.75 in the oils.

In the industrials Weldwood increased 75 cents to $11.75.

AT MONTREAL international Nickel and Falconbridge led the senior mining sector higher in moderate early afternoon trading.

Inco jumped 2¾ points to 115¼ after announcing a hike in nickel prices. The stock climbed seven points in active trading last week.

Falconbridge advanced 2¼ points to 92, matching last week's gain.

Elsewhere on the market, Central-Del Rio tumbled three points to 23½ after hitting a new peak of 26½ last week on what one analyst said was news that a large drilling rig had been repaired ahead of schedule.

AT LONDON after some early hesitancy the stock market looked firm and there were a number of bright spots in equities.

Gilts also found support and prices rose by generally 1-16 to ⅛ and sometimes more.

Dollar stocks improved in line with Wall Street and Inco stood out at 243½, up 9 points, Central Del Rio was also good at 55¾ with a gain of nearly $6.

In other Canadians, West Coast Transmissions and Hudsons Bay Oil and Gas were both around 1½ better but Consolidated Paper and Price Bros. eased.

CPA Plans Expansion Of Service

VANCOUVER (CP) — Canadian Pacific Airlines will begin its second transcontinental service in Canada Feb. 1 adding Calgary and Edmonton to the route, the airline announced today.

The additional service was authorized by the department of transport last March 27, permitting CPA to increase its transcontinental services until it is providing approximately 25 per cent of the total transcontinental capacity by 1970.

The company has on order four long-body DC-8-63 Spacemaster jets, the first of which is expected to be delivered to Vancouver at the end of the year.

'Rail Unions Should Lose Strike Right'

WASHINGTON (AP) — The U.S. railway industry's new chief negotiator, John P. Hiltz Jr., says Congress should strip 25 rail unions of their right to strike.

"I would favor a law to perpetuate railroad service, rather than having the threat of constant interruptions of service," Hiltz said in a talk with reporters.

He said here this would mean taking the strike weapon away from unions representing some 600,000 rail workers. Rail unions have consistently defended their right to strike.

The rail industry and six shop craft unions are awaiting the decision of a White House board this week which Hiltz said may set the bargaining pattern for the industry in the future.

The presidential board, headed by Senator Wayne Morse, was named under a special law passed in July to halt a two-day nationwide strike.

The board's recommendations, due to be handed down by midnight Friday night, will become mandatory if the railroads and unions don't settle voluntarily by Oct. 16. There is little likelihood of a voluntary wage agreement.

PUBLIC COMES FIRST

"The public interest is paramount," Hiltz said in urging a federal ban on rail strikes.

Hilt said the wage settlement handed down by the Morse board will determine whether a pattern of government-dictated wage settlements develops.

The six shop craft unions are demanding a 6.5-per-cent wage increase this year and five per cent next year plus two 12.5-cent increases for skilled men who make up most of the 137,000 workers affected.

The railways have offered a six per-cent increase for an 18-month agreement plus one five-cent hourly raise for skilled workers.

. . . And Under the Perky Beanies Some Really Desperate Emotions

By DON VIPOND
Times Education Reporter

A little bit of worry, a dash of curiosity, a touch of bafflement and the set-jawed look of determination.

These were the expressions under the beanies this morning as about 1,700 first-year students at the University of Victoria got their first whiff in the heady air of higher learning.

It didn't take the perky blue and yellow beanies and the dangling "frosh" placards to mark all the new arrivals. They gave themselves away by wandering corridors like lost souls, buttonholing strangers to find their way to that first lecture room.

BIG DAY

It was a big moment and they knew it, the first day in a new way of life that will occupy most of them for four years or more.

Many of the students taking English 100, for example, had the first lecture under their belt by 9:20 a.m.

And the early verdict—"free and easier," "looks good" and "it's really up to us."

Wendy Kinnear, 17, of 1329 St. Patrick:

"Were going to be a lot on our own. There was a lot more discussion in the lecture than in high school. And with a smaller class, we'll get more done."

SIGHTS AND SOUNDS of throbbing university are a bit bewildering the first day. Dave Evans and Elke Schumacher take a moment to give interviewer their impressions—a feeling of being on your own in an operation too big to care about the individual. (Times photos by Bill Halkett.)

Jo-Anne Richdale, 18, of 2533 Margate:

"It's going to take some time to get used to it. There's a lot more for you to do by yourself."

Ken Campbell, 17, of 2385 Amelia in Sidney:

"More free and easy. The teacher doesn't spoonfeed you here. The responsibility's on the student. But they seem more ready to learn."

Mike Ohman, 17, of Bellingham, Wash.;

"Before, it was just 'do this, do that.' Now they leave it up to you. And we had a good-humored professor.

You could do worse this way."

'UP TO YOU'

Dave Evans, 18, of 7012 East Saanich Rd.:

"They don't care how you do here so long as they get their dough. You have to set your goals, have to tell yourself that you do the work now, it's up to you."

Elke Schumacher, 18, of 4400 Blenkinsop:

"It's not that different really. There are not so many questions here and less assigned work, more study time."

3,900 STUDENTS

By the time the machines add them up this week, Uvic's enrolment is expected to be close to 3,900. That's three times the student population only six years ago when the university granted its first degrees.

And for the first time in its history as a university all the students will be located on the new Gordon Head campus. A year ago the new Education-Arts building was still on the fringe of completion and some students were still on the Lansdowne campus.

Two men's residences were opened last week, providing housing for about 170. They join two women's residences to push Uvic's investment in buildings to around $10 million.

WHAT'S AHEAD? This was the enticing question running through the minds of the "frosh" as they took in their first lecture at the University of Victoria today. Among the estimated 1,700 new students, Mike Ohman (left) found his professor's sense of humour a pleasant surprise. Wendy Kinnear and Jo-Anne Richdale like the idea of being on their own in smaller classes with plenty of time for discussion. Ken Campbell says his initial look suggests university students are more ready to learn.

FRIEND ADMITS 'SET-UP'

An ordinary seaman told central court today he asked fellow sailor Ricky Kardera to sell him marijuana to provide a "set-up" for Kardera's arrest.

Thomas Cino, sometime classmate of Kardera, said he was a friend of the accused, but "I don't think it is right to sell dope anywhere."

He told the court he and three friends planned the purchase and notified authorities of the plan.

Two RCMP officers testified they and a military policeman were present Aug. 3 when the planned exchange was to take place. They said they searched Kardera and found a plastic bag containing a substance later identified as marijuana.

Kardera testified he had always considered Cino a friend.

The trial is continuing.

Yugoslavian President Here Friday

President of the federal executive council of Yugoslavia, Mika Spiljak, will visit Victoria this weekend.

Due to arrive Friday, he will be at Government House until Sunday morning, it was announced by Deputy Provincial Secretary L. J. Wallace.

During his stay the Yugoslav official will be guest at a state dinner held by Lieutenant-Governor George Pearkes.

On Monday Princess Margrethe and Prince Henrik of Denmark arrive for a two-day visit, arriving at Government House at 3:45 p.m.

The Danish royal couple will also attend a state dinner. On Tuesday they will visit the Legislative Buildings (10:00 a.m.), City Hall (10:30 a.m.) and a government luncheon at Empress Hotel 12:15 p.m.

They leave for Vancouver from the airport at 2:40 p.m.

RVYC Skippers Splash Spray On Fireballers

Skippers from the host Royal Victoria Yacht Club captured the first two places in the first annual fireball class B.C. sailing championship meet on Saturday and Sunday at Cadboro Bay.

Doug Beer won the championship trophy with Dr. Roger Oldham finishing second in over-all standings.

Mrs. M. West of Vancouver was third, followed by Doug Harrison, Victoria.

Forest Service Employees Taking Course

Twenty-four British Columbia Forest Service employees will return to school Wednesday for a six-month advanced training course, the forest service announced today.

They will study fundamentals of forest protection and management policies, botany, wood technology, surveying, entomology and pathology, English and mathematics at the service's school in North Surrey, B.C.

Also to be discussed is this year's fire season, one of the biggest and most costly in the province's history.

The students will represent all five forest districts in the province.

Chaos Forecast If Nurses Win Special Deal on Pay

A squabble between two government employee groups broke out this morning at the opening of a fact-finding hearing into demands for more pay and better conditions by the B.C. Psychiatric Nurses' Association.

E. P. O'Connor, general secretary of the B.C. Government Employees' Association, said any special pay agreement by the government for the psychiatric nurses would result on a chaotic situation for the whole civil service.

The BCGEA has about 7,000 members and at one time represented the 900 members of the Teamster-organized Psychiatric Nurses' Association.

"We have every sympathy with the psychiatric nurses," Mr. O'Connor told the three-man fact-finding panel.

TROUBLE PREDICTED

"But if treatment is extended to one group of employees which is different from that extended to others it will lead to a chaotic situation in the civil service and cause nothing but trouble in the future."

Mr. O'Connor urged the panel to uphold the Civil Service Commission's espousal of the principle of comparability between civil servants and those doing similar work outside the government service.

Although Mr. O'Connor was a surprise first witness at the hearings, it has been known since the nurses' dramatic threat to strike all provincial mental hospitals last spring that the BCGEA executive was concerned that any government concessions to the separate group would threaten its position as the leading association in the provincial civil service.

There are 21,000 government employees now and the BCGEA expected to organize most of them after a sudden switch by the cabinet this summer returning the right of dues checkoff to the association.

FAST DECLINE

The organization represented some 12,000 civil servants several years ago but its strength declined radically when the cabinet revoked the dues checkoff about eight years ago during a dispute.

Psychiatric nurse Gwen Elliot began the lengthy submission of the nurses association after Mr. O'Connor delivered his brief.

The nurses plan to enter some 65 exhibits, all of them several pages long, to back up their argument for a 25 per cent wage increase on top of the 5 per cent average granted all civil servants April 1.

The present pay range is $392 to $466 per month and they seek a $481 to $633 range with retroactive pay to April 1.

Miss Elliot's main points were that 93 per cent of the nurses rejected the 5 per cent increase in a strike vote, the present pay scale has been too low in comparison with private industry, the work is exceptionally demanding and there is an acute shortage because of inadequate salaries.

The panel was set up as a result of a government promise at the last session of the legislature.

Winter Start Predicted On Water Plan

66% Vote Yes At Prospect Lake

Work is expected to start this winter extending Saanich water mains into the Prospect Lake area.

Municipal engineer Neville Life said how long the work will take depends on a number of factors, but he expected it would be completed a year from now.

Property owners in the area voted 2-to-1 in favor of piped water in a local referendum Saturday.

Cost of the project is $226,455 with $86,455 of this coming from the Saanich waterworks funds.

Interest on the $143,000 to be borrowed and repaid by Prospect Lake residents over 20 years is given as $117,910 in the bylaw.

66 PER CENT APPROVAL

Of the 166 property owners who voted, 108 favored piped water, 54 were against and four ballots were spoiled giving 66 per cent approval. Sixty per cent was necessary.

Reeve Hugh Curtis called the vote "decisive" and expressed the hope that councils of future years will not bow to pressures to reduce minimum subdivision sizes in the area, which does not have sewers.

Two Dogs Poisoned

Two dogs were poisoned in the James Bay area Saturday. One died and the second is being treated for strychnine.

A terrier belonging to Mr. Ted Ivanoski, 538 Rithet Street, died before it could be taken to the animal hospital.

City, Duncan IWA Rejoin Federation

The Victoria and Duncan locals of the International Woodworkers of America voted over the weekend to rejoin the B.C. Federation of Labour.

The move follows the recent lifting by the federation of its suspensions of these and two other IWA locals resulting from a joint public criticism by their presidents of a Canadian Labour Congress vice-president Joe Morris.

Victoria IWA president Murray Drew said an executive recommendation ratified by members Sunday did not agree with a special CLC report "but for the sake of unity" in the union movement recommended reaffiliation.

Members authorized him to express "dissatisfaction on those parts of the report that are objectionable."

The CLC committee's report supported the B.C. Federation of Labour in its suspensions but recommended lifting the suspensions. It also drew a parallel between current developments and those of 1948 when Communists tried to set up an independent woodworkers union—a comparison which drew strong disagreement from the four suspended locals.

$1.2 Million Tag Placed by Board On McRae Land

Price $450,000 More Than Saanich Offered

By ROGER STONEBANKS

An arbitration board set the price for the 132-acre McRae Estate today at $1.2 million — $450,000 more than Saanich offered for the property.

But the price is well below estimates placed on the property by witnesses for the McRae family. One of these valuations was as high as $3.5 million.

Unspecified costs were awarded against Saanich, which will also have to pay interest on the award. One estimate of the latter was $72,000.

Two years ago, in a capital budget approved by ratepayers, Saanich set aside about $800,000 for acquisition of the McRae property, which includes the Cedar Hill golf course, in the southern part of Saanich adjoining Victoria.

But even adding in just over $200,000 set aside for contingencies would leave Saanich well short of the arbitrated value.

COUNCIL DECISION

Municipal comptroller-treasurer John Tribe said council will have to decide whether to go ahead with the purchase or forget about it.

"It is strictly policy for council," he added.

Saanich Reeve Hugh Curtis was enroute to the Union of B.C. Municipalities convention in Prince George and could not be reached.

Lawyers for both Saanich and the McRae family were studying the 20-page award this morning and declined comment.

Three main points were made in the award:

1. The land, surrounded by urban development, is subdividable;
2. There is a reasonable probability it will be sewered;
3. Not more than 20 acres would be rezoned for apartments if the land is sewered.

The three-man arbitration board, in its unanimous decision, said valuations given by appraisers for Saanich "should be adjusted upwards" because of these three factors.

EXPROPRIATED

Saanich expropriated the property earlier, seeking to acquire a prime piece of undeveloped land to be set aside permanently for park and recreational purposes.

The arbitration board was set up solely to determine the price to be paid for the land. The price itself cannot be appealed but an appeal can be made on techincal-legal points.

There is also a legal exit route for Saanich to de-expropriate the land if it feels the price is too high.

The board was composed of Ian Horne, representing Saanich; Doug Peaker, for the McRaes, and chairman Richard Anderson. Louis Lindholm appeared for Saanich and Robert Price for the McRaes.

The board began hearings in mid-July and concluded with a 15-hour marathon session Aug. 25.

Mr. Price maintained the property was greatly undervalued by Saanich appraisers, while Mr. Lindholm said present market value must govern "in these matters" and not potential profit from the land.

Impaired Driver Fined, Suspended

A $350 fine and licence suspension was handed to a 28-year-old city man who pleaded guilty in central court this morning to impaired driving.

He was also fined $10 on a charge of failing to transfer the registration of the car he was driving. He purchased the car two months ago.

LOGGERS' HOUSE-CLEANING HAS DEVASTATING SIDE-EFFECTS

Slash Fires: They're Big, Hungry, Often Ugly

By PETE LOUDON

Smoky out? The sun's hanging red in the sky like a Chinese lantern?

It's okay — it's just slash fires, just the logging industry doing its house-cleaning.

But why is it that there's more smoke in the air from these forest bonfires than we noticed a month ago when huge areas of merchantable timber were being devoured throughout B.C.?

THEY'RE BIG

The fact is that slash fires aren't just little bonfires. They are huge conflagrations, each of them burning over 20 to 40 acres — sometimes 80 acres.

And there could 400 to 500 of them going at one time in the Vancouver Forest district alone.

When you talk to forestry officials about them, the same people who warn us about the havoc wreaked on the land and the wildlife by forest fires, some of them sound a bit embarrassed by the situation.

How many woods creatures die in slash fires? What does a searing blaze do to the land where the conservationists plan new forests? How many slash fires jump their bounds and eat into prime timber?

Kamloops is more than 200 miles from southern Vancouver Island. But a pall of smoke from slash fires here and in the lower mainland is hanging over Kamloops today.

"The air tankers there are on stand-down due to the smoke. It makes it tough for fire fighters there where they have 20 new fires of their own," says a forestry official.

He said the slash smoke from the coast makes it difficult to spot new forest outbreaks there.

"The effectiveness of our lookout system has dropped to nil," said a weary fighter there Sunday.

B.C. protection officer F. H. Nelson explained that slash is the top branches lopped from fallen trees. They are left lying like a blanket when the timber is yarded out.

Flattened to dry in the sun by the extraction of the logs, slashed limbs extend over vast areas and it's as dangerous as dynamite. It must be removed as soon as possible after fire season ends. If it is ignited in fire season when humidity is low, the fire takes off like a napalm bomb.

Logging companies are required to burn it as soon as possible. They must get a permit and they depend on a meterologist for the go sign. Sometimes they gamble a bit. If they burn before it's safe they pay all the costs of fighting the fire and the value of any crown timber lost through the fire's spread.

The permit stipulates how many men must be employed in a controlled slash fire and how many men must be furnished if there's a breakaway. If there's gross negligence more damages could be assessed.

SLOW PROGRESS

Mr. Nelson didn't believe slash fires are too harmful to wildlife. The fires are lit on the edges and progress of the flames is slow in the fall. As a rule it's not a deep fire, although this year there's so much slash it will burn deeper into the humus.

"The percentage of slash fires which get out of hand is very low," he added.

But the slash must be burned. In the 30s they left it in the woods and a resultant fire destroyed the Campbell River area. Now if a company doesn't burn its slash it must pay the government $12 an acre.

Provincial Museum director, naturalist Dr. Clifford Carl said slash fires destroy a great deal of wildlife, but if the soil isn't destroyed vegetation grows back quickly, affording better grazing for deer.

The fires denude vast acreages of small mammals, but some may escape into the ground if the slash fire is shallow.

Dr. Adam Szawinski, provincial botanist, agreed that lost vegetation comes back. But he admits some scientists oppose slash fires.

FUTURE CHANGES

"I'm not in a position to say they are right . . . this is necessary to the economy of our province," he says. "It cleans the area for reforestation. But perhaps some other method will be developed in the future."

In the meantime, we're stuck with it.

And unless you are a beetle or a weasel or a mole or a mouse or a snake or an ant or a ladybug in the path of the flames — you've got to admit that red sun is pretty.

NEW METHODS NEEDED SAYS UBC PLANT MAN

A plant ecologist at University of British Columbia today called for legislation to curb slash fires by the logging industry.

Dr. V. J. Krajina of the botany department said the fires are damaging to our forest resources. They are started too early in the fall and new burning methods are required. He was interviewed by phone.

He said slash should be piled up in a damp section of the forest rather than burned as a blanket over many acres.

The present method destroys humus, the vegetable mould which provides nitrogen, and delays new growth. It also fouls the air in tourist season and is a continual hazard to treed areas.

BUSINESS WARNED:

Higher Taxes 'Unavoidable'

MONTREAL (CP)—Higher taxes are unavoidable if government spending continues to climb the way it now is, the Canadian Chamber of Commerce warned today.

Two top officials of the businessmen's national body told the opening session of the chamber's 38th annual meeting that such increases could have serious effects on the Canadian economy.

Chamber President Roger DeSerres of Montreal told the 900 delegates that Canada has to keep its costs at or below world levels.

General Manager D. L. Morrell said that, given the competitive trading conditions existing in the world today, "such tax increases would threaten our standard of living through hindering our economic advance and trade position."

Mr. DeSerres told delegates that the recent successful conclusion of the Kennedy round of trade talks at Geneva—which will mean widespread tariff cuts—will mean still more competition for Canadian businessmen at home and abroad.

ISSUES CAUTION

"It will profit us not at all to push through public spending programs if the cost of the programs raise prices so that Canadian goods cannot compete," he said.

"There is plenty of evidence that we have been trying to do too much, too fast in the government sector."

He also warned that high government spending means there is not enough money left to finance adequately private business and industrial growth. That growth was essential for economic advancement.

Mr. Morrell, reviewing the general economic situation, said 1967 looks like a prosperous year, though not so good as 1966.

Gross national product—value of all goods and services produced in the economy—would likely increase seven per cent, compared with 10.9 per cent last year. Increase in real terms, after allowing for price gains, would be 3.7 per cent compared with 5.9 per cent.

Consumer spending started to increase about the middle of this year, reflecting more optimism on the part of buyers, as well as strongly rising labor income.

HOUSING DEMAND

Shortage of housing, however, was increasing and high interest rates had put more of a damper on new starts.

Mr. Morrell said exports were strong in the first half of this year, but uncertainties in the economy of the United States and much of the European market made it doubtful whether the pace could be maintained.

However it appeared exports would be up 10 per cent compared with last year.

With an expected trade surplus of $500,000,000, and tourist earnings of $250,000,000 from events connected with Centennial Year and Expo, the balance of payments deficit could be cut to $700,000,000.

Two uncertainties, however, hung over the short-term future. One was the implications of the Kennedy round and the other the report of the Carter royal commission on taxation.

The increasing foreign competition that will result from the Kennedy round trade talks means that fuller and more effective use of Canada's industrial resources is needed, Mr. Morrel said.

Implementation of the Carter report would mean transitional problems, but no one could yet say what effects would come from putting the report into law.

Firm Raises Nickel Price

TORONTO (CP) — Falconbridge Nickel Mines Ltd. today announced an increase in nickel prices, effective Oct. 1, "to offset rising production costs, including the higher wages being paid under three-year labor contracts now in effect."

The price increase follows similar announcements from the International Nickel Co. of Canada Ltd. and Sherritt Gordon Mines Ltd. Friday.

Falconbridge said the U.S. price for its regular electrolytic nickel would increase 8.74 cents to 94 cents per pound; for two-inch by two-inch nickel squares, 9.74 cents to 95 cents per pound; and one-inch by one-inch nickel squares, 10.75 cents to 96 cents per pound.

RESTRICT IMPORTS, JAY TELLS BRITAIN

JAY
. . . defend pound

LONDON (CP)—Douglas Jay, ousted as trade boss in last month's cabinet changes, suggests Britain should be prepared to restrict imports as part of a two-point plan to expand the economy without fear of a dangerous drain in the country's foreign exchange holdings.

Usually when Britain embarks on an expansionist policy, imports leap far ahead of exports leaving the country with a heavy foreign trade deficit that eats into vital foreign exchange reserves and weakens the pound.

Jay maintained the Labor government should make increasing use of the right to temporary import controls which, he said, is enshrined in the General Agreement on Tariffs and Trade.

Quebec's Interests Tied to Canada

MONTREAL (CP) — The concept that led to the formation of Canada 100 years ago "remains valid today", Roger DeSerres, of Montreal, president of the Canadian Chamber of Commerce, said today.

He told the opening session of the 38th annual chamber meeting that the interests of Quebec and the rest of Canada are bound together.

"The founding fathers believed that only a federal union, possessing a strong central government, could hold together the different parts of the country, stimulate their economic advance and safeguard them from political absorption by their powerful southern neighbor.

"This same concept remains valid today."

Mr. DeSerres said Canadians should realize their problems are not too alarming when compared with those existing throughout the world.

"If we could take the global view, then our concern for some of our problems and our bickering over them might give way to the pursuit of more worthwhile objectives—more constructive pursuits.

"Consider the fact that half of the world's employable population lives in countries where the worker income averages less than the equivalent of $100 a year."

Ship Jobs At Stake In Grants

MONTREAL (CP) — J. Eric Harrington, president of Canadian Vickers Ltd., said Saturday the federal government's shipbuilding policies give no encouragement whatsoever "to an already oppressed industry."

"There are some 13,000 jobs at stake in the shipbuilding industry in Canada," he said. "These can rapidly vanish if those in power in Ottawa continue to be so blissfully blind to the facts of life."

Mr. Harrington was addressing a luncheon following the christening of two trawlers, built by his company for Atlantic Sugar Refineries Ltd., which operates a fishing fleet.

He said the Canadian government was reducing its shipbuilding subsidies while other countries engaged in the trade were increasing their shipbuilding subsidies.

$ EXCHANGE

MONTREAL (CP)—The United States dollar in terms of Canadian funds was unchanged at $1.07 17/32. Pound sterling was unchanged at $2.99 5/16.

NEW YORK (CP) — Canadian dollar was down 1/64 at 93 in terms of U.S. funds. Pound sterling unchanged at $2.78 11/32.

New GM Car Prices Boosted Average $110

DETROIT (AP)—General Motors today boosted 1968 auto prices an average of $110, considerably less than the $133 average increase announced by Chrysler last week. Ford and American Motors have not released new car prices yet.

GM said its higher price tags "recognize current material prices and payroll costs." It made no mention of possible increases in its labor costs as a result of current negotiations with the United Auto Workers.

It marked the second year in a row that GM came in with lower price increases after a major competitor had announced its new sticker prices—those which include the federal excise tax and dealer handling charges.

Chrysler and Ford had to roll back their 1967 prices to get into line with GM's smaller price increase and there was immediate speculation Chrysler might have to do the same again.

GM said that $61 of the $110 increase in sticker prices reflected costs of two items optional in 1967 models but standard in the new cars in compliance with federal law.

These are the exhaust emission control device, designed to cut down on auto exhaust pollution, and centre seat belts.

GM added: "In addition, certain new features, principally safety-related product improvements not available in 1967, have also been included on all 1968 cars."

The latter group, GM said, include improved interior protection by added padding and an improved windshield wiper system.

"Adjustments were made in 1968 prices of certain optional equipment but the more popular items, such as automatic transmissions, power brakes and power steering are unchanged in price on most models for 1968," GM said.

GM said that its 1968 cars, which go on display in dealer showrooms Sept. 21, will include shoulder belt harnesses, originally scheduled as standard equipment, as optional items.

Volkswagen Prices Hiked

TORONTO (CP) — Prices for the 1968 Volkswagen beetle car will be $70 higher than for the 1967 model, Karl Barths, managing director of the Canadian subsidiary, has anounced.

Mr. Barths said sales for the January-August period were 19,884 vehicles or 6.5 per cent greater than those of the corresponding period last year.

The Ivory Coast, a former French colony, is Africa's biggest exporter of timber.

RIM TRADE IN DOUBT

VANCOUVER (CP) — A Pacific rim free trade area may never come, Joseph Fuller, an Australian state cabinet minister and former premier of New South Wales, said Saturday.

Mr. Fuller, who is leading a 23-man trade delegation to Canada and the U.S., told a news conference that a Pacific rim common market or free trade area is impossible at this time.

The reason, he said, is the divergence of economies between Canada, the United States, Australia, New Zealand and Southeast Asian countries.

BRIDGE LESSON

Opening lead—♣ 4

Jim: "You mean his version of the play called 'The Great Unblock' by the late Geoffrey Mott-Smith?"

Oswald: "Yes. The Hog is in three no-trump after typical bidding. He has six nice diamonods but his partner blocks the suit with the ace and king and the only way to unblock is to discard them on clubs. Of course the hand is a cinch with a spade opening but West opens the four of clubs and East rises with the king."

Jim: "Most players would take the king with the ace and lead back the jack. This would ensure three club tricks some time or other and hold the contract to a small loss but the Hog was not interested in a small loss. He played the jack of clubs without the slightest pause. East returned the three of clubs and this time the Hog played the ten. West won with the queen while the Hog discarded a low heart from dummy. West saw no reason to abandon the club suit and led a third club. The trap had been sprung. The Hog took his two club tricks while discarding the ace and king of diamonds from dummy. Six diamonds and a spade followed to give him game and rubber."

Oswald: "The important thing about the whole play was that it was executed so smoothly. The Hog never paused to think at any time. He worked it all out as soon as he saw dummy. In addition the heart discard from dummy on the second club lead was a masterpiece of misdirection. At least it lulled West into enough sense of security so that he led the third club."

Jim: "At least that's what the Hog said."

Ottawa Cutback Urged

OTTAWA (CP)—John J. Deutsch, one of the country's most widely-respected economists, has retired from the Economic Council of Canada with a warning to all governments to plan ahead and not move from crisis to crisis with crash spending programs.

He also told the country it must improve its productivity to sustain its growth, face more open international competition, and prepare now for the problems of the 1970s — pollution and congestion in growing cities, the costly burden of higher education, and finding jobs for a rapidly - expanding, younger and less experienced labor force.

Mr. Deutsch, who becomes principal of Queen's University, Kingston, Ont., next year after spending a year teaching economics there, cited housing as the No. 1 problem of the present and immediate future. He said its growth to crisis proportions was easily foreseen.

MUST AVOID UNEVENESS

Governments at all levels should avoid uneven deficits and foster a climate of confidence by showing that they intend to promote growth in line with the economy's expanding potential.

"It is a striking fact, that, in spite of the very large increases in defence expenditures which took place in the United States in 1965 and 1966 as a result of the increased involvement in Vietnam," the report said, "government spending rose more rapidly in Canada than in the United States in these two years.

". . . the accelerated increase in government spending in 1966 and 1967 is outpacing the growth of government revenues at existing tax levels.

"This necessarily raises troublesome questions about the possibility of increases in tax levels—perhaps of major dimensions if the present very high rate of increase in govern-

Stanfield, John D. Hold Brief Meeting

By KEN KELLY

OTTAWA (CP)—Robert Stanfield, the new Conservative leader, had a five-minute private meeting with John Diefenbaker today as the retiring leader prepared to vacate the opposition leader's suite on Parliament Hill.

"I can't sing, but happy birthday anyway," Mr. Stanfield said as Mr. Diefenbaker greeted him at the door. Today is Mr. Diefenbaker's 72nd birthday.

A small group of reporters was admitted into the office for a few minutes to watch the start of the hurriedly arranged meeting.

Mr. Diefenbaker sat his successor behind the desk and there was a two-minute silence while the two looked about.

Then Mr. Diefenbaker mentioned his packing problems, saying "tons" of material had been cleared out of the office and sent to the National Archives.

"Well, of course, you know there is lots of time," Mr. Stanfield replied.

Then the press group was asked to leave.

Five minutes later, the two men emerged and walked along the hall to the elevator, where they said farewell.

KEPT TALK SECRET

Asked what they had discussed, Mr. Diefenbaker said: "Why should I tell you? He's the new leader."

Downstairs Mr. Stanfield fended off questions about the meeting.

Before the meeting with the former prime minister, Mr. Stanfield began a round of talks with Conservative party and parliamentary forces as he assumed command of the party he was elected to lead a week ago.

Firefighters Quit Soccer Playoff

VANCOUVER (CP) — Vancouver Firefighters have withdrawn from the Canadian inter-provincial soccer playoffs, team manager Doug Greig said today.

He said the club was not given sufficient time to prepare for the playoffs and would be handicapped if it entered them because the soccer season is just starting in British Columbia but concluding in other parts of Canada.

Time Bomb in Soviet Pavilion?

MONTREAL (CP) — Montreal police said today a time bomb caused a small explosion and fire in the Soviet Pavilion at Expo 67 but Soviet offiicals blamed the incident on a bursting mercury lamp.

The explosion and brief fire occurred Sunday afternoon and slightly damaged some wood carvings and frames stored in a cubicle separated by a wall from the exhibit area in the pavilion's cultural section. No one was injured.

SAN FRANCISCO (AP) —Defence Secretary McNamara announced today that the United States will start building soon a $5,000,000,000 Nike-X anti-missile defence against possible nuclear attack by China in the 1970s.

"It would be insane and suicidal for her to do so, but one can conceive conditions under which China might miscalculate," McNamara said. "We wish to reduce such possibilities to a minimum."

New Threat Ends Permits

Permits for slash burning on southern Vancouver Island have been revoked, the forestry service announced today.

The action was taken after several logging company slash fires jumped their guards on the weekend.

This occurred at Cowichan Lake, Sooke, Jordan River, in the Robertson Valley and in the Powell River area on the mainland, an official explained.

Details on the extent of the fires was scant. The forestry service said the crisis arose with hot weather last Saturday and Sunday which was unanticipated.

An official explained that it is always a problem trying to determine when it is safe to permit slash fires. If it is too early there is a chance of forest fires resulting.

If the department holds off until too late the slash becomes too damp to burn and a higher hazard results the following year.

The slash fire in Lake Cowichan area which gave trouble was on property controlled by Roach Logging.

The company lost a loader and a yarder after a slight breeze fanned the blaze. About 95 men today were still fighting fires which got out of hand in the Robertson River area.

Johnson Hurt Bid for Peace

SANTA BARBARA, Calif. (AP) — An American journalist who visited Hanoi says a promising chance for peace talks on the war in Vietnam was personally scuttled by President Johnson.

Harry S. Ashmore, Pulitzer Prize-winning former editor of the Arkansas Gazette, visited Hanoi last January with Editor William C. Baggs of the Miami, Fla., News.

Ashmore said he and Baggs visited with Ho Chi Minh for two hours, and found the North Vietnamese premier "deliberately conciliatory and . . . Ho seemed prepared to consider a specific proposal based on a formula for mutual de-escalation."

"Ho had understood," Ashmore said, "that we would report our conversation to the state department, and expected some response, since he had made arrangements to have any further message sent directly to him."

The response to Ho Chi Minh's attitude, Ashmore said, was a letter drafted by himself and Baggs in collaboration with William P. Bundy, assistant secretary of state for East Asian and Pacific affairs.

Despite this, President Johnson dispatched an uncompromising personal message to Ho Chi Minh, dated three days before the Ashmore-Baggs letter, Ashmore said.

State department officials, including Bundy, declined to comment.

STRICT DEMANDS

Johnson's letter, Ashmore said, set forth "the most stringent demands yet made for advance assurance that Hanoi would halt all infiltration of troops to the South."

Thus, Ashmore said, Johnson "effectively and brutally cancelled" the peace effort, nullifying the letter that was sent last Feb. 5.

Ashmore's charges were contained in an article in the first issue of Center Magazine, a new publication of the Centre for the Study of Democratic Institutions in Santa Barbara, of which Ashmore now is executive vice-president.

In Miami, Baggs said: "The events Ashmore recorded are precisely correct as I recall them.

"There's lots more that he hasn't said. I'm going to say something this week. I may get into what he said and what he didn't say.

"The existing authorities, the White House and the state

HELL'S GATE DISASTER came moments after this picture was taken of Wayfarer's Club shooting Fraser River rapids Sunday. Raft flipped and one of 12 aboard is feared drowned. (CP Wirephoto.)

Mainland Man Missing After Spill in Hell's Gate

BOSTON BAR (CP) — A Vancouver man is missing and presumed drowned after the rubber raft he was riding with other members of an outdoors club overturned in the boiling Hells Gate section of the Fraser River Sunday.

RCMP said John B. Smith, 38, was a member of the Wayfarers' Club of West Vancouver which was attempting to float down the river. He was trapped in the swift current after the raft flipped.

The 17 club members were shooting the rapids on two rafts. Five were on a smaller raft which navigated the surging waters successfully and 12 were on the larger raft which flipped.

Dave Ablett, a reporter from the Vancouver Sun who accompanied the outdoors club on its trip, was on the smaller raft. Sun photographer Brian Kent was on the larger one.

"It was good fortune that put us in a boiling, swirling back eddy, swamped with water but safe, so that we could help those dumped into the water from the big raft," Mr. Ablett said today.

He said the 20-foot raft "seemed to fall toward us, then the stern rose and clumsily, almost as if in slow motion, it soared over.

"I saw people thrown from the stern of the raft. Then I lost sight of the raft and the people in the vicious white water."

"The boat came up and I went flying through the air," said Mr. Kent, "then I hit the water. The current picked me up and I had no control at all.

"I found I was still hanging on the lifeline. I was just swung around with the raft and I thought I was going to drown. It just did not seem possible to survive in that kind of water."

The club members bobbed in the swirling current. Some were rescued by those on the smaller craft and others managed to right their raft when ropes were lowered into the gorge by men on the cliffs above.

One end of the raft was pulled into the air, enabling those in the water to set it down upright.

Police said that all wore lifejackets, but Mr. Ablett said he grabbed the arm of Pete Speck of West Vancouver who was not wearing one.

Nancy, Gillian Sparkle

LEVERKUSEN, West Germany (CP)—West Germany defeated Canada's field hockey team 2-0 Sunday in the women's world field hockey tournament.

The Canadian team was outclassed by the German girls and only goalie Joyce Harris of Vancouver prevented the score from running higher.

Anna Marchand of Toronto and Gillian Thomas, a former Victorian now living in Vancouver, played well for Canada.

Canada took its first victory of the tournament Saturday with a 2-0 win over Argentina. Miss Thomas and Nancy Hill of Victoria, Canada's vice-captain, scored the goals.

In other games Sunday, Australia defeated New Zealand 3-1, France edged Argentina 1-0, Ireland beat Jamaica 2-1, South Africa shut out Scotland 3-0, Austria nipped Spain 1-0 and Wales defeated the United States 2-0.

Bomber Rebound Cools Off Riders

Stamps Alone in Top Spot; Futile Lions Lose to Esks

NEILSEN BLOCKADE

Close coverage on Winnipeg's Ken Neilsen is offered by blocking Bob Kosid (24) and Larry Dumelie (26) in Western Football Conference game at Winnipeg Sunday. Neilsen dropped this one, but caught four others — including one for touchdown — as Blue Bombers rallied for 17-16 victory. (CP Wirephoto.)

By The Canadian Press

Winnipeg Blue Bombers stunned Grey Cup champion Saskatchewan 17-16 Sunday, preventing the Roughriders from climbing into a first-place tie with Calgary Stampeders in the Western Football Conference.

The win also gave the Bombers a temporary hold on third place in the conference before Edmonton Eskimos took it back with a 19-8 victory over British Columbia Lions.

After a weekend in which all WFC clubs were in action, the Stampeders are in first place by virtue of their 4-0 win over Montreal Alouettes. The Stamps have seven wins in eight starts for 14 points. The Roughriders are second with 12 points.

The Eskimos are third with seven points on three wins and a tie in nine games; Winnipeg is fourth with six points on three wins and five losses, and the Lions are in the cellar with a win and a tie in eight games.

With all clubs heading into the second half of the season, there are two races in the conference. Calgary and Saskatchewan are battling for first place and Winnipeg and Edmonton are fighting it out for the final playoff berth.

Blocked Kick Provided the Spark

The Bombers Sunday in Winnipeg overcame a 16-0 Saskatchewan halftime lead, getting their spark from a blocked kick early in the third. The win was their first in six games.

Ken Nielsen and Bill Van Burkleo scored touchdowns for the Bombers. Ernie Kuzyk converted one, kicked a field goal and added a single on a field goal attempt.

Saskatchewan got a touchdown from George Reed, and a convert and three field goals from Jack Abendschan.

In Edmonton, Randy Kerbow and Art Perkins scored Eskimo touchdowns. Peter Kempf converted both, kicked a field goal and added a single on a wide field goal attempt. Kerbow added the last single on a punt.

Jim Young scored the Lions' touchdown. It was converted by Ted Gerela who also had a single on a field goal attempt.

The Bombers, who went nowhere in the first half, caught fire in the third quarter when Norm Rauhaus stormed in to block Al Ford's punt. Wayne Dennis grabbed the loose ball and ran to the Saskatchewan six-yard line. From there, Van Burkleo tossed a touchdown strike to Nielsen.

Van Burkleo's pass came one play after Kenny Ploen was injured on a second-down pass attempt.

The B.C.-Edmonton game was a dull affair with just a few plays to get the fans off their hands.

The Lions' touchdown was a pass from Bernie Faloney to Young that covered 52 yards. The second Eskimo touchdown was a pass to Kerbow from Frank Cosentino and covered 57 yards.

HOCKEY NOTES

Spark Is Pact, That's a Fact!

By The Canadian Press

A new National Hockey League contract appeared to be the best spur available in a busy weekend of preseason exhibition games.

Mike Walton, who signed Saturday, scored two goals and assisted on another Sunday as Toronto Maple Leafs drubbed Rochester Americans of the American League 5-2 in Peterborough, Ont.

At the same time, in Port Huron, Mich., Parker MacDonald celebrated his new contract with a goal in Minnesota North Stars' 3-1 victory over California Seals.

Ron Ellis, Dave Keon and Frank Mahovlich scored the other Toronto goals while Dick Gamble and Mike Byers replied for Rochester.

Mike McMahon got two Minnesota goals with Jean-Paul Parise scoring for California.

The win was the second of the exhibition season for the Leafs. Minnesota lost 3-1 Saturday to Memphis Wings of the Central League. Ray Carpenter scored twice for Memphis and Bill Collins once with Ray Cullen hitting for Minnesota in the game at Haliburton, Ont.

BRUINS BOMBED

New York Rangers put together a pair of weekend wins as well, beating Buffalo Bisons of the AHL Saturday in Stratford, Ont., then taking Boston Bruins 7-0 in Kitchener, Ont., Sunday.

Former Leaf Larry Jeffrey sparkled Sunday for the Rangers with three goals while Don Marshall scored a pair and Jean Ratelle and Vic Hadfield one each.

Probably the most unhappy general manager in the league is Punch Imlach of Toronto.

Last week Imlach got Bob Pulford and Brian Conacher to the Toronto camp at Peterborough, Ont., although neither player had signed contracts necessary for them to work out with the club.

He also was having holdout problems with veteran defenceman Tim Horton for the same reason. Horton talked to Imlach for eight hours Sunday before leaving for home.

Horton already is threatened with $625 in fines for reporting late.

But much worse from Imlach's point of view is Pulford and Conacher walking out Saturday after appearing ready at least to get in shape with the rest of the team.

Pulford worked out with the team Saturday. Both left after unsuccessful talks with King Clancy, Imlach's assistant.

PHOENIX CAMP OPENS

They call Phoenix "home" now, but there was no shortage of former Victorians when the Western Hockey League's Roadrunners opened training camp at Memorial Arena this morning.

Of the 20 players on hand, 12 campaigned with the Victoria Maple Leafs' team last season. The dozen who went to Phoenix with the franchise included Gary Holland, Mike Berridge, Dave Halme, Sandy Hucul, Bill Shvetz, Lou Jankowski, Tom Polanic, Gordie Redahl, Dick Lamoureux, Neil Clark, Marty Demarais and Dong Borgeson.

Others in the early vanguard of players included Del Topoll, Ron Lord, Don Dunnville, Jack Matheson, Gerald Hudy, Brian Shick and Gary Kulcheski.

Missing, however, was coach Alf Pike. The one-time New York Ranger pilot was scheduled to arrive this evening after talent-seeking visits to the Natinal League training camps of Toronto, New York and Philadelphia Flyers.

Driving Crown

PORT COQUITLAM, B.C. (CP) — Laurie Craig of New Westminster led all the way Sunday in his Camaro to capture the featured sedan race in the final International Conference meet of the season before about 4,000 fans at Westwood Racing Circuit.

Craig entered the race trailing John Hall of North Vancouver by 15 points, but the victory gave him the conference title in his class.

LINE FOR CHALLENGERS FORMS ON THE RIGHT . . .

Times News Services

NEWPORT, R.I. (AP)—Britain and France will challenge for the America's Cup, foreign yachtsmen have predicted here.

No official challenges were being accepted by the New York Yacht Club, sponsors of the America's Cup event, until the current series between the Intrepid and the Dame Pattie ended, but they would be received immediately afterwards.

Baron Marcel Bich of Paris told reporters he will build a 12-metre yacht to compete for the cup, which has never left American hands in the 116 years of its existence.

The British challenge is expected to come from Owen Aisher, John Livingston, Erik Maxwell and Athony Boyden. Representatives of this group told reporters a challenge would be forwarded when the present series ended.

Livingston is an Australian and was involved in the British challenge for the cup in 1964. Maxwell is a Scot.

All challenges have to come from a yacht club in the challenging country to the New York Yacht Club, which decides which to accept.

There was also talk here Saturday of a possible challenge by an Italian group.

REDMEN SHUFFLED

Top Forward Line Allowed 12 Goals

VANCOUVER (CP)—Coach Fred Whalley plans to reorganize his lineup tonight in an effort to get the Brooklin, Ont., Redmen back into contention for the Canadian senior lacrosse title.

Whalley said Sunday he will use defenceman Mike Gray to shore up his defence and also intends to break up the club's first string forward line.

The moves followed Saturday's 19-5 loss to Vancouver Carlings.

Vancouver, after its fourth dominion title in seven years, leads the best-of-seven Mann Cup series 2-1. Other games are scheduled for Wednesday and, if necessary, Friday and Saturday. All will be played in Vancouver.

Whalley noted that his top forward line of Terry and John Davis and Elmer Tran was on the floor Saturday for 12 Vancouver goals.

Goaltender Bob McCready, who retired after Saturday's first period, will be back in the Brooklin lineup tonight. McCready, hampered by an injured right elbow, allowed eight goals in the opening 20 minutes.

Spare goalie Gary Drysdale, who played only two games this year, took over but had little support.

Angel Sues Bat Wielder

SEATTLE (AP) — Merritt Ranew, Seattle Angels catcher who underwent brain surgery after being hit on the head with a bat in a game last year at Vancouver, has filed suit for $75,000 damages.

The superior court suit is against Vancouver Mounties Holdings Ltd., Mickey Vernon, manager of the Pacific Coast League club; Santago Rosario and Tom Reynolds, two former Vancouver players and Kansas City Athletics of the American League.

Ranew was hit on the head by Rosario after an altercation involving Reynolds. Rosario was suspended from baseball for a year.

Unitas Passes For 401 Yards

By Associated Press

Johnny Unitas gave a record passing performance—but his Baltimore Colt teammates presented the game ball to another player.

Chicago Bears' Gale Sayers carried the ball from scrimmage seven times, but he didn't carry it very far in experiencing the worst day of his pro career.

Bart Starr lost the ball on interceptions four times in the first half—he threw just three interceptions all of last season—but then found the target and helped save the Green Bay Packers from a stunning loss.

These were just a few of the doings Sunday as the National Football League began its 48th season.

CLUB RECORD

Unitas completed 23 of 32 passes for a club record 401 yards and Bobby Boyd won the game ball by intercepting two passes, one for a touchdown, as Baltimore held off Atlanta Falcons 38-31; Sayers gained just two yards as Chicago was trounced 41-13 by Pittsburgh Steelers, and Starr set up a touchdown and field goal with passes as the defending champions salvaged a 17-17 tie with Detroit Lions.

In other NFL action, Los Angeles Rams got past New Orleans Saints 27-13, Philadelphia Eagles tripped Washington Redskins 35-24, San Francisco '49ers outlasted Minnesota Vikings 27-21, Dallas Cowboys beat Cleveland Browns 21-14 and New York Giants upset St. Louis Cardinals 37-20.

TAKE COMMAND

Unitas, who completed 11 of 15 passes for 255 yards in the first half, combined with Tom Matte on an 88-yard TD pass play on the first play from scrimmage and also hit Jimmy Orr on a 55-yard scoring strike as the Colts built up a 31-7 lead at intermission.

But the Falcons roared back to make it 31-24 before Matte scored the winner on a 10-yard run in the fourth quarter.

Sayers followed a first-period Pittsburgh field goal by returning the ensuing kickoff 103 yards for a touchdown but was stymied thereafter, gaining just two yards from scrimmage.

Willie Asbury ran for two Pittsburgh touchdowns and Bill Nelson passed for another pair.

Detroit opened up a 17-0 halftime lead when Lem Barney ran an intercepted pass back 24 yards for a touchdown, Wayne Walker kicked a 48-yard field goal and Amos Marsh bulled over from three yards out.

board when Elijah Pitts scored twice—once from the three and again from the one.

Don Chandler's tying, 28-yard field goal came with 1:43 left and was set up by an 84-yard Starr-Pitts pass play.

Brabham Wins

OULTON PARK, England (AP) — Jack Brabham of Australia, driving a Repco Brabham, won the Gold Cup auto race Saturday with a circuit record of 108.51 miles an hour on the final lap.

Jackie Stewart of Scotland was second after leading in the early part of the 124-mile race.

Yelling by Fans Can't Hurt Cats

By The Canadian Press

General-manager Red O'Quinn may be pardoned a blush today following Sunday's Eastern Football Conference game in Lansdowne Park which his Ottawa Rough Riders blew 16-14 to Hamilton Tiger-Cats.

O'Quinn last week blistered the Taylor Field fans of Saskatchewan Roughriders for booing and yelling so loudly that Ottawa quarterback Russ Jackson could not be heard changing signals at the line of scrimmage.

Sunday, Ottawa fans pulled the same trick at home to show their upset over a fourth-quarter call that they felt robbed them of a fumble recovery.

But, unknown to the Ottawa faithful, their tactics could have no effect on Hamilton quarterback Joe Zuger. Hamilton calls no audible signals after breaking a huddle.

The other weekend game was a lacklustre affair Saturday in Montreal where Calgary Stampeders of the Western Conference ran into an unexpectedly tough Allouette defence and came away with a 4-0 victory on an 11-yard field goal by Bill Goods and a single on a missed field goal by Larry Robinson.

KICKS CLINCHER

Kicking turned the tide for Hamilton Sunday as well, as it has all season, with end Tommy-Joe Coffey booting a 28-yard field goal with one second remaining to overcome a 14-13 Ottawa lead.

It was the third field goal of the day for Coffey who also hit from 25 and 32 yards.

Hamilton also got a fourth-quarter touchdown from Willie Bethea and a 46-yard punt single from Zuger.

Ronnie Stewart scored two Ottawa touchdowns, racing 20 yards through a maze of players in the first quarter and five yards in the third. Moe Racine converted one. Don Sutherin scored a single when his opening kickoff went through the Hamilton end zone.

In Montreal Saturday, fans probably cost the Alouettes a victory when, on the last play of the game, defensive end John Baker recovered a fumble and was prevented from scoring more by fans swarming on the field than by Calgary defenders.

Calgary quarterback Peter Liske had dropped the ball under the pressure of Montreal's attacking front wall to set up the play. It was the second Calgary fumble of the dying minutes although Ben Woodson was there to grab fullback Lovell Coleman's fumble a few minutes earlier.

HAMILTON STARS

Wings Flap Into Finale

Rick Hamilton started and finished the scoring Sunday to lead Saanich Wings into the Summer Hockey League final.

Hamilton's two goals sparked the 4-2 victory over North Americans in a sudden-death playoff for second place. Wings now play Duncan Shell in a two-game, total-point championship series.

The first game is scheduled at the Sports Centre tonight at 8. Second game will be played Wednesday.

Dave Williams and Bob Betham scored Wings' other goals while Russ Worsley and Ernie Carley counted for the Americans.

SIDNEY TRACK STILL LIKE TONIC . . . . . . FOR PILS FRIDAY AND RED ENSIGN

There's Something About That Sandown Strip

By HAL MALONE

Horseplayers don't usually have an affection for a particular racetrack. They might concede that Santa Anita is a more lush palace of chance than Sandown. But they are more concerned with the pile of hay in their purse than the pew they perch on.

But horses view things differently. Some intangible, the air, the water or the kind of track that is kind to bunions makes a great deal of difference to their mobility—and courage.

Take Wallaroo or Red Ensign, Sefton Park or Pils Friday. The moment they step out at Sandown, a transformation takes place. A sort of psychedilia sets in.

They all said "cheese" in the winner's circle as the 1967 Vancouver Island racing season opened at the Sidney spa Saturday.

They were as hot as the crowd of 5,000, warmer than the 86 degrees on the thermometer in chart-caller Massie White's atop-the-grandstand cubicle.

None more so than Pils Friday. Hardly a fleet-footed bandit at Vancouver (17 starts, one win), the 10-year-old opened up a 10-length lead and coasted to a four-length victory in the eighth race.

Sefton Park also singed the course in her successful 6½-furlongs romp, busting home in 1:19.2—identical to that posted by Permano in the feature.

Red Ensign likes Sandown so much he probably wishes the entire 110-day B.C. racing season was held there. He was four for five at Sandown last year and hadn't won a race on the mainland in 17 starts this season.

Wallaroo runs well everywhere (he won four at Vancouver) but he has always been partial to Sandown real estate.

It required a brilliant ride by Basil Frazier to get Wallaroo before the photographer.

Fourth at the head of the stretch and blocked by a wall of horses, Wallaroo was sent into what seemed a non-existent hole by Frazier and hung it on Basket Carrier by a thick lip.

Punter's Joy, breathing fire in the final 16th, was a head back and that much in front of Miss Cye C.

Frazier also steered Mission Man home in the first race, turning back the favored Western Shadow in the brisk stretch duel.

Permano, gifted with great speed but not fussy about anything but a hard track, wrapped up the main event without undue perspiration.

Jack Phillips took him to the front immediately. The lightly raced This Is True was his closest pursuer but never appeared in danger of winning.

The victory was especially pleasing to Phillips. Last year he and Permano repeatedly ran into soiled strips and a superior filly Gladys Ann and never tasted the champagne.

"Permano liked that track today and he was full of run," Phillips said. "I waved my whip at him once or twice but he wasn't tired at the end."

Frazier said This Is True "didn't like the track all that much, tired, and needed the race—he hasn't run since July 29."

MUTUEL MURMURS . . . The heat failed to diminish the punters' ardor . . . They tossed $143,360 through the windows, an increase of $25,000 or 20 per cent over the 1966 opening . . . Jockey Freddy Finley, battling a poundage problem, had to surrender three mounts including the winners Mission Man and Red Ensign.
